REDS CHARGE BULGAR RUSE TO AID ENEMY

LONDON, Aug. 31 [Thursday]—(AP).—The Balkan kettle was boiling over today, threatening the German defense structure with these developments:

1. A bitter soviet radio attack on Bulgaria's proclaimed "neutrality" as a pro-German ruse.

2. Arrival of a Bulgarian armistice commission in Cairo, Egypt, to try to bargain with Britain and the United States for peace.

3. Arrival of a Romanian armistice commission in Moscow to talk terms, even tho Romania already has shifted to the allied side.

4. Flare-up of guerrilla warfare in the German puppet state of Slovakia which led to a German occupation.

5. Russian press criticism of Turkey, accusing her of playing a double game with the Germans and urging a more positive pro-allied stand.

Nazi Vessels Sheltered.

The latest blast from the Moscow radio, quoting Tass, official soviet news agency, in a dispatch date lined "Constanta," said German naval vessels had found safe shelter in Bulgarian Black sea and Danube river ports and that "the Bulgarian government's proclaimed 'neutrality' is in order to enable the Germans to hide in Bulgaria from prosecution by the allies."

Russia is not at war with Bulgaria, but a campaign of soviet diplomatic pressure on that wobbly German satellite has been growing steadily stronger.

Bulgaria has been trying to get out of the war quietly for some time and a Bulgar armistice delegation arrived in Cairo last night. Armistice terms will be presented by Walter E. Guinness [Lord Moyne], British resident minister in the middle east, as soon as Lincoln MacVeagh, United States minister to the Yugoslav and Greek governments, returns to Cairo. The Bulgarian delegation is expected to sign the armistice soon.

The Romanian delegation to Moscow was headed by Prince Barbu Stirbey, who has been active in peace maneuvers.

Win Romanian Oil.

Simultaneously, Russian troops were driving deep thru Romania, where the Red army today captured the rich Ploesti oil fields, drove to within 17 miles of Bucharest, and cleared German naval power from the Black sea.

Czechoslovak forces of the interior joined Slovak Partisans in fighting the Germans in that puppet state next door to Hungary. The Czechoslovak government in exile in London requested quick allied aid for the resistance forces as the underground in the partitioned homeland issued its first official report, announcing capture of one town and fierce fighting in three areas.

REDS ASSAIL TURKEY

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 (AP).—Russia, having crushed German power in the Black sea, today called on Turkey to assist in the allied liberation of southeastern Europe as Pravda,

Plant Running 69 Years Shut as CIO Wins

Sterling, Ill., Aug. 30 [Special].—For the first time in 69 years of continuous operation, the hardware manufacturing plant of Lawrence Brothers, Inc., was closed today following a plant election yesterday in which employes voted 211 to 47 to name the CIO United Steelworkers of America as their collective bargaining agent.

Altho the company announced its decision to cease operations a half hour after the votes had been counted last night, company officials insisted the action had no connection with the election and was taken solely for the purpose of releasing employes for essential war work. The company has completed all its army and navy orders, it was said, and recently has been engaged entirely in civilian production.

No Plans for Reopening.

A message to workers signed by Edwin F. Lawrence Jr., president, which appeared as an advertisment today in the local newspaper, said that the company has no plans for reopening, "and certainly if postwar manufacturing is to be done under present conditions with hundreds of Washington bureaus issuing thousands of orders, each duly threatening the manufacturer with large fines and long imprisonment for any unwitting violation, and with the government taking more than nine-tenths of any money he might make, then we shall congratulate ourselves on being out of business."

"We have no fight with the union," asserted Fred Jones, controler of the company. "We have not refused to recognize them and we accept the verdict."

Union Seeks Reopening.

About 200 employes reported for work this morning and found the doors closed. The men then congregated in union headquarters where Harry Holloway, subdistrict director for the steelworkers' union, said, "I think it's a lockout," and added: "We're going to do everything we can do to get the plant reopened for the good of the war."

One repercussion of the election was discussion among employes and townspeople of a ruling by the national labor relations board whereby workers absent on military leave were barred from participation in the voting despite a plea by the company that they be mailed ballots and allowed to take part.

"The labor board didn't see it that way," Lawrence explained today. "The board's regional director, George J. Bott, said its position was that only those employes in service who present themselves in person shall be allowed to vote."

137 in Military Service.

Lawrence said the company has 137 employes absent on military leave and that as their jobs are being held for them he thought they should have a right to express themselves regarding the choice of a bargaining agent. The CIO representatives took the position, he said, that they wanted the election held promptly and that the sending of ballots to service men would constitute "stalling."

Lawrence's message to employes congratulated them on their contribution to the war effort in the early days of the war when the company was swamped with orders for hardware needed in the construction of ordnance and other war plants.

Lawrence said the company may reopen after the war if manufacturing conditions are more favorable than at present.

"Should the post-war picture produce a more favorable climate for private enterprise, we can cherish the hope that sometime in the future we may again have the pleasure of being associated with some of you in working together for our future profit," he told the workers.

RUSHING TO REPLACE THE STARS AND STRIPES BEFORE THE BOYS COME HOME

BLASTS BRITON'S U.S. PROPAGANDA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Rep. Galvin Johnson [R., Ill.] today urged the United States to declare two diplomatic ministers representing Great Britain and India in Washington "persona non grata" if they persist "in their efforts to mold public opinion" with reference to Ambassador William Phillips' reports on India.

The two ministers, whose withdrawal Johnson asked in a house resolution, are Girja Shankar Bajai, minister for India, and Ronald Campbell, minister extraordinary and envoy plenipotentiary for Great Britain.

Asks Post for Phillips.

The resolution said Phillips, who served as President Roosevelt's special ambassador to India, had been declared persona non grata in London by the British because he reported "the Indian army and people will not participate with any force in the war until they are given the promise of independence."

Phillips recently resigned as political adviser to Gen. Eisenhower in London and prepared to return to the United States. The state department has denied that his return was asked by the British.

Johnson, a member of the house foreign affairs committee, urged that Phillips not be recalled but be given a new European post.

"Trying to Influence Press."

"British and Indian ministers here have been trying to influence the view of the American press regarding India's part in this war," Johnson said. "It is high time that the American public realize how little help we are getting from India and that we put a stop to being pushed around by officials of allied nations.

"India is a vital base for American operations against Japan, and inasmuch as we may get little aid from Britain in the fight against Japan, the United States must have more active support from the Indian army and the people."

The congressman said Phillips' report, which has not been made public, "pointed to the inertia of the Indian army, which unquestionably contributes to our delays in that war theater."

Sees German Valley of Death; 'Everybody Takes Prisoners'

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE MONTELIMAR-VALENCE SECTOR, Aug. 30.—This is the valley of destruction.

Here in the narrows, where the hills draw closer to the Rhone river and highway 7 than at any other point between Marseilles and Lyon, Ile, smashed and burned out, about a thousand German trucks, cars, batteries of artillery, and Mark IV. tanks. In the wreckage are many bodies of Nazis and of their beasts of burden.

Bucked U. S. Tanks.

In this once lush valley along this excellent macadam road, the full vengeance of American artillery and air power smote the enemy as he desperately ran the gantlet to push an armored division and infantry units north toward Dijon. A considerable amount of personnel and material was forced from the trap by frantic line bucking tactics thru the American road block of tanks, but at a terrific price. Certainly the effectiveness of those divisions has been greatly impaired.

100 Destroyed in Town.

In Montelimar alone, a neat little town at the southern end of the trap, I counted more than 100 destroyed enemy vehicles. They were blackened wrecks, for the most part, tho several were still burning along once spotless streets and near the square. The city itself was damaged only slightly.

I started north then on highway 7. In less than three miles, there were nearly 300 other trucks twisted into uselessness. Artillery and tank guns pointed impotently toward the ground in adjoining fields. A smoke pall and the odor of death were everywhere.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE AMERICAN 3D ARMY IN NORTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 30.—We saw them huddled disconsolately in a barbed wire enclosure—more than 200 German prisoners—plus a scattering of Poles, Armenians, Czechs, Russians, Italians, and Romanians.

They were unkempt and obviously discouraged, many were in their 40's and a few wore thick lensed glasses. Some were as young as 16 or 17.

"They Wouldn't Run."

Sgt. Melvin Cunningham, Indianapolis, Ind., in charge of the military police guarding the prisoners, said: "You could take the barbed wire down and these guys would not run. Every one has been bringing them in—civilians, engineers, even medics. They walk in from the fields with their hands up. A lot of them are SS troops. From unmailed letters addressed to their homes we know they are 'sweating out' the question of who is going to reach Germany first—the Russians or the Americans. They hope it will be the Americans."

Prisoners Everywhere.

Of the total of 377 prisoners handled yesterday at this cage, four were officers, 47 non-coms, 316 privates and corporals, and 10 Todt labor organization workers. Everywhere you go you see similar scenes—prisoners in enclosures, prisoners walking down the road, prisoners in trucks being taken to the rear.

REPORT F. D. R., CHURCHILL WILL MAP NAZI TERMS

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—The British radio said in a broadcast heard here tonight that Prime Minister Churchill probably will confer with President Roosevelt soon on German armistice terms and "how to hasten the downfall of Japan."

"Political correspondents predict," BBC said, "that Churchill will not remain long in England following his report to the war cabinet on his trip to Italy and conferences with Marshal Tito and the heads of numerous Balkan states. He is expected to confer with President Roosevelt soon."

President Roosevelt said yesterday in Washington, D. C., that he planned another meeting with Churchill, but that the time and place were too intimate to reveal.

PLAN BRADLEY, MONTGOMERY EQUAL STATUS

Simplify Command Under Eisenhower.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—A realignment of the allied command in France to give Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley of the United States parallel status with Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery of Britain, as an army group commander was reported here today. This move, it was explained, will be made in recognition of the rapidly broadening scope of operations.

Gen. Bradley.

Gen. Montgomery.

Anticipating a recurrence of protests voiced by some newspapers in Britain when a similar report—later denied—came from allied headquarters two weeks ago, informed persons said there was no criticism, real or implied, of Gen. Montgomery.

A formal announcement of the change is expected shortly. Meanwhile, it was said that since Gen. Eisenhower moved his headquarters to France and took personal command of the operations, the need for a deputy commander for all allied ground forces no longer exists, and therefore the title held by Montgomery since the invasion started has lost its meaning.

Development Foreseen.

At the same time, it was said, Montgomery's field responsibilities as commander of the 21st army group [British-Canadian] multiplied enormously as the allied forces swarmed out of the beachhead, so that the logical step was to free him of any further responsibility for operations of the 12th army group under Bradley.

This development was said to have been foreseen from the beginning, and it had been clearly understood by the Americans—they thought by the British also—that Montgomery's overall ground command was for the initial invasion, and would continue until the American strength was built up and a breakthru was achieved.

Nevertheless, the stories from headquarters two weeks ago that the change had become effective brought a storm of protest in sections of the British press over what they termed the "demotion" of Montgomery, and one paper demanded an apology to the British general.

Statement Startles Officials.

After these criticisms were published, allied supreme hearquarters issued a statement Aug. 16 which said:

"It is officially stated at supreme headquarters that announcement of Gen. Bradley's command of the 12th army group in no way affects the position of Gen. Montgomery as overall commander of all allied ground forces in France under Gen. Eisenhower."

The 21st army group originally included substantial American forces but presumably only small units of Americans, if any, remained with the British and Canadians after the formation of the 12th army group. The American 1st and 3d armies comprise the latter.

Another factor entering the picture, altho its place is not yet clear, is the invasion of southern France by the 7th army under Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch. This force, now sweeping north thru the Rhone valley, is part of Eisenhower's command.

30 INJURED PALS FREED AS YANKS CAPTURE REIMS

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REIMS, France, Aug. 30.—American troops entered this historic city early today and are now half way to Germany from Paris.

The capture of Reims followed the same patterns which have been used successfully to confuse the Germans since the first major breakthru in Normandy. Our forces threatened the city at various points simultaneously, the Nazis fled in panic, and our infantry entered with only the smallest scale opposition. The city's famed 13th century cathedral was found undamaged.

The liberation of Reims meant also the liberation of some 30 American wounded and 10 or 12 Canadian wounded who were held in the German hospital. The hospital itself—a memorial hospital for children on the outskirts of the town, was entered by our medical units last night.

Flyers Among Wounded.

The less seriously wounded American patients already had been evacuated by the Germans, but the others, most of them aviators who were shot down, were still there. According to Capt. James Clements, Rochester, N. Y., the medical officer in charge today, each patient was in a separate barred cell. The patients were forbidden to talk with each other, but were otherwise well treated, altho slightly underfed.

"They were so happy to see us that you cannot describe it," Clements said. "It made little shivers run down your back to hear them say, 'Is that an American uniform?' Then we found some champagne and gave it to them and we had a hard time finding a few of them this morning when it was time to evacuate them."

When we got there all except one of the wounded Yanks had been evacuated. He was a staff sergeant who crashed near Reims last October after he was hit in the leg by a 20 millimeter shell.

Tells of Treatment.

"We got fair treatment," he said, "but the Red Cross packages with food saved our lives. They interrogated me and tried to pump me full of propaganda, telling me that the Japs were sinking all of our ships and that Mountbatten was losing India. Then, when they left, they said, 'The Americans are coming. Tell them the German officers treated you well and that the German doctors are good.'"

The Germans also left four of their own men, including a couple too badly wounded to be moved, one an interpreter who was a noncombatant. Before leaving the Germans telephoned the French nun who had been working in the hospital and told her, "We are leaving. Come and take over the hospital." The Americans found her there when they arrived.

Cathedral Bells Ring.

We visited Reims cathedral after leaving the hospital and found its famous front piled high with hundreds of sandbags. The bells were ringing and people were entering for the late afternoon service. A second service was held in the evening in thanksgiving for the liberation, and many Americans attended. Reims cathedral was the crowning place of the French monarchs and also was visited by Joan of Arc.

Inside the cathedral we met a young Frenchman who told us that thousands of Germans daily had been fleeing thru the town for the last two weeks, and railroad cars, each containing more than 100 prisoners, also had been heading thru en route to Germany.

Calls Gestapo Ruthless.

The Frenchman said that the German army in Reims was not too harsh, but that the Gestapo was ruthless. He said that one of his best friends, a member of the French Forces of the Interior, was arrested and beaten to death because he would not name fellow members.

"This is not a tale," he said. "They are sure of it because they found his body."

The people of Reims lined the streets and waved flags, but took their freedom far more quietly than the Parisians did. The comparison is perhaps unfair, however, since no person in the world is happier than a happy Parisian.

ALLIES SMASH TOWARD ROBOT BOMB COAST

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 31 [Thursday] — (AP). — American armored columns rolled thru the cathedral city of Reims and streaked on within 36 miles of the Belgian border yesterday in unchecked pursuit of Germans falling back upon their homeland, while British forces, in a 23 mile breakthru, made their first deep thrust toward the Somme river and the Nazis' rocket bomb coast.

Both the American 1st and 3d armies were disclosed to be taking part in the great drive northeast of Paris across first World war battlefields and thru the Germans' old Hindenburg line.

The 1st army, under Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, gained 20 miles in a drive from captured Soissons northward to Laon, and early today was believed to have run thru this town just 36 miles from Belgium. It also struck nine miles to the east and reached Montaigu.

Patton Captures Reims.

The 3d army under Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., captured Reims, great siege city of the first World war, without firing a shot and rolled 10 miles beyond. The city fell after the Americans had outflanked it and forced a German withdrawal during the night.

[John Thompson, Tribune correspondent, in a broadcast Tuesday night from Paris, was the first to report that it was the United States 1st army which captured Chateau-Thierry and Soissons, rather than the forces of Lt. Gen. Patton, as first believed.]

British armored columns after moving relatively slowly for days struck north from the Seine and drove beyond the town of Beauvais in a smash 23 miles from Etrepagny, which carried to a point only 25 miles south of Amiens on the Somme river. Beauvais is 40 miles north and slightly west of Paris.

The British also reached the town of Gournay, 16 miles west of Beauvais, driving in strength directly for the heart of the robot bomb coast from which the Germans have been attacking London and southern England.

At the same time Canadian forces outflanked the important Seine port of Rouen, a city of 123,000 which the Germans announced during the day they had evacuated. The Canadians advanced five miles northeast of the city, which lies near the mouth of the Seine.

Set Up New Bridgeheads.

The American 3d army, in addition to taking Reims, drove on northward 10 miles and established a new bridgehead across the Aisne river in the vicinity of Neufchatel, where these men, like those of the 1st army, were only 36 miles from Belgium.

Here Patton's men were just 45 miles southwest of Sedan, historic city thru which the Nazis invaded France in 1940. Hodges' 1st army stood 50 miles from this invasion gateway to the reich.

Supreme headquarters early this morning was without late news of the American forces east of Chalons, southeast of the Reims area, but the German radio put the Americans on the approaches to St. Dizier, which is only 83 miles from the German border.

Capture Longchamps.

Two British 2d army columns of the Vernon bridgehead captured Longchamps, 25 miles from Vernon and 47 miles northwest of Paris, and nearby Mainneville, cutting the Paris-Rouen road. This marked an advance of four miles.

Front dispatches said the Germans in this area apparently were befuddled, their reconnaissance not able to cope with the allied drives, and consequently, it was reported, no continuous front existed.

The Canadian bridgehead which originated at Elbeuf and Pont-de-L'Arche five miles below Rouen was extended to reach the road running from Rouen to Boos, just east of the big port, and a linking of this bridgehead with the British holdings to the east was expected momentarily.

Harbor Wrecked, Say Nazis.

The Germans said they demolished harbor works and other militarily valuable installations at Rouen before evacuating as the Canadians closed in.

Of the three large Seine river loops in this area, the largest one, nearest the sea, was cleaned out by allied forces at considerable cost, but there still was stiff opposition to allied troops driving northward into the other two.

The American 3d army's drive northeast of Paris toward Belgium past landmarks of the last World war continued to overshadow the rest of the front. After rolling thru Reims—and across the Vesle river before it—the Americans fanned out northward and to the east, toward Verdun, the Argonne forest, Metz and Germany itself.

A drive along this road already was under way a few miles to the south. After occupying Chalons, the Americans drove on four miles east to L'Epine, just 22 miles from Ste. Menehould at the edge of the Argonne forest, 40 miles from Verdun and 92 miles from the German border. Vitry, on the river, also was being mopped up.

West End of 1918 Line.

The Argonne forest marked the western end of the line from which the American 1st army under Gen. Pershing launched its great Meuse-Argonne offensive on September 26 in 1918, which was still rolling at the time the armistice was signed.

While Flying Fortresses hit robot roosts in the Pas de Calais area this morning, the allied air forces also were disclosed to have struck a blow which may aid Gen. Patton to make Nazi escape from an enveloping trap more difficult.

Fighter-bombers blasted most of the bridges over the Somme canal between Peronne and Ham, meanwhile leaving untouched those across the Somme river itself between Amiens and the coast, presumably in order to facilitate the allied drive north.

FAMED RIDGE WON EASILY

BY E. B. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 30.—In their drive 10 miles past Reims today, American armored forces entered the famed Chemin des Dames area, scene of some of the fiercest fighting in the first World war.

Headquarters of the 1st army reported that only weak resistance was encountered on the Chemin des Dames ridge where the French lost 120,000 men in 1917. This slaughter led to mutiny in the 16th French army corps. It took the Americans this time only one day to knock the Germans off the high ground.

Indicating that German defenses were crumbling, Joseph Sahl, German propaganda ministry spokesman, in a broadcast for the home front said:

"We are today faced with the fact that the outer line of the German defense ring cannot be maintained in its entirety and that the time has come to make a stand for the final battle around the inner defense ring.

"This sounds hard, but actually the defense of the smaller area has its advantages. The lines of communication are becoming shorter and securer, which is imperative in the conduct of modern war.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Following is the German war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin yesterday and recorded by the Associated Press:

"Our divisions, after having checked in hard fighting strong enemy attacks, some of them repeated seven times, made from the enemy bridgeheads on the Seine northwest of Paris, detached themselves to new positions toward the northeast according to orders. Rouen was evacuated after destruction of harbor installations and all other objectives of military importance.

"Between Paris and Reims strong American forces attacking toward the north were checked in embittered fighting. Severe street fighting is in progress in the southern part of Soissons. South of the Marne enemy mechanized units pushing forward in an eastern direction have reached the area of Chalons-sur-Marne, where heavy fighting is going on."

DIES IN LOOP OFFICE.

Perry Rohor, 48, of 6956 N. Ashland av., a clerk employed at the office of General Mills, Inc., at 208 S. La Salle st., died of a heart attack while at work there yesterday.

NAZIS HIT BACK IN SO. FRANCE; YANKS RETREAT

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP).—American forces hacked relentlessly at fleeing survivors of the German 19th army along a 20 mile stretch of the Rhone valley today, while 90 miles to the east a strong Nazi armored force struck into France from the Italian frontier in an effort to relieve the pressure on Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz's shredded army.

The Nazi column struck across the Alps from northwestern Italy against the American garrison at Briancon, eight miles inside France and about 50 miles southeast of Grenoble.

First Attack by Nazis.

Altho the Yanks were driven out of the medieval fortress town, suffering some casualties and loss of equipment, the setback was considered minor.

This was the first Nazi offensive gesture since the allied invasion of southern France over two weeks ago.

Strike Near Valence.

Yank motorized infantry attacked the Germans retreating from southern France with particular ferocity at Loriol, 13 miles north of Montelimar, where the Nazis were attempting to get across the Drome river on pontoon bridges in their flight toward Germany.

Advance American elements, skirting this maelstrom and driving to head off another segment of the enemy's disorganized forces, had reached Chabeauil, 27 miles up the valley from Montelimar and only six miles southeast of Valence.

The 56 miles from Valence to Lyon promised only more unremitting punishment for the Nazis. Even the fleeing enemy vanguard appeared unlikely to escape the closing allied net except in small, disorganized groups.

Capture Another General.

Allied headquarters announced the count of enemy prisoners had reached 45,000, and additional thousands were being rounded up daily. Included in the bag were six enemy generals, the most recent prize being Maj. Gen. Otto Richter, commander of the Nazi 198th infantry division, seized at Montelimar. The division was said to have been recently transferred from Russia.

Sauzet and Clary, northeast of Montelimar, were mopped up by American infantry.

For 100 miles south from Montelimar to the sea American and French troops mopped up isolated groups of Nazis. The French on the west side of the Rhone valley reached Bagnols, 17 miles northwest of Avignon. Many small boatloads of Germans were captured as they tried to escape along the coast.

ENEMY VERSION.

A German broadcast yesterday said Nazi forces retreating up the Rhone were being "hotly pursued" by American troops, with French Forces of the Interior harassing them from the flanks.

Germany's broadcast war report said:

PAPER QUOTAS TO BE BOOSTED BY AUSTRALIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

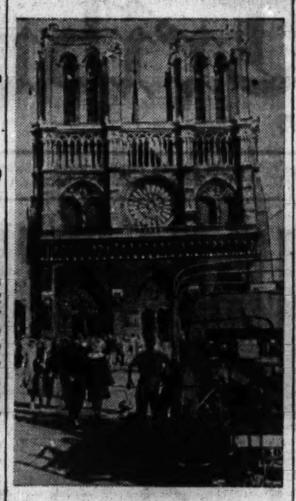

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—The office of war information reported today a Melbourne radio broadcast which announced that Australian newsprint quotas will be increased 20 per cent on Oct. 1. The broadcast, recorded by the federal communications commission, said that as a result of the increase, daily and weekly newspapers will be enlarged slightly.

The 20 per cent increase will be above the newsprint quotas the newspapers were receiving Oct. 1 of last year. At that time, the broadcast continued, metropolitan daily newspapers were allowed only 27½ per cent of the newsprint they used in the year before the war.

RESTAURANT FIRE LOSS IS $5,000.

Fire which started in the kitchen of a restaurant at 1232 Madison st. early yesterday caused estimated damage of $5,000 to the restaurant and rooms above.

CHEVALIER BELIEVED KILLED, BUT DEATH STILL IS NOT CERTAIN

PARIS, Aug. 30 (AP).—Maurice Chevalier, French star who sang and clowned his way to fame in American movies, was believed killed by Maquis forces near Cannes in southern France, French Forces of the Interior said tonight. However, the F. F. I. said the death had not yet been confirmed.

Chevalier left Paris five months ago for southern France and his whereabouts have been a mystery since. The F. F. I. said he never had been an active collaborationist, merely following the path which assured him of the most comfortable living. He was friendly with Vichyites and Germans to make the best of things, it was said, but was not known to have done any special harm.

The F. F. I. informant said Chevalier worked intermittently in cabarets frequented by the Nazis. The rest of the time he lounged in comfort.

COMMUNIST PUT IN PROVISIONAL FRENCH REGIME

PARIS, France, Aug. 30 (AP).—A provisional French government, headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle as president of council, and including communists and some men whose real identity is still hidden by assumed war names, was announced today by the French national committee of liberation.

Henri Queuille [top], Gen. Georges Catroux.

Andre Le Troquer, former Socialist deputy, was named commissioner of liberated territories.

Quartus Cerat, former Senator Henri Queuille and former Deputy Francois Billoux were named commissioners for territory still occupied by German forces.

Andre Phillip, a former reputy, was appointed liaison between the provisional government and the temporary assembly, and Gen. Georges Catroux was made coördinator of Moslem questions. All bear the titles of commissioners of state.

Name 13 Commissioners.

Cerat is the assumed name of a man who has been De Gaulle's minister at large, doing liaison work with the forty-odd underground groups. He is a former attorney general of the Supreme courts.

Also announced were the names of 13 commissioners—a rank equivalent to that of cabinet minister. Ten of these held the same positions in the liberation committee set up in Algiers and one held a similar post under a different title.

A former Communist deputy, whose name was given incompletely as Diethen, was named commissioner for war. Adrien Texier, former Free French delegate to Washington, D. C., was made commissioner of labor and social matters, and Jean Monnet, minister of supply in Algiers, was named a commissioner without portfolio.

List Others Named.

The others are:

Justice—François de Menthón.

Colonies—Rene Pleven.

Information—Henri Bonnet.

War prisoners and deportees—Henri Pierre Frenay.

Education—Rene Capitant.

Radio France of Algiers said tonight that members of the French committee of national liberation and the consultative assembly had left Algiers for Paris. Before the departure, Gen. Catroux was named commissioner of state for French North Africa, it was announced.

Press Hails Appointees.

The provisional government, which it was understood would remain substantially as announced until war prisoners and deportees can be returned to participate in a general election, was received with varying degrees of enthusiasm by the newly revived Paris press.

There were indications of an early revival of traditional French political dissension.

The regime, featuring Socialist Troquet, was hailed by Leon Blum's Le Populaire. The other papers, altho all were from the underground and therefore basically pro-De Gaulle, were more restrained in the handling of the announcement.

Two newspaper, Franc Tireur and Front National, which are of undetermined sponsorship, carried identically worded stories, beginning, "A certain confusion reigns amid public sentiment about the actual division of governmental functions" due to the hurried transfer from Algiers.

The intermittent boom of guns was heard in Paris for hours tonight. Fighting was reported around Champigny, less than eight miles from the center of the capital.

Arrest of persons accused of collaboration with the Germans continued. One was Francois Lehideux, former Vichy automobile industry director. Another was Mme. Titayna, famous French novelist.

HAL BOYLE, AP WAR WRITER, HURT IN PARIS

PARIS, Aug. 30 (AP).—Hal Boyle, Associated Press war correspondent, was injured yesterday when he was struck by a motorcycle during the American infantry parade down the Champs Elysees.

Boyle, who is from Kansas City, Mo., was struck when a motorcycle policeman lost control of his machine and spun into the crowd.

Happy Portent

At the Pullman Standard Steel Car company in Hammond, where Domenick Vigna, of 10217 La Salle st., Chicago, was sawing a piece of wood, he came across a section in a length of 4x6 in which a recognizable "V" appeared. Since the wood was destined for a niche in the company's war work the V was regarded as a happy portent.

LIFE'S A SONG AND ALL PARIS SMILES AGAIN

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Aug. 30.—This morning as I was sitting at a cafe terrace on the boulevards one of those old ragamuffins known in Paris as "clochards" came along. At each step he stopped to pick up the butt of a cigaret—an American cigaret! He was smiling. Happy days had come again.

The whole city is smiling these days. Life for the time being is a song. The soldiers on the streets no longer are hated intruders; they are everybody's pal. There are still some of those touching inscriptions chalked on house walls in painstaking English: "Welcome to our American and English friends." The Parisians have not been so joyful, courteous, and good natured for years.

Swift Return to Normal.

With incredible rapidity, the life of the city is getting back to something like normal again. The Paris police who overnight have become heroes are directing the flow of jeeps and tanks and trucks along the boulevards just as they once directed the armadas of taxicabs and sightseeing buses.

The cafes are opening again and movies — American movies — are in the offing. Postal service has been resumed, and the subway is expected to get going in a few days. The streets are being cleared of barricades, broken glass and burned out autos.

But to return to the old man and the cigaret problem. Will American cigarets be available to supplement the low stocks of native "gauloises bleues" or is the present disastrous cigaret situation to continue a while longer?

Black Market of 2 Kinds.

Until now the Frenchman's ration has been four packages a month or six packages in occasional good months. Women received none. To get thru the month the tobacco addict was obliged to pay 120 francs [$2.40] a package—instead of the legal price of 12 francs [24 cents].

The black market cigarets were chiefly of two varieties—the standard gauloises or queer tasting cigarets put up in cheaply printed packages bearing the names of unknown American and English brands. The gauloises came from the nonsmokers' rations or from German soldiers who bought them with their tobacco coupons and resold them to the black market. As for the others, that is where the collector of butts comes in.

Strange New Industry.

The rare cigaret butts lying on the sidewalk usually found their way to a strange enterprise operated in the tumbledown tenements around the Seine-side quays and the Place Maubert — the headquarters for centuries of the Paris clochard. Here every wisp of second hand tobacco is carefully collected. With tiny planes, shavings as fine as hair are cut from pine planks that have been softened by soaking in water. The pine shavings and recuperated tobacco are then placed in a vat of prune juice and the unholy mixture left to simmer on a stove thru the night. After drying the result has the appearance and vaguely the odor of tobacco. All that remains is to place it in neat, machine rolled cigarets and brightly colored packages.

REPORTS NAZI V-2 MAY BE LIQUID AIR FREEZE MISSILE

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN FRANCE, Aug. 30 [Reuter].—Many stories have been told of Germany's so-called secret weapon V-2. They all differ. Here is the latest version reported by an Englishman who married a French woman and stayed in France after the last war. He says the bomb is believed by Frenchmen who have overheard conversations of SS men to be glacial bomb which freezes everything within a distance of 200 yards. The bomb, according to German officers, contained liquid air, he said.

PATTERSON SAYS GERMAN DEFEAT IS NOT FAR OFF

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Complete and final victory over Germany is not far off, Acting Secretary of War Patterson said tonight in a report on his recent trip to the combat zones in Italy and France.

In a broadcast description of the things he saw, Patterson said that among the troops engaged in the battle "the sense of success is unmistakable, in the bearing of the soldiers and in everything they do."

"I cannot set the date for that victory," he said at another point. "Gen. Eisenhower cannot set the date, altho he will bring it to pass by his great leadership, and he will, I am sure, make good the prediction he gave last winter that the war in Europe would be won before the end of 1944 if everybody does his part."

RUSSIANS TAKE OIL FIELDS OF PLOESTI AREA

LONDON, Aug. 31 [Thursday] (AP). — The Russians cleared the Germans out of all the rich Ploesti oil fields and penetrated the Bucharest metropolitan area yesterday while linking up their two armies in the Romanian theater for a concentrated blow in the direction of the Hungarian plains.

Fall of Ploesti, long the greatest single source of oil for the German armies, was hailed as the most significant day's victory of the 12 day campaign, which forced Romania a week ago to jump from the axis to the allied camp.

In capturing more than 200 towns in a day around Ploesti and northeast of Bucharest, the nearest announced soviet approach to the Romanian capital was 17 miles, at the village of Meriuta.

Patrols Believed Closer.

Speedy patrols, however, were believed to be much nearer to the capital, which the Romanians have announced they themselves already have retrieved from the Germans.

The lightning advance southwestward by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2d Ukrainian army caught another 15,000 Germans Tuesday, Moscow announced. The prisoners included a corps commander, Gen. Heil; a divisional commander, Lt. Gen. Weitzner, and two colonels commanding divisions. This brought the total of captured German generals to 34 since the summer offensive began June 23.

The bag in yesterday's race of more than 45 miles from Buzau had not yet been counted, but the German losses in the unsuccessful defense of Ploesti were declared by the Moscow war bulletin to be "tremendous."

Armies Are Linked.

East of Malinovsky's newly won positions, the 3d Ukrainian army of Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin captured 100 towns in the big pocket between the Danube river bends and the Black sea and shouldered up to the river next to their comrades of the 2d army.

The Russians claimed no towns in the vicinity of the present Bulgarian border on their left flank, but Moscow dispatches said it was considered a certainty that they had thrown out flanking guards and established some sort of frontier contact with the southern Dobruja territory that Bulgaria took from Romania in 1940. Moscow will have an important voice in deciding the ultimate disposition of that territory.

Whether the next main Russian thrust will be westward up the Danube to Hungary or thru the Carpathians into Transylvania remained a soviet secret.

Push into Transylvania.

Hungarian-held Transylvania territory already has been penetrated in two places by elements of Malinovsky's army. The Russians remained silent about that front, but German accounts indicated a major push might be shaping up there.

Resume Warsaw Drive.

Far northward in Poland, the Germans also admitted that the Russians had resumed an offensive north of Warsaw and had breached the German lines at a number of places, but did not give definite locations. The Germans also mentioned heavy fighting west of the Vistula, some 130 miles below Warsaw.

Mothers Feted

Fourteen sets of triplets and 16 mothers of triplets attended a party yesterday at a radio studio in the Merchandise Mart. It was a chance for members of the Mothers of Triplets club, organized last May 10, to see each other's children. The youngest triplets were 3 months old, the oldest 8 years. The two mothers who came without their babies left at home sets aged 5 months and 6 weeks, respectively.

Mrs. Bern Owano, 864 Newport av., organized the group after her own triplets were born nine months ago. The original club of eight mothers was brought together thru a list of names Mrs. Owano obtained. She lost her boy triplet, but her two little girls, Diana and Deanna, were among the guests yesterday.

FRENCH ARREST DR. CARREL AS VICHY OFFICIAL

PARIS, France, Aug. 30 (AP).—Dr. Alexis Carrel, director of the Vichy supported Carrel institute, has been arrested by the French Forces of the Interior, it was announced today. He had been "suspended from all his functions" seven days ago. He was the inventor of a mechanical heart.

The F. F. I. charged that Dr. Carrel, 71, founded his institute with Vichy support for the purpose of supplanting the great French universities, and introducing fascism and Marxism to the students.

The F. F. I. asserted that the Petain regime donated funds freely to Dr. Carrel's institute, the initial gift amounting to 40,000,000 francs [roughly $800,000], with the intention of hiring away professors from the Sorbonne and other established universities. Dr. Carrel tried to close university laboratories so the professors would have to come to his institute to earn a living, the F. F. I. further alleged. Finally the attempt was abandoned because of the wave of protests, it was added.

U. S. BANKER KILLED BY STRAY SHOT IN PARIS

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—A broadcast from Paris today said that Norman Lewis, investment banker and former Paris representative of the Eastman Dillon company, was killed accidentally in his Paris apartment by a stray bullet during street fighting Aug. 24.

Lewis recently was released from a concentration camp at Compiegne and had taken an apartment in the center of Nazi activity, the broadcast said.

Lewis, 51, was a financier and had spent much time in Paris since the last war. He was a long time president of the American club of Paris. While at Compiegne last November Lewis was shot in the leg by a German guard. He was a holder of the French Legion of Honor award.

OPPOSE EASING OF HOME GUARD RULES IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Fourteen regional commissioners, who have almost absolute power on all matters of civil defense and administration in their regions, today advised Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison not to relax the blackout or fire guard regulations.

Despite protests recently by members of parliament and the press against the continuation of unnecessary restrictions, the regional commissioners are reported to have adopted a cautious attitude and urged the maintenance of precautionary measures until the time is ripe to lift the blackout and other restrictions completely and countrywide. At the same time, it is said, Morrison was left in no doubt as to the desire of the people thruout Britain that the restrictions as a whole should be lifted at the earliest possible moment.

The home guards are going to have an easier time in the future, it is reported. The relaxation of parades, training periods, and picket duties already has affected Bristol and the east midlands areas, and in London there has been a drastic pruning of duty quotas.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Aug. 28 [Delayed]. —In the wake of the retreating Germans, common graves containing the mangled bodies of at least 79 French patriots were discovered in the Paris region, Paris newspapers said today. They were in addition to 11 slaughtered victims found a week ago in the city's eastern suburbs.

The latest discovery was made by gardeners in the Bois de Boulogne where fragments of the bodies of 38 Frenchmen blown to bits by hand grenades had been buried. In the final days of the fighting in Paris, German SS troops stormed an apartment house occupied by the French Forces of the Interior. Not only the patriots, but all other tenants of the building were taken to the Bois de Boulogne and killed, it was reported.

A total of 34 victims were dug up from graves near the walls of the Chateau de Vincennes. Marks of torture were found on the bodies. The corpses of seven policemen reported slain by the Nazis were dug up in the Luxembourg gardens.

SUBWAY OPENS IN A FEW DAYS, PARIS PROMISED

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Aug. 30.—Parisians who have been bicycling or walking to work and who have been on a very limited electric light and gas ration, learned today that next week a few lines of their celebrated subway would reopen and possibly within 10 days their homes and offices and industries would have sufficient illumination and gas.

Because it will be a long time before Paris can count on hydroelectric power plants in the Pyrenees and Alps and in central France, the capital must rely on English coal and American fuel oil. Eight hundred tons of coal and 240 tons of oil now are arriving here daily.

Burned 4,500 Tons Daily.

Just before the Germans left, the city was getting 1,700 tons of coal daily, of which the Germans used 7 per cent. When they were driven out, 5,000 tons were left behind.

With the aid of English coal and American oil, several Paris movie houses are opening to show the movie, "Paris Libre," filmed during the battle of French Forces of the Interior.

Restoration of electric power also will enable the electric lines to the suburbs to start operating again. These were the last rail lines to cease functioning.

American engineers and employes of the French National Railway company are repairing rail lines damaged either by allied bombing or by the Germans in retreat.

Allied bombers caused heavy damage on the line to the west in the freight yard between Versailles and Rambouillet. Scores of wrecked locomotives and battered freight cars, many of them from Germany and Italy, litter the right of way. The American are importing locomotives and freight cars.

Pledge Postal Service.

It was announced that as soon as the trains start running postal service will be resumed in the liberated areas.

Meanwhile, the United States is pouring in food. On the road west of Paris today I passed part of a huge American convoy which, within a few days will have brought 5,000 tons of food to the city.

In giving up Paris the Germans gave the Americans a logistics problem. For the city must be fed and the Germans, who had the problem before, probably were glad to lose it on a supply system which was designed virtually to free and support fighting armies.

On the sports pages today, there were notices that championship bicycle races will be resumed Sept. 9 and that the entire sports calendar for 1944 is being revamped because the commissariat of sports left affairs "in a mess." The Grand Prix bicycle race also will be held but one wonders whether army traffic over the roads of the race course might not have priority.

MOTION PICTURES' LONE RANGER, VET OF TARAWA, KILLED

Long Beach, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP).—Sgt. Lee Powell, 35, of the marine corps, who as the masked Lone Ranger rode his stallion thru 15 episodes of a motion picture serial, has been killed in action, his widow, Mrs. Norma Powell, said today.

Sgt. Lee Powell.

Powell was a veteran of Tarawa and Saipan. Mrs. Powell said she was not informed where he died.

YANKS HAMMER KEY NAZI POSTS; NO RAIDERS LOST

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—More than 1,000 United States heavy bombers, with an escort of approximately the same size, today assaulted the great German ports of Kiel and Bremen and flying bomb installations in the Pas-de-Calais area of France. All the planes returned safely.

An official bulletin reported intense anti-aircraft fire was encountered by the force of up to 750 Flying Fortresses which struck the Kiel and Bremen areas and that some ground fire had been met by the more than 300 Fortresses and Liberators in an earlier attack on the flying bomb installations.

Overnight the R. A. F. made heavy attacks on Stettin and Koenigsberg, two vital links in the German communications system to the eastern front.

NELSON, HURLEY IN MOSCOW ON WAY TO CHINA

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson and Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley arrived in Moscow today en route to Chungking, China. Head of the war production board, Nelson had been reported on the verge of resignation when he was assigned by President Roosevelt to an economic mission to China. Lt. Comdr. J. A. Krug, former WPB official, was recalled from the navy and installed as acting WPB chairman.

Mr. Roosevelt said Nelson's mission was temporary and would bring no change in war production policy. A WPB spokesman said Nelson had dropped any plans to quit the WPB and was "perfectly satisfied." Formal White House statements recently described Nelson's mission as "most pressing" and "necessarily confidential."

Maj. Gen. Hurley early this year went on a trip to the middle east as President Roosevelt's personal representative and reported to the White House on Feb. 19.

PRESS OF PARIS RETAKEN BEFORE ALLIES' ARRIVAL

PARIS [Delayed] [Reuter].—On the morning of Aug. 19—the day after open insurrection started in Paris—newspaper men of the resistance movement made a dawn appearance with drawn pistols at all large newspaper plants in Paris and demanded entrance.

Work started immediately. Two days later—and several days before the allies' arrival—newsboys were hawking copies of the liberated newspapers under the noses of the Germans.

14 Papers Published.

Newspapers with such widely known names as Paris Soir, Le Matin, and L'Oeuvre, which continued publication in Paris during the German regime, have been silenced. The city now has 14 newspapers but only five with names known before the war. These are Ce Soir, Humanite L'Aube, Figaro, and Populaire. The newcomers mostly bear the names of the former underground press. They are Front National, Liberation, Combat, Defense de la France, Franc Tireur, Parisien Libre, France Libre, Journal Officiel des F. F. I., and La Patrie.

Humanite, organ of the Communists, has a circulation of 200,000 daily. Populaire's circulation is 160,000. The other 12 papers share a total circulation of 120,000.

Paper shortage is restricting dailies to four pages, but the news coverage is impressive and the pictures and printing excellent.

Banded in Federation.

Georges Adam is chief editor of Front National which is being published in the Paris Soir plants. Adam formerly was chief editor of a leading underground review, Les Lettres Francaises, with a monthly circulation of 15,000.

Adam often changed his offices with each issue. Now he is installed in the palatial office formerly occupied by the director of Paris Soir.

With other underground press chiefs, Adam formed a press federation which decided on the measures for taking over the Paris press on liberation. Besides banning Paris publications for printing during the German occupation, the federation also suppressed several large publications originated by the Germans. These included Aujourd'hui and Le Cri du People.

Besides the 14 papers already being printed in Paris, a Le Journal, which moved to the south of France after the German occupation and later was suspended, will undoubtedly return to the capital.

ROMANIANS GO TO RUSSIA FOR PEACE PARLEYS

Czech Patriot Forces Battle Germans.

Apparently the Kremlin was determined to reënforce the Red army with politico-military decisions by Turkey which would compel German evacuation of the Balkans.

Charge Friendly Rupture.

Charging that Turkey's diplomatic break with Germany has been turned into a "friendly rupture," Pravda said Nazi espionage and propaganda against the allies—especially against Russia—had increased; that important Turkish newspapers remained under Nazi influence; that German diplomats still held receptions attended by Turkish officials, and that an estimated 1,300 Germans, including diplomatic, military, aviation and commercial attaches, still were in the country.

The article, carrying the dateline of Batum, nearest Russian Black sea port to Turkey, said that "the unbecoming picture of the servile attitude of Turkish authorities to the Hitlerite diplomats cannot help but provoke surprise."

Observers said the Russians are tired of excuses, delays and evasions by Ankara at a moment when the entire German structure in southeastern Europe could be demolished by coördinated action. If Turkey refuses to help, the Red army, with Romanian support, is confident of finishing the job anyhow, they said.

See British Loss of Control.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—The United States and Britain, which are at war with Bulgaria, and Russia, which is not, are negotiating armistice terms to be imposed on the Balkan state to get it out of the war. Similarly London, Moscow, and Washington are studying the final terms to be handed to Romania.

The crumbling of Hitler's Balkan position is regarded here as marking not only the end of German domination in southeastern Europe, but also the end of an era of exclusive British control of the Mediterranean.

Much significance is attached to the Russian accusations against Turkey. This criticism comes as Russian troops march closer to the Dardanelles than they have been since World War I.

Game Played by Britain.

Turkey controls the Dardanelles. Her national territory in Europe adjoins Bulgaria. She has a close alliance with Britain. This alliance is part of the traditional British policy that once found Britain opposing alternately Turkey and Russia so neither would become powerful enough in the eastern Mediterranean to threaten British empire lifelines thru Gibraltar and the Suez canal.

It may ask that the Dardanelles be internationalized, seek new guarantees from Turkey with respect to them, or try to remove Turkey from the British sphere of political influence in the middle east and move her into the Russian orbit.

3 Quit in Greek Row.

CAIRO, Aug. 30 (AP).—Three Liberal members of the Greek cabinet in exile, including Vice Premier Sophocles Venizelos, have resigned in protest against the conduct of the government by Premier George Papandreou, it was learned tonight.

It was understood they criticised the premier because he conferred with Prime Minister Churchill in Italy and reached important decisions without consulting the cabinet. Three new ministers have replaced them, it was said.

Pictures from Jap War Album

The Japanese caption for this picture, taken from a captured Jap war album, describes it as follows: "Like the shacks of bandits, these barracks are scattered over this mountainous district in the Philippines. They are made of timber, stones, bamboo, and sandbags, and are moved from place to place quite simply."

"At midday and by night the propaganda work goes on," says the Jap caption for these pictures, showing propaganda speaker and audience, taken from the album that was sent back from the war front by Arthur Veysey, Tribune correspondent.

F. F. I. LIBERATES FOUR TOWNS IN AREA OF LYON

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—French Forces of the Interior have liberated four towns in gains around Lyon, and 58 miles southeast of that industrial center have killed or captured 600 Germans near the Alpine valley stronghold of Grenoble, they announced tonight.

"The towns of Clermont-Ferrand, Tarare, Bourgoin, and Bourg St. Maurice have been liberated by the F. F. I.," headquarters of Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, military governor of Paris, said. "The ring around Lyon is being drawn tighter. Several points inside the town already are controled by the F. F. I., and the Germans are organizing themselves into pockets of resistance.

ROBOT ATTACKS REDUCE BIRTHS IN LONDON 50%

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Flying bombs have reduced the number of births in London by nearly 50 per cent, it was reported today, because many expectant mothers are leaving London under the government evacuation scheme to have their babies in safe areas.

Up to the time the flying bomb attacks started in mid-June, an average of 900 babies were born in London each week. During the week of Aug. 13 the number of London births was under 500.

With the Nazis, reportedly stepping up the robot attacks because they fear they soon will be ejected from the Pas de Calais "rocket coast," evacuations from London continue at a high level. At least 5,000 mothers and children left yesterday.

Bombs Spread Propaganda.

Waves of flying bombs were fired across the channel today. The daylight attack followed a sporadic night assault, which broke a two night lull in the robot raids.

Casualties and damage were caused.

Propaganda leaflets were dropped by the flying bombs today. On the cover was a photograph of dead German children with their mother looking at them. The caption read: "This is an experiment. Let's try it.—Winston Churchill." Inside were pictures of mothers and children reported killed at Hamburg on June 27 and 28, 1943. The leaflets charged the British started the air war against civilians.

The Nazi controled Oslo radio said Hitler's V-1 weapon was portable and could be shifted to any part of the mainland.

Pillows Save Patients.

London hospitals are reported restricting new admissions to urgent cases in order to reserve space for bomb casualties.

At one hospital in southern England, damaged for the second time today by a blast, patients are issued extra pillows during bomb attacks to protect them from flying glass. The precaution is said to have been highly effective, no patient having yet been injured.

Britain Opposes Import of Parisian Cosmetics

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—British women, who hoped the capture of Paris would be followed by the importation of plentiful supplies of cosmetics, got bad news today. They were told in the press that the official view here is that it would be unfair to British manufacturers to put Parisian preparations on the market here after severe restrictions were placed on their manufacture in Britain in war time.

PEACE PLANNERS TREAT PRESS AS FOE—BRIDGES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Protesting against the secrecy surrounding the Dumbarton Oaks postwar security conference, Sen. Bridges [R., N. H.], declared tonight that newspaper men and radio reporters "are being treated as tho they were enemy fifth columnists."

In a statement, Bridges declared the "so-called press conference" held at Dumbarton Oaks made it clear it is a "secret conclave, hidden away from view of the American public." The delegates held a news conference yesterday and announced general agreement on the outlines of a world security organization.

New Gain in Italy

Captions tell of allied drive.

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP).—British troops, transferred secretly from the interior, have joined the Polish corps in a smashing attack against German Gothic line outposts near the Adriatic coast. The British have captured a commanding ridge eight miles southwest of the port of Pesaro, allied headquarters announced tonight.

The full scale assault, apparently taking the enemy by surprise, dislodged the crack German 1st parachute division from strong positions and threatened to outflank Pesaro, from which Polish and British troops were only four miles away after a two mile thrust from Fano along the coast.

By capturing the three mile long ridge overlooking the Foglia river, which flows into the sea at Pesaro, the British and Poles virtually cleared the enemy from the last hill positions before the Gothic line defenses in that sector. The attacking troops were within 18 miles of the rim of the Po valley of northern Italy.

East and northeast of Florence the Nazis continued to pull back into the Gothic line. Eighth army patrols scouted nearly five miles north of Pontassieve, just east of Florence, without meeting opposition. Ontignano, three miles northeast of Florence, was found to have been evacuated by the enemy.

NAZIS CAN'T GET BARGAIN PEACE, HULL DECLARES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—The American government, it was emphasized today, is resolute on unconditional surrender as the only terms for Germany and it does not intend to let Hitler and his henchmen escape punishment by taking refuge in a neutral country.

Secretary of State Hull restated this policy in effect when asked for comment on the broadcast of the ace Nazi military commentator, Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, admitting that the defeat of Germany is drawing closer.

ALLIES CONDUCT LANDING RAID ON DALMATIAN ISLE

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP).—Allied infantry, artillery, air and naval forces carried out a successful raid against enemy forces on the Dalmatian island of Korcula Saturday night, it was announced tonight.

Korcula is off the central Yugo-Slav coast in an area where Marshall Tito's army has been active.

The landings were not opposed and casualties were inflicted. Gun positions were damaged. Ammunitions dumps were blown up. The Balkan air force, especially created to aid Partisan forces in the peninsula, participated.

Bulgarians Give Up.

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—Two Bulgarian battalions defending a strong point on Mount Slatibor in Serbia yielded to Marshal Tito's Partisans after 850 were killed and 120 captured, a Yugoslav bulletin said today. This sector now has been freed of the enemy and remnants are retreating toward western Moraca, the war bulletin said, adding more than 2,000 enemy troops in Montenegro had been wiped out. Kolasin in Montenegro was captured.

10,000TH PLANE THIS YEAR LANDS AT A. T. C. BASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 30.—A new record for United States army air force transport command traffic into the United Kingdom was set today when the 10,000th plane since Jan. 1 of this year landed at an air transport command base in Great Britain. For the corresponding period last year the total was only 2,876.

The number of arriving transport planes also was upped considerably due to the evacuation program for American wounded, more than 6,000 of whom have been flown back to the United States on A. T. C. planes since D-day.

AXIS CRIMINAL LIST MAY SHRINK, BRITON WARNS

Difficulty of Getting at Facts Blamed.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 30.—When Germany lays down her arms, the list of wanted individuals whose surrender is to be demanded may be much smaller than many now expect.

This statement was made today by Cecil Hurst, vice president of the permanent court of international justice. Hurst, who has been knighted, explained that "the meagerness is not due to idleness on our part or a want of ill will as far as the government is concerned. It will be due to the extreme difficulty of the factual situation with which we are confronted."

Hitler, Mussolini Cases.

However, Hurst asserted, the allies are determined the war criminals shall not escape their just deserts thru the loose extradition laws of neutral countries this time, as the Kaiser did a quarter of a century ago.

He said those who face trial for their part in causing this conflict will have to wait until after the war to learn whether they are on the "wanted list." And in the case of men like Hitler and Missolini, Hurst added, the united nations may either try them or deal with them the same as Napoleon—by what he called executive action.

Neutrals to Be "Pressured."

He declined to say whether the two axis partners are on the list, but added dryly that the case against the German fuehrer was very complete. The reason for secrecy, Hurst explained, is to avoid giving foreknowledge to those against whom evidence has been prepared, impelling them to try to escape when the collapse comes.

As far as neutral countries harboring them, he continued, the united nations undoubtedly are prepared to make appropriate arrangements to deal with any situation similar to the last war when the Kaiser was given sanctuary in Holland.

"If any substantial movement took place under which the authors of war crimes began taking refuge," Hurst said, "I have no doubt that wherever the united nations found existing extradition measures inappropriate, some new arrangements would be made forthwith.

"After the last war, Holland dug her toes in over the question of the former Kaiser at Doorn. You may be quite sure the united nations are alive to the danger on this occasion. Considerable pressure would be applied to neutral countries giving refuge to war criminals.

Pacific Vet Back

The tropical grandeur of the South Pacific holds no lure for Fireman Joseph L. Bober, 21, of 5517 N. Monitor av., who arrived home last night on a 17 days' furlough after seeing action with the navy at Saipan and in the Marshall Islands.

So vividly did Bober picture Chicago to his ship mates that two of them, Gunners Mate M. L. Hughes, 19, of Charlottesville, Va., and Motor Machinist John Despard, 19, of Batavia, N. Y., hopped off the train with him last night and spent a few hours checking up on his claims. After touring the loop they admitted that Bober hadn't stretched things one bit.

Bober is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Bober. His father served with the navy in the South Pacific in World War I. A brother of Fireman Bober, Leo, 30, is with the army somewhere in France and hopes to visit Metz, where his uncle, August Bober, was killed in 1917.

FIGHT RAGES ON FOR CHINA BASE PERILING JAPAN

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 30 (AP).—A bitter battle is raging for Lishui, potential Chekiang province base for future bombings of Japan and the goal of the Japanese in China ever since Doolittle's 1942 raid on Tokyo, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

The Japanese have driven all the 30 miles south from their base at Wuyi in the heart of the maritime province and in the space of several weeks reached the gates of the city.

Continuing the slashing air support of Chinese ground forces, Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's United States 14th air force Liberator bombers with fighter escort destroyed 11 enemy fighters yesterday in a battle with from 25 to 30 Japanese interceptors over Yochow, supply base of the Hunan province drive.

Allies Reach Chindwin.

HALMAHERA HIT AGAIN IN HEAVY MACARTHUR RAID

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 31 [Thursday]—(AP).—The fourth heavy raid in less than two weeks on Halmahera, gateway to the Philippines, was announced today by Gen. MacArthur's headquarters. One hundred and thirteen tons pounded the island's defenses and supplies.

It was the sixth 100-plus explosive air attack in that time on the Moluccas chain of islands south of Mindanao, southernmost island in the Philippines.

In the latest Halmahera smash Liberators and Mitchells caused heavy and widespread damage Tuesday at Wasile and Kaoe bays.

Today's announcement reported the destruction or damaging of a 7,000 ton enemy ship off Dutch Celebes and the sinking of a 1,000 ton vessel by patrol planes near Mindanao. Davao, on Mindanao, was bombed.

Five Ships Smashed in Kuriles.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Aug. 30 (AP).—The year-long bombing campaign in the Kurile Islands north of Japan reached a climax Sunday with a series of raids by army and navy planes which sank a Japanese patrol vessel and damaged four other ships.

Navy search planes spotted several enemy vessels near Paramushiro. One scored a direct hit on a medium tanker, setting it afire. Another hit a large cargo ship at Suribachi, causing a heavy explosion. A third attacked an enemy patrol vessel.

The same day two Liberator bombers of the 11th army air force sank a Japanese patrol vessel and badly damaged another near Paramushiro.

Subs Bag 17 Jap Ships.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Destruction of 17 Japanese vessels, including two warships, by American submarines operating in enemy waters, was reported by the navy today.

The two Nipponese destroyers sent to the bottom by far ranging American submersibles could have been trying to protect Japanese convoys carrying supplies to hard pressed enemy garrisons.

Their destruction brings to 58 the number of Japanese warships thus far sunk by American submarine action.

Other ships in the latest bag of the submarines included two tankers.

The total included also 13 cargo vessels.

Total Set at 875.

Destruction of the 17 ships brings to 875 the number of Japanese vessels of all types sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine action since the war started. That total includes 723 ships definitely sunk, 37 probably destroyed, and 115 damaged.

American submarine losses in the same period totaled 27. Four were sunk in noncombat activities.

U. S. RAIL CHIEF QUITS MEXICO.

WAHOO'S SISTER SUB 'TRIGGER' TOO QUICK FOR JAPANESE; CITED

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP).—The underseas raider, U. S. S. Trigger, sister ship of the submarine Wahoo which bagged 19 Japanese ships before she was lost in action, has been awarded the Presidential citation for "highly daring and hazardous tactics" in the Pacific.

Rear Adm. Carleton H. Wright, commandant of the district, read the citation which credited the ship "for outstanding performance in combat" during her fifth, sixth, and seventh war patrols.

YANK IN FRANCE MARRIES GIRL IN U. S. BY MAIL

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 30 (AP).—A soldier with the invasion forces in France and a girl in Oakland, Cal., were married here by remote control—and it could happen legally only in Oklahoma.

Attorneys predict the ceremony—second of its type in Tulsa—will be the forerunner of hundreds such mail order marriages destined to make Oklahoma the Gretna Green of the United States armed forces.

J. B. Diggs Jr., head of the Tulsa legal aid committee, says contract marriages are air tight legally because in Oklahoma two people are married from the moment they agree to be married, regardless of ceremony and whether or not they ever live together.

It is on this point that Oklahoma contract marriages will stand the test of the courts, the attorney explained. In other states the law requires the parties must live together to validate the marriage.

AUSTRALIA WILL RELEASE 45,000 FROM SERVICES

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 30 (AP).—Thirty thousand men will be released from the Australian army and 15,000 from the air force by next June 30 to help relieve the commonwealth's critical labor shortage, Prime Minister John Curtin told the house of representatives today.

Australia, he explained, needs 96,000 more workers including at least 39,000 in high priority industry. The government's guiding principle in releases from the forces, Curtin added, would be maintenance of their striking power.

"Defeat of Hitler will not imply any lessening of demands on this country," he went on. "Events abroad confirm the commonwealth's view that the Pacific war will have to be continued after the European war has been won."

Reveals 4 Nations Hold Extra Rights in China

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 30 [Reuter].—Four nations have not relinquished their extra-territorial rights in China, Dr. K. C. Wu, Chinese foreign office spokesman, said today. They are the Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland, and Portugal. Dr. Wu disclosed that negotiations are proceeding in London with The Netherlands government. Once agreement with the Netherlands is reached, the other three countries will automatically surrender their rights.

LT. R. J. M'HUGH WINS D. F. C. FOR BOMBING SHIPS

Lt. R. J. McHugh.

Lt. Richard J. McHugh, 25, of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy F. [Buddy] McHugh of 629 S. Taylor av., Oak Park, was awarded the distinguished flying cross and the air medal for bravery in an attack in which three German vessels were sunk in Piombino harbor, Italy, it was announced yesterday. His father is a Chicago newspaper man.

Lt. McHugh was wounded in one hand, but completed the mission successfully, the citation stated. He had been on 56 missions when he received the decorations.

He enlisted in the army in February, 1941, and was commissioned in June, 1943, as a bombardier and navigator. He was graduated from Fenwick High school, Oak Park, and attended St. Mary's college, Winona, Minn.

Beginning with today's TRIBUNE, the death and memorial service notices of all persons who died while in the services of our country will contain a reproduction of the American flag.

In addition to the notice, the name of the deceased fighter without rank will be carried in a special box, which will be published adjacent to the death notices. There will be no charge for this listing. Today the flag is reproduced for the first time in the notices.

Users of 'Chaw Terbaccy' Will Pay More Monday

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—"Chaw terbaccy" is going to cost more. Beginning next Monday, the office of price administration announced, manufacturers may increase their prices of "plain" chewing tobacco by about 20 per cent, and the "sweetened" variety by 10 per cent. It means the consumer will pay about 12 instead of 10 cents for a plain plug, and 11 instead of 10 cents for a sweetened plug. OPA explained that it's costing more to make the stuff than in March, 1942, when prices were "frozen."

DENIES AIMING GUN.

Police yesterday arrested Thomas F. Miller, 51, a shipyard worker, who denied that he aimed at Miss Georgia Robbins, 30, a waitress, when he fired a few pistol shots into a floor of the building at 6722 Halsted st., where both have rooms.

DEWEY JOURNEY SHOWS FAITH IN MIDWEST SWEEP

Nominee to Make 6,700 Mile Tour.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Reports that the Dewey-Bricker ticket will sweep the middle west were received yesterday from Republican leaders by Herbert Brownell Jr., G. O. P. national chairman, as he announced the schedule for a 6,700 mile cross-country September tour by the Presidential nominee.

The optimism of the midwest party leaders who conferred with Brownell fitted the picture of the Dewey itinerary. This region is to be all but skipped in the tour.

All seven major speeches set for the trip are to be delivered in states where the G. O. P. expects a hard struggle. Four of the addresses will be on the west coast, reflecting this factor and possibly as well the shift in war emphasis toward the Pacific theater.

G. O. P. Trend Continues.

Brownell yesterday talked with Gov. Green and National Committeeman Werner Schroeder of Illinois, Gov. Hickenlooper of Iowa, Gov. Thye of Minnesota [by telephone], National Committeeman Roy Dunn, and State Chairman George H. Jones of Minnesota [by telephone], and Mrs. D. C. Hay, Michigan national committeewoman.

"They reported that in the last month they have made substantial progress in completing their campaign organizations," Brownell said. "The Republican trend noticeable during the convention has quickened.

"All confirmed my own conclusion, which is that Dewey and Bricker will sweep the middle west, providing the Republicans continue their unity."

Gov. Green's report convinced the national chairman that the Illinois organization "is ready to respond to his call for full speed ahead."

Dewey's party will go thru 21 states to and from the Pacific coast. In 10 states there will be conferences with governors and other Republican leaders, as well as with industrial, agricultural, and other groups.

Philadelphia First Stop.

The trip by train will take Dewey from New York to Philadelphia for his first address in Philadelphia Sept. 7. His other major addresses will be at Louisville, Ky., Sept. 8; Seattle, Wash., Sept. 18; Portland, Ore., Sept. 19; San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 21; Los Angeles, Sept. 22, and Oklahoma City, Sept. 25.

Nation-wide radio facilities have been arranged for all but the Oklahoma City broadcast.

Lew H. Wentz, Republican national committeeman for Oklahoma, announced in the east last night that Gov. Dewey will visit Mrs. Dewey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Hutt, in Sapulpa, Okla., Sept. 26 and will stop in Tulsa the same day.

Besides these stops Dewey will pause in Lansing, Mich., Sept. 9 for talks with Gov. Kelly, party leaders, and representatives of other groups. He will spend the night with his mother at Owosso, Mich.

Des Moines Conference Sept. 11.

The Dewey entourage will go to Des Moines, Ia., for conferences with Gov. Hickenlooper and farm leaders Sept. 11.

On the same day he will reach Valentine, Neb., for a three day meeting with leaders of ranching and cattle groups. This will take place on the ranch of Samuel R. McKelvie, director of the western division office of the G. O. P. in Chicago. Gov. Griswold of Nebraska and Gov. Sharpe of South Dakota will head groups of Republican leaders of their states.

Arriving at Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, Sept. 16, Dewey will get together with Gov. Bottolfson and men of lumber and agricultural interests. Packed into the same day will be a series of conferences with G. O. P. leaders in Spokane, Wash.

BIRTHPLACE SET TO TELL TRUMAN HE'S NOMINATED

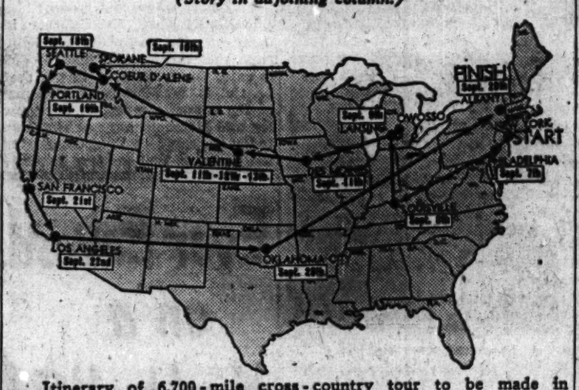

Lamar, Mo., Aug. 30 (AP).—In rubber boots and overalls, Lamar's citizens today dressed up the old town for the Truman notification ceremonies tomorrow night.

Between showers that deposited an inch and a half of rain on the quiet little town where Truman was born and lived in infancy, the natives who do not know him hung bunting and hammered together a speakers' platform at the west door of the Barton courthouse. There the Missouri senator tomorrow launches his campaign as Democratic Vice Presidential candidate.

A delegation of 12 United States senate colleagues and several national representatives was due to attend the Lamar ceremonies and hear Truman speak at 9:30 [C. W. T.].

REMEMBER JAPS; DON'T LEAVE WAR PLANTS, ARMY BEGS WORKERS

Increased activity in the Pacific war theater was cited by the army yesterday as an urgent reason for war plant workers to stay by their jobs and by the office of defense transportation as one of several reasons why civilians should not attempt train travel over Labor day.

A message from Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Echols, assistant chief of the air staff in Washington, D. C., was brought to the attention of Mayor Kelly by Merrill C. Meigs, consultant with the army on aviation. Gen. Echols said "There must be no slowing down until the Japs are licked.

"In the Chicago area the Dodge Chicago plant and others are doing important work in the manufacture of B-29 aircraft. We urge all workers in these plants to remain at their posts."

Meigs told the mayor: "There is a terrific spread of rumor that war plants are about to cut off help. This is not true."

Warning against civilian pleasure travel Labor day, the ODT said that military traffic toward the Pacific has increased the burden of the railroads.

BRICKER FAVORS PEN OR PENCIL BALLOT MARKING

Columbus, O., Aug. 30 (AP).—Gov. Bricker, Republican Vice Presidential nominee, announced today he would ask a special session of the Ohio legislature convening next week to amend the law so soldiers' ballots could be counted whether marked by black pencil or other means.

Ohio's election laws specify voters must mark their ballots with a black pencil. The governor has been under pressure from Democratic leaders and others to have the law amended so ballots marked with pen, or any other legible means, could be counted.

The governor said he had talked with a number of soldiers and had been informed that many of them had marked their absentee ballots with pen.

Courtney to Talk Sunday at Fair in Grundy County

State's Atty. Courtney, Democratic nominee for governor, will speak Sunday at the Grundy county fair at Maizon and at a Democratic gathering in Joliet and on Monday will be guest of the Lake county Democratic central committee at its Labor day festival in Waukegan. State Chairman George D. Kells will accompany him. Courtney's headquarters also announced yesterday that he would speak Sept. 7 at the Du Quoin fair.

Montpelier, Vt., Aug. 30 (AP).—Clarence Budington Kelland, author and Republican national committeeman from Arizona, declared today President Roosevelt "cannot avoid responsibility" for the Pearl Harbor naval disaster which he said "lengthened the duration of the Japanese war, possibly by years."

In a speech before the Vermont state Republican convention, Kelland charged administration neglect of elementary precautions had subjected America "to the disgrace of the most tragic naval disaster in our history." He declared "the odium must attach to the highest authority which permitted the condition to exist."

Kelland charged the administration, "knowing the imminence of war," had appeased Japan by supplying her with "oil and scrap iron to be used against China, and eventually against ourselves."

Day Opens Headquarters, Pledges Fight on 'Purge'

Rep. Stephen A. [illegible], Republican nominee for reelection as Illinois congressman at large, opened personal campaign headquarters in Chicago yesterday with a statement that he would fight "most vigorously" what he termed an "attempted individual purge" by his opponents. Day asserted he was "high on the list of those feared and hated by allen and self-seeking interests."

DRIVER BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Raymond Mayo, 22, of 6217 S. Green st., a truck driver employed by Armour & Co., was struck on the head with a gun yesterday by two Negroes who robbed him of $25 at Maxwell st. and Union av.

DEMOCRATS LINK NORTH IN REVOLT OVER 4TH TERM

Rebellion in the Democratic party against President Roosevelt's fourth term candidacy, which began in spectacular fashion in the south, is spreading thru the north in an organized movement, it was reported yesterday at headquarters of the American Democratic national committee.

In New York, a Democrats for Dewey corporation has been formed under the state membership corporation law, said John J. O'Connor, former Democratic congressman and now chairman of the executive committee of the A. D. N. C. O'Connor said the New York corporation would be a pattern for other northern states where anti-New Deal Democrats are looking for a rallying point.

Illinois May Join Drive.

Spokesmen for the committee said organization work already was under way in a dozen northern states and eventually would include every state not regarded as definitely Republican. In Illinois the old-fashioned Democrats already are being courted by the Republican state central committee and a Democrats for Dewey organization is being considered under leadership of Julius F. Smietanka, collector of internal revenue under President Wilson and now head of the rebel committee's Illinois organization.

Organization of anti-New Deal Democrats in Michigan is proceeding under a plan aimed to reach into every precinct. A meeting to organize in Ohio has been called for next Wednesday in Columbus by Martin Sweeney of Cleveland, former Democratic congressman. Indiana is regarded by the rebels as safe for Dewey and Bricker.

Movement Is Growing.

Committee headquarters said Democrats for Dewey organization also has been completed or is under way in Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Missouri, Kentucky, California, Washington, Oregon, and Kansas.

In the south the strategy has been to put up slates of Presidential electors instructed to ballot for any Democrat except President Roosevelt, thus hoping to deprive him of a majority. In this group the rebels claim organization in Florida, Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Georgia, and South Carolina.

John F. Tyrrell, Illinois Republican state chairman, said yesterday he intended selecting a well known anti-New Deal Democrat to lead dissident Democrats into the Republican fold. The Dewey-Bricker clubs now being formed are intended, he said, to welcome every voter "who sees the issue of this campaign as "Americanism versus communism."

DEWEY PROPAGANDA IS CALLED TOO MUCH FOR G. O. P. GOVERNORS

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Sen. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], said today the three Republican governors who spoke to a nation-wide radio audience last night in behalf of Gov. Dewey's Republican Presidential campaign revised their speeches because "the Dewey-Brownell propaganda was too strong for them—and it will be too strong for the American people."

"This is the second time Gov. Warren [Gov. Earl Warren of California] has publicly repudiated the leadership of Gov. Dewey," Mahoney told a press conference at Democratic national headquarters. "The first time was when he refused to accept the Republican Vice Presidential nomination, the second time was when he refused to read a speech prepared by the Republican national committee last night."

The speeches of all three governors were withdrawn suddenly last night from the press for the revisions.

The Republican national committee said in a statement that the changes in each case were made by the speakers themselves to bring the speeches into conformity with each other. The governors, besides Warren, are Dwight Green of Illinois and Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut.

WISCONSIN G.O.P. EXPECTS ENTIRE TICKET TO WIN

Farm Vote Vital Factor; CIO Meets Rebuff.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 30.—The farm vote, which appears more strongly anti-New Deal than ever in Wisconsin, as it does in other midwestern states, is considered by Republicans to be the chief factor in the November elections. The Republicans have high hopes of electing the entire Wisconsin G. O. P. ticket, state and national.

Reports meanwhile are that Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee is not making as much headway among CIO factory workers as its sponsors were expecting. Two PAC candidates for congress in Milwaukee districts, which have large industrial populations, were defeated in the recent state primaries on the Democratic ticket.

Rep. Thaddeus Wasielewski, a Democrat, defeated State Sen. Anthony Gawronski, the PAC choice, by more than two to one in the 4th district, and Andrew Biemiller polled 8,152 votes against 5,589 for Clem Kalvelage, a PAC candidate, in the 5th district.

F. D. R. Denied Backing.

The Progressive party yesterday at its platform convention here twice refused to indorse President Roosevelt for a fourth term. This reflected Sen. La Follette's criticism of the New Deal at the May Progressive convention. Four years ago the Progressives indorsed the third term.

The OPA appears to be chief thorn in the flesh for Wisconsin farmers. In the Menomonie area members of cooperative creameries are protesting against the OPA. Officials of some creameries have been indicted for alleged violation of price ceilings. The indicted persons affirm they thought they were following the OPA rules, which they assert are muddled.

A newspaper took a straw vote Aug. 22 at the Manitowoc county fair. The poll gave Dewey 2,298 votes and Roosevelt 1,427. Broken into groups, it reported 63 per cent of the men and women in the fighting services in the poll were for Roosevelt. Farmers polled were 68 per cent for Dewey. Labor, skilled and unskilled, gave 53 per cent of its vote to Dewey. Manitowoc has many workers in war plants.

G. O. P. Leads in Votes.

Thomas Coleman, chairman of the Republican state voluntary committee, in an analysis of the situation, said today:

"The main factor is the strong farm vote for Dewey and a good city vote, as things stand. We expect to elect the entire ticket."

Republicans cast 69 per cent of all votes in the recent primaries. Four years ago they cast 56 per cent of the total primary vote. They carried the state ticket, but President Roosevelt carried the state by 25,615 votes.

5,000 PLANES FERRIED FROM U. S. TO RUSSIA

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 30 (AP).—Russian pilots, meeting army ferrying crews at "an Arctic rendezvous," have taken delivery on nearly 5,000 American planes since September, 1942.

The ferrying division of the air transport command, making this disclosure, also reported operation of two new overseas ferrying routes on virtual street car schedules.

In his first report since taking command of the division, Brig. Gen. Bob E. Nowland announced existence of the Snowball and Crescent routes—the first over the north Atlantic to England and the other a companion to the Fireball line, from Miami, Fla., to India.

Summarizing other operations of the division Gen. Nowland said that in the first half of 1944 it established a record of 40 million ton-miles over foreign routes of the ATC; had flown nearly 13 billion pound-miles of mail in foreign operations since mid-November last year, and that 15,000 sick or wounded soldiers had been transported "without injury" since April 19, 1944.

The Snowball route came into existence July 1, the crescent route last Feb. 6 with departure of a Pathfinder plane from Wilmington, Del., headquarters of the 2d ferrying group.

At the controls were two 1st pilots: Capt. Henry W. Bierde of Valley Cottage, N. Y., and Capt. Lorris W. Moomaw of Wilmington, Cal.

This route, which has been described as a super-highspeed supply line for B-29 Super Forts operating in the China-Burma-India theater, traverses 11,000 miles of ocean, African desert, and veldt to the shadows of the Taj Mahal.

Ferrying service via the Arctic to Russia began Sept. 3, 1942, when Capt. [then Lt.] Edmund J. Averman Jr. of Pittsburgh led a flight of A-20s [attack bombers] to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Gen. Nowland, 53 years old and a native of Peoria, said that by Sept. 15 the ferrying division would operate on 27 routes touching 63 cities.

Gerald Smith Nominated by His Party for President

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 30 (AP).—The first national convention of the America First party today nominated the party's director, Gerald L. K. Smith of Detroit, for President, and Harry Romer of St. Henry, O., for Vice President. No other names were submitted. John W. Bricker, Republican Vice Presidential nominee, refused the Michigan convention's nomination. The America First party has no connection with the America First committee, prewar patriotic organization.

Beauty Beaten

LOUISE STANLEY.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Louise Stanley, whose beauty won her movie fame and six husbands, nursed a bruised and battered face in Lenox Hill hospital today, injuries which she said she suffered in an altercation after a three hour party in a suite in the Hotel Ambassador on Park avenue.

Lawrence M. Lloyd.

Hours later, Lawrence M. Lloyd, prominent advertising executive, was charged with felonious assault on Miss Stanley's complaint.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent Dermody said that Lloyd, married and the father of two daughters, 17 and 19, denied striking the 29 year old brunette, claiming he had left her in the suite at midnight.

Miss Stanley at the hospital, told police Lloyd beat, punched and kicked her after they had been drinking from 1 a. m. to 3 a. m. in the suite. Police said the apartment was registered in Lloyd's name.

Miss Stanley's most recent marital experience was with Navy Lt. Charles A. Munn Jr., a member of a well known New York and Philadelphia family. It ended in divorce last June 12.

Ex-Sen. Norris' Condition Still Critical, Say Doctors

McCook, Neb., Aug. 30 (AP).—The pulse of former Sen. George W. Norris has speeded up and he "is still in quite critical condition," his physicians said tonight. Norris, who is 83, has not recovered complete consciousness since suffering a cerebral hemorrhage yesterday at his home here. The doctors said Norris does not respond to anything said to him but seems to recognize he is being spoken to.

$360 WORTH OF LIQUOR GONE.

R. H. Taft, manager of a contracting company at 1127 Adams st., told police yesterday that six cases of liquor valued at $360 were missing from a vault.

SAVE FOXES FOR FUTURE HUNTS, BRITONS URGED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 30.—So that its members and followers returning from the war services may be able to enjoy fox hunting as in the past, Lt. Col. R. W. McKergow, chairman at the annual meeting of the Crawley and Horsham hunt at Horsham, today appealed to landowners, tenant farmers, and keepers to desist from the wholesale slaughter of foxes. "I can plainly see," he said, "that if this destruction of foxes goes on we shall have no foxes to hunt."

"Guess My Age!"

New Kind of Face Powder Makes Her Look Years Younger!

ONCE this lovely girl looked quite a bit older. Some people actually thought she was rapidly approaching middle age . . .

For she was the innocent victim of an unflattering face powder! It was such an unkind powder—treacherous and sly. It showed up every tiny line in her face—accented every little skin fault—even seemed to exaggerate the size of her pores.

But look at her now! Can you guess her age? Would you say she is 20-30-35?

Why Lady Esther Face Powder Is So Flattering

Lady Esther Face Powder is extra flattering because it's made differently. It isn't just mixed, just sifted, in the usual way. It's blown by Twin Hurricanes—blended with the speed and power of hurricanes—to look clearer, smoother and more flattering on your skin!

Because of this patented, exclusive method of hurricane blending, the texture of Lady Esther Face Powder is much smoother and finer than ordinary powder. The first touch of your puff spreads a delicate film of beauty on your skin, hiding little lines, little blemishes. And Lady Esther Face Powder clings longer, too—clings four long hours!

But the most exciting difference is in the shades. Lady Esther shades have a subtle new quality—because the color is blown in by hurricanes. Many women say that the Lady Esther shades are so fresh and alive that ordinary powder shades seem dull and dab by comparison.

Living Proof—In Your Own Mirror!

Just try Lady Esther Face Powder! Try it on one side of your face—and on the other, apply your usual make-up. Then compare—for looks, for texture, for shade! Does Lady Esther Face Powder make your skin look smoother, younger? YOU be the judge! No matter what you paid for your present face powder—even if you paid $10.00 or more—you'll find that Lady Esther Face Powder makes you look more beautiful!

LYONS PICTURES F.D.R. IN FRONT, BOSSES PUSHING

Asserts Speech at Navy Yard Was Political.

Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, taunted the New Dealers yesterday for their plea to keep an experienced man in the White House. Lyons spoke at the Will county fair in Peotone.

Lyons began by describing his speech as a report to the people of Will county. Later he said he did this only to expose the fraud in the contention that President Roosevelt's talk from the Bremerton [Wash.] navy yard was not a political speech.

"I have been following the pattern of the fourth term candidate's speech from Bremerton because I wanted to take this means to show you the subtle propaganda by which the New Dealers are trying to perpetuate their grip on our federal government," he said.

Bosses Operate in Background.

"In this, the most important election that has confronted America since the election of Lincoln in 1860, the New Deal planners are offering the American people the picture of the indispensable man: the commander in chief, too busy for politics.

"But behind the scenes, or as far behind them as they can get, Sidney Hillman and the CIO are raising the funds for the campaign and the big city bosses, Kelly and Flynn and Hague and Hannegan, are providing the 'organization' and the 'experience' for the utilization of those funds at the polls."

"Political" Listeners' Verdict.

Most listeners who found their radio sets blanketed by the Bremerton speech thought it was political, Lyons said. So did the war department, which admitted it, but later suddenly reversed its decision.

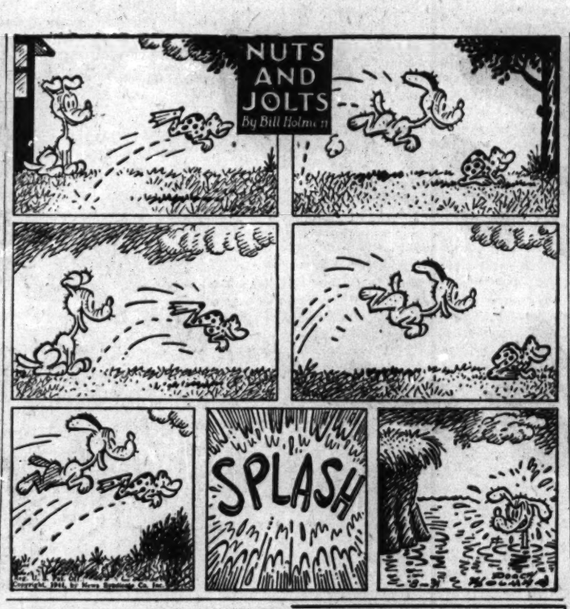

"The clever emphasis on experience in that speech was a New Deal attempt to persuade the American people that no man can be a good President unless he has been President two or three or four terms—especially, as the New Dealers say, 'in this emergency,'" Lyons said.

Variation of Old Tune.

"Well, Washington had had no experience as President in the emergency of 1787, and Lincoln had had no experience as President in the emergency of 1860. And Franklin D. Roosevelt had had no experience as President in the so-called emergency of 1932.

"It is just a variation on the old tune of 'Don't change horses in the middle of the stream' which was dinned into your ears by the New Dealers four years ago. Most Americans want to forget the horse that persists in cavorting thru the Seven seas, and get a horse that will get busy on American soil and do a little plowing for the American people."

Americans are turning to a thoroughbred American, Gov. Dewey, said Lyons, because they have seen his work in smashing the underworld rings and in giving the state of New York sound and economical government.

3 AIR AGENCIES BECOME SINGLE UNIT TONIGHT

Consolidation of the army air forces materiel and services, the army air forces materiel command and the air service command, in the air technical service command, to be under the direction of Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen, was announced in Chicago yesterday by the war department. The consolidation will be effective at midnight tonight.

The consolidation was ordered July 17 by Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the army air forces, to effect economies in administration and to promote efficiency in development, procurement, distribution, and maintenance of air force equipment.

SAFETY RECORD SET; NO TRAFFIC DEATHS IN DETROIT IN 34 DAYS

The National Safety council yesterday credited Detroit, Mich., with a new American record of going from July 11 to Aug. 13 without a traffic fatality. That 34 day period, multiplied by Detroit's population, gave the Michigan metropolis 59,500,000 man days with no traffic deaths.

Cleveland, O., which has a smaller population, went from June 25 to Aug. 3, inclusive, without a fatal accident for 35,132,000 man days. The former record was by Dallas, Tex., which in 1940 had 140 deathless days for 42,437,000 man days. The council computes man days by multiplying population by the number of days without deaths.

For the nation, the traffic toll dropped 1 per cent in July, to 1,770 deaths that month from 1,790 a year earlier, the council reported. It was the first decline since last October, when highway fatalities started to climb, despite war time travel restrictions.

The death rate for the first seven months of 1944 increased 15 per cent for Illinois. In that period the state had 755 traffic deaths, compared with 659 for the identical period of 1943 and 1,279 for 1941. Among large cities, Chicago ranked 11th on a percentage basis, with 236 deaths in 1944, 178 in 1943, and 345 in 1941.

DIRKSEN ASSAILS F.D.R. 'USING NAVY TO WIN ELECTION'

Old Orchard Beach, Me., Aug. 30 (AP).—Rep. Dirksen [R., Ill.], said tonight that President Roosevelt's recent visit to Hawaii constituted a campaign trip and that "this is the first time the United States navy has ever been used to win an election."

"Of course he did not call it a campaign trip," Dirksen told a Republican rally. "He called it an inspection. He did not speak of himself as a candidate. He spoke of himself as commander in chief."

False Pretense Charged.

Declaring a candidate must stand before the people in only one role—that of a candidate—Dirksen said:

"No man should be allowed to seek the Presidency of the United States under false pretenses.

"When a man seeks that high office he stands before us in one role only. He does not stand before us as a diplomat—even tho he calls Churchill "Winnie" and Stalin "Joe." To seek the Presidency that way is to seek it under false pretenses.

"He does not stand before us as commander in chief of the army and navy—even tho he can command the navy to help him with his campaigning. To seek the Presidency that way is to seek it under false pretenses."

Acceptance "Setup" Cited.

Referring repeatedly to Mr. Roosevelt as "the fourth term candidate," Dirksen asked:

"Was it as commander in chief and for inspection purposes that Mr. Roosevelt, when the flash came thru of his fourth term nomination, should have found himself in a west coast naval base, with the radio facilities all rigged up and a speech of acceptance all ready for signing?

"Was it as commander in chief that Mr. Roosevelt—when he sailed to Pearl Harbor—left at home Adm. King, whose business it is to run the navy, and Gen. Marshall, whose business it is to run the army?

Rosenman Goes Along.

"Was it as commander in chief and for inspection purposes that, instead of military advisers, his companions on this trip were Ross McIntyre, his personal physician; Elmer Davis, his chief of propaganda, and, most important of all, Sam [Sammy the Rose] Rosenman, the No. 1 ghost writer of Mr. Roosevelt's political speeches?

"You and I know the answers to those questions. We weren't born yesterday. We know that those answers do not add up to military necessity. They add up to politics."

Basking in MacArthur Popularity.

Referring to the President's meeting with Gen. MacArthur in Hawaii, Dirksen said MacArthur had not been invited previously to "all sorts of meetings with all sorts of military men of all sorts of nations in all sorts of places."

"Well," he continued, "this is an election year. And Gen. MacArthur is no longer a fourth term threat. But he is still exceedingly popular in America. And in an election year, it's a good idea to be seen as much as possible with as many popular people as possible."

Desert Baby in Motor Car; Parents Are Hunted Here

Chicago police were asked yesterday to search for the parents who abandoned a boy 3 weeks old in a gasoline station in Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 20. The child, wrapped in pink and blue blankets, was left in a parked automobile. One of the blankets bore the initials D. L. B. in black stitching, police were told.

MR. BIDDLE MEET MR. HULL.

Atty. Gen. Biddle has told a senate committee that lasting peace cannot be expected unless the pre-war power of German big industry and its cartels is broken. He went on to list various tricks by which German steel, munitions, chemicals, and optical companies evaded the Versailles prohibition against rearmament. Not all of the tricks, incidentally, involved cartels, which are agreements to limit production and divide markets.

Mr. Biddle had a point, altho not a new one. He might better, however, have spared the senate his observations on the iniquity of cartels and directed them, instead, to his colleague, Secretary Hull.

Mr. Hull has just concluded an oil agreement with the British. It provides for the creation of an international petroleum commission, and, in view of the fact that petroleum is of interest to other nations than the United States and the British empire, leaves the way open for other nations interested, whether as consumers or producers, to adhere to the agreement and obtain membership in the commission later.

One obvious purpose of the commission is to take regulation of the American oil industry out of the hands of congress, if it is so foolish as to ratify the agreement. Congress may not even have that chance. At last report the state department said it had not decided whether the agreement was to be submitted to the senate to be ratified as a treaty or was to be imposed on the American people by Presidential fiat, as an executive agreement.

The agreement, the text of which was held secret for some time, has recently been made public. It is long winded and full of mellifluous globaloney. Leaders of the American petroleum industry who have studied it say that its principal danger lies in the fact that its language is so loose and indefinite that it could cover almost any international action to the detriment of our own oil industry.

There is nothing indefinite, however, in the section that gives the international petroleum commission the power "to suggest the manner in which, over the long term, this estimated demand [for oil] may best be satisfied by production equitably distributed among the various producing countries." That opens the way for half of the operation of a cartel, namely, the allocation of markets and the restriction of production. That's what they mean by "equitable distribution."

Cartels don't necessarily provide formal price fixing arrangements. The same end can be reached thru the law of supply and demand, if production is restricted. But price fixing would also be possible under another section of the agreement, which provides "that the development of petroleum resources and the benefits received therefrom from the producing companies shall be such as to encourage the sound economic advancement of those countries."

If, as Mr. Biddle maintains, with a good deal of truth, cartels were so evil an institution in the hands of the Nazis, what was Mr. Hull doing in entering an agreement that laid the ground for a British-American oil cartel? The British were so well pleased with the oil agreement that they have sent their principal negotiator, Lord Privy Seal Beaverbrook, to this country to see what he can do about other important raw materials, including, particularly, rubber.

It is no secret that the British and Dutch rubber barons are on tenterhooks lest, after our army and navy recover their East Indian plantations for them, we turn around and make the plantations valueless by making our own synthetic rubber. The rubber interests have exerted strong diplomatic pressure to get assurances from this country that after the war we will tear down the rubber plants that saved the world and that would provide permanent employment for many thousands of American workmen, and go back to patronizing the British-Dutch cartel that gouged American motorists at every opportunity in the past.

That great liberal, Henry Wallace, batted on the British side. He was all for tearing down the plants, in order, as he explained, to stimulate world trade. If Beaverbrook is successful in getting written into the rubber agreement the same language that he got in the oil agreement the rubber barons can sit back and breathe a sigh of relief.

No one should have any doubt about what an international commission, on which there were six British and one Dutch representative to each American, would recommend under its power of suggesting the manner in which production be "equitably distributed among the various producing countries." The synthetic rubber plants would come down in a hurry.

Mr. Roosevelt's supporters are waging a strenuous campaign to convince the public that such arrangements as these ought to be made by executive agreements, which they hold are binding even if not submitted to congress for approval. If the agreements they make are for the benefit of the American people, why are they afraid to submit them to congress?

WHAT FORREST SAID.

Our Joe Parrish, a native of Dickson, Tenn., the city of churches, Mr. Monroe F. Cockrell, who dispenses sound loans and rebel sentiments at the Continental bank, and the other unreconstructed members of the Civil war round table, are going to have cast a batch of Minie balls and sally forth. Their hero, Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, has been misquoted again.

This time it was Maj. Gen. Francis B. Wilby, superintendent of the West Point military academy, who said that Forrest said, "Git thar fustest with the mostest men." Obviously military education in this country is teetering on the brink of disaster and the Forrest aficionados had better hurry if they want to snatch it back to safety.

The origin of Forrest's famous maxim has been traced by Robert S. Henry, a Washington railroad attorney and a historian by avocation, back to a conversation that Forrest had in 1863 with his fellow Confederate raider, Gen. John Morgan. When Morgan asked Forrest for his formula for victory, Forrest replied, "Git thar fust with the most men."

The "fustest" was first inserted by a writer on the Memphis Commercial Appeal in 1905, who apparently had had too heady a diet of Joel Chandler Harris or Opie Reed, and the "mostest" came later by analogy and alliteration.

Forrest, as Mr. Henry has pointed out, was a plain man and not addicted to such pseudo-literary garbage. The error has been denounced frequently, but we fear, along with the editorial writer of the Baltimore Sun who did the last chore in this line, that "we haven't heard the lastest of it."

THE TENANT AND THE WHITE HOUSE.

Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term supporters are required also to support unlimited tenure in the White House and to oppose restriction by constitutional amendment. If these supporters are Democrats they must reject their party's fairly consistent record. They lay claim to Thomas Jefferson as founder. He viewed unlimited tenure with unlimited alarm. The party's platform declarations have maintained Jefferson's opinion. Woodrow Wilson was nominated with such a platform.

Left wing New Dealers may be spared the embarrassment of apostasy. Free government is not their objective. When they have a useful man they want to keep him. The more embarrassed defenders of the fourth and subsequent terms have found the argument that limitation would be a restriction of free choice and deprive the people of their rights. Two-thirds vote of both houses of congress is needed to submit a constitutional amendment and the assent of three-fourths of the states is required for adoption. Unless the country agreed that the limitation was wise it could not be imposed.

A republic with a constitution undertakes to provide against certain temporary impulses. It undertakes to bridge over periods of strain and stress. It adopts fundamental rules which are to prevail against sudden inclinations and excitements. Congress exists under certain limitations. It cannot establish a religion even if a majority of the citizens wished to do so. It cannot abridge freedom of speech or of the press or pass a law against peaceable assembly or petition. It cannot confer titles of nobility, pass bills of attainder or ex post facto laws. No state without its consent can be deprived of equal suffrage in the senate.

A limitation of tenure in the Presidency would, if adopted, represent the mature judgment of the people that it was unsafe to allow the privileges, prerogatives, and powers of office to build up a personal following of great extent and many ramifications for the carrying of elections. Ambition for unlimited tenure would result in administration for that purpose and not for the good of the country.

Until Mr. Roosevelt came along with his emergencies, excitements, and revolutionary trends, animated by an intense craving for authority, usage had limited the tenure. It was called the unwritten law. Parties recognized it and Presidents submitted to it. A man suspected of a desire to take more than eight years was regarded as conceited and arrogant. Public opinion was well formed on this subject. Politicians may have had some yearnings for the profits of long tenure, but they knew the grapes were beyond reach. The present incumbent in extraordinary times was able to break down the rule which had prevailed unbroken before him. Now a new precedent is established. No successor need limit his ambition. He can enter office with the intention of remaining there and to do so devote all his resources to the carrying of elections.

Unlimited tenure will change the character of the office of chief executive. It will affect the character of the man in office. It will affect political action in the country, change political habits, tend to Nazify party organization, create vested interests in governmental positions and with them a governing class. Many of these consequences are already to be observed in the wake of Mr. Roosevelt's ambitions which have been devoted to self-satisfaction and self-glorification.

Usage has been changed. It is no longer a protection. If the people in deliberation agree that the understanding which governed thruout the Republic's history until the New Deal undertook a revolution was for the good of the country they will want to put the limitation in the Constitution. Congress would refer the question to them by submitting the amendment.

Editorial of the Day

GEN. PATTON.

[New York Times.]

It is an old American custom that when a man has committed a fault he be called to account for it. If he acknowledges his mistake and makes amends the matter is closed. Gen. Eisenhower took that attitude last year when Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., himself weary from battle, berated and slapped two "combat fatigue" cases during the Sicilian campaign, then apologized to them and to the 7th army for his conduct. Instead of demoting Gen. Patton and sending him home in disgrace, as many here at home demanded, Gen. Eisenhower gave him a new command on the grounds he was needed on the fighting front.

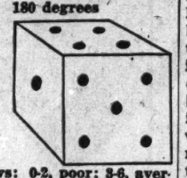

Now it is revealed that Gen. Patton's new command is the American 3d army that for the last few days has been writing such a brilliant page in military history with its vast encircling drive against the German armies in northern France. This has become a matter for admiration among fighting men as well as observers in London and at home. The military affairs committee of the senate immediately reversed its previous stand and unanimously recommended the delayed promotion of Gen. Patton to the permanent rank of major general. That, too, is in the American tradition. Gen. Eisenhower's judgment would appear to have been vindicated.

THE LOTUS MYTH.

The mythology of Chicagoland includes a pretty, nature-faking tale about the so-called Egyptian lotus beds that almost cover the pellucid waters of Grass lake, and charm observers with their exotic blooms. The story runs that they are a mystery to science, but that the seeds of their ancestors came straight from the banks of the ancient Nile, ages ago, and were carried to this single lake, under the mystic influence of Isis and Osiris, on the feet or in the craws of fish hawks.

* * *

Every summer the Egyptian lotus myth breaks loose in the Chicago newspapers, perhaps thru the insidious influence of the Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce—if there is such an organization. Other departments of the newspapers, which take nature study seriously, give the correct interpretation of the water lilies on Grass lake, but the myth just keeps rolling along. It has had a large run this summer in type and pictures, for the lotus crop has been handsome.

* * *

For the benefit of those who prefer the facts of life to Egyptian romance, this column will explain the matter. The plant that lures pilgrims to Grass lake is no more Egyptian than Cairo, Ill. Its flowers are white; if it were Egyptian they would be pink. It is the American lotus, Nymphaea luteum, related to the water lilies that kept the infant Moses from crying when he was tucked away in the bulrushes [Nymphaea lotus].

* * *

Furthermore, the American lotus, alleged to be found only in Grass lake, is not at all uncommon. It grows abundantly in the Illinois river, where hundreds of beds may be observed; in the Illinois and Michigan canal; in Mississippi bayous; in backwaters of the Missouri; in Louisiana; even in New York. Mexico, Honduras, and other subtropical regions of this continental area also possess the American lotus.

* * *

There is an interesting sidelight on this plant that its mythology omits. Botanists and ethnologists believe that the American Indians distributed the seeds far and wide as an article of commerce. They regarded the roots of the plant as edible. Moreover, the hard seeds, almost as round as marbles, made excellent rattles when tucked inside gourds and were so used at tribal dances.

FOR HER WHO WILL COME AFTER.

O woman, who a hundred years
From now will waken in the night
To think of one across the earth
And join him with the heart's swift flight,

Will then your world be changed indeed,
The lesson learned, the slaughter done,
Where every wing is innocent
And rust has ochered sword and gun?

O woman, who will wake to think
Of him thru hours dark and still,
Will your beloved have safely gone
On task of peace? I pray he will!

Aix Without Pains.

Regarding the Aixes of France [Aug. 24]: It seems to me that while on a walking trip back in the 1920s I had one of the nicest baths I ever had. On the road from Perpignan to Bayonne I stopped at a place called Aix-les-Thermes. Add this to your collection of Aixes.

Another outstanding bath was in a certain fine and well known Parisian bathhouse. I came into Paris with a friend on a three days' leave, after some months on the hot and dusty roads near Verdun, in July, 1917. The various oriental masters of ceremony steamed us, vapored us, and pounded us. Then a dive thru a cold pool and the good Arab, Maxim, to receive us with a huge, warm towel. Then to lie in a darkened alcove on soft cushions, with dim light from a stained glass window sifting toward us; a ham sandwich of French bread, and champagne cocktails. Shall I see my old Paris again? I wonder. Cl-Git.

LINES TO MILORD.

Merely whistle—I shall come
And sit demurely 'neath your thumb.
Show distaste of my attire—
I shall change to your desire.
Frown upon the bangs I wear—
I'll more smoothly coif my hair.
Cry shame upon the painted nail—
Mine won't glisten, drab and pale.
Criticize the way I smoke,
Or drink, or talk, or tell a joke;
I'll never question, but no buts—
Yet deep inside a voice says, "Nuts!"
If this is how you'd have me be,
How come you fell in love with ME?

Who knows, all the lore on "boondocks" [Aug. 21 and 24] may stem from one source root. Men who went to the Philippines in Funston's Fighting 20th have told me that an Indian in the regiment, from a Kansas reservation, discovered it was no trick at all for him to understand the conversation of Filipino prisoners. He soon qualified as an interpreter. How language does get around! William Shaw.

In Frances Willard's town of Evanston the city fathers banned the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday. The law was thwarted by selling ice cream without the soda, and naming the dish Sunday. Now Sunday was a sacred day in the suburb, so they spelled it sundae.

C. E. G. writes: "In Monday's column it appears from an answer you gave there has been some change in the meaning of the term 'necessary man' as applied to men under 30. Will you please clarify the statement?"

The definition of "necessary man" which formerly appeared in Section 622.24 of the regulations has been deleted. In order for a man between 26 and 30 to be considered for occupational deferment now, he must be "employed in an activity in war production or in support of the national health, safety, or interest; he [may] be deemed to be necessary to the activity if he must be replaced by another male worker [also] liable to military service in order not to interrupt production, and he is deemed to be 'regularly engaged in' the activity if he works 48 hours a week in a No. 1 labor area or 40 hours per week in a less critical area. If the registrant can be replaced without the necessity of replacing him by another man [also liable for military service], then he is not entitled to consideration. . . ."

AFTER A DONATION, REBUILD THE BLOOD.

SCORES of correspondents ask, "How often will it be safe for me to donate blood?" "How quickly will my own circulation return to normal?" "What should I eat in order to recover as speedily as possible?"

As a rule, 60 days will be required for a healthy person to snap back to normal. In other words, the individual who is physically fit will be perfectly justified in giving one pint six times per year. There are exceptions, of course. Now and then a longer interval will be necessary for recuperation. In like fashion, many rebuild the vital fluid rapidly and instances have been reported wherein, within five weeks, it was at par.

As we can understand, one of the chief factors is iron. Each time we dispense with a pint of our circulating liquid, we lose about 250 mg. of this metal. We cannot restore blood without it. Unfortunately, we cannot replace this amount at a single dose and expect it to be absorbed. Even tho we take the recommended allowance of 12 mg. per day, some of us will use it for other purposes. Thus it will fail to enter into the manufacture of hemoglobin. While the tissues of a few will not utilize it as readily as we would wish, we can facilitate the process by providing a balance of other minerals. If we have too much calcium, for example, iron will be less well handled.

The best source of this element is food. In this manner, it enters promptly into intimate asscociation with the other chemicals of the body. It feels at home and is not obliged to make new friends. Nutriments rich in this material include liver, eggs, apricots, beans, molasses, whole grain cereals, green vegetables, and meats.

Next in importance comes protein. In order to regenerate our circulation, we must have the essential ingredients of hemoglobin. Let us assume that iron is available. If we do not supply meats and other types of nitrogen, the blood will seize protein from our own tissues. But such a program will lead to weakness.

Our meals, therefore, must provide the building blocks wherewith to renovate the red coloring matter. This demands at least six ounces of meat or its equivalent every day. Liver should be employed twice a week. Eggs will be needed, one or more daily, as will one pint of milk or one ounce of cheese [which is equal to a glass of milk]. The menus may well contain beans, peas, fruits, two or more servings of green or yellow vegetables, and enough whole grain [either in bread or cereal form] to furnish the requirement of vitamin B.

We must not forget the role of copper, which can be obtained with our edibles, particularly liver, nuts, oysters, molasses, and whole grain cereals.

Exercise and rest may conform to one's ordinary habit. But life's candle cannot be burned at both ends if we would recapture strength. If illness, even a common cold, intervenes it may be wise to delay an additional week or two. Again, if loss of weight from any cause has come about, the indications for postponement are clear. It is obvious that only those who are in tiptop condition should be accepted as donors.

Under the Calm Sunlight.

Seymour Korman's recent encounter on the road to Toulon with the old Frenchman who drank a toast to the Maquis, his son having been tortured and killed by the Nazis, and Mr. Korman's reference to "the dusty way under the calm French sunlight" brought back to at least one World war veteran, Mrs. Eleanor Hart, a warm memory of another summer afternoon in France. It was in 1918, when she was serving at a base hospital near Limoges, that she was walking down a country lane. A worn old peasant woman joined her, and said, softly, "Vous êtes très amiable."

"My knowledge of French was inadequate to understand the provincial pronunciation," Mrs. Hart now recalls, "and I had to inquire on my return to the base the meaning of those few words.

"Never have I forgotten the depth of affection conveyed to me, and down thru the years, 'You are very kind' has rung in my ears as an expression of gratitude to all Americans coming from the lips of one of the humblest citizens of France."

Sorrows of Werther (1944).

An air force corporal at Chanute field writes to report that for more than two years he has been trying to get a really high shine on his big G. I. shoes. The other day he hit his all time high in shining when he polished them to the glistening stage. They looked beautiful, and he was pleased.

Then he went downstairs and read the section bulletin board.

A notice had just been posted.

It went something like this:

The corporal is pretty unhappy about it all. He says he guesses he will never understand this army.

War Time Therapy.

One of the more marvelous therapeutical advances of this war is what it did to a gentleman in the navy. This lad, a seaman first class, had a unique profession in civilian life. He was a handicapper for a national news service, one of those lads who dare to predict the outcome of a horse race. Well, he discovered a system that was unbeatable. It was so infallible that he went out to celebrate his discovery. The celebration was successful, too, except that it lasted two weeks and, when the haze had cleared, he had forgotten how his system worked.

So he joined the navy, and in the quiet exile of Island X in the Pacific, we learn from the 117th Review, an Island X publication of the Seabees, his past was forgotten. He never even thought of the horses. And then, one day, a foolish friend began sending him copies of the Morning Telegraph, self-styled as America's authority on motion pictures, theater, and turf.

His interest at first was lethargic and slow. Then one day he woke up tingling with the old excitement. He had remembered his system! Now at the end of a day's work [which consists of reading other persons' letters and ripping them to bits with a razor under the authority of censor], he sits down and pores over the past performance charts. Invariably he picks out the winner of the next day's race. Of course, he doesn't receive the Telegraphs until weeks after the race has been run, but that doesn't bother him. He's a happy man.

PROPAGANDA TO SOLDIERS.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Some time ago a representative of the Democratic party called at our home and asked for our son's address. He said he wanted it so as to be able to contact our son and find out if he would like to vote in the coming Presidential election. I told him it was all right with me if he would promise there would be no propaganda accompanying the application which furthered the interests of candidates on the Democratic ticket. He assured me faithfully our son would receive nothing but the application—and what happens?

Today I received Boss Kelly's letter from our son in Hawaii, and its contents amazed me. After announcing that Franklin D. Roosevelt had been nominated for reelection as President of the United States, Boss Kelly brazenly feels that the recipient of the letter would like to vote for him in the forthcoming election. He also mentions other Democratic candidates, and assures the reader that they are all stanch and ardent supporters of President Roosevelt.

HOW TRUMAN HELPS THE WAR.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 26.—How much gasoline will be used needlessly, and how much unnecessary train travel will occur at a time when citizens are urged by government bureaus to curtail these to help win the war, all because Sen. Truman insists on being notified of his Vice Presidential nomination at his birthplace in little Lamar, Mo., instead of at his home in Independence, near-by large Kansas City?

The Kansas City Star reports most people will have to stay in Joplin, Mo., 37 miles from Lamar. Mr. Boyle, assistant Democratic national chairman, predicts 30,000 will attend the notification. Perhaps the matter of saving gasoline and restricting train travel doesn't apply to anything that will help the New Dealers reelect themselves.

SHADES OF 1940?

Graylake, Ill., Aug. 25.—Mr. Dewey sends Mr. Dulles to the Dumbarton conference. Does this mean that the Republicans will again campaign like they did in 1940? We then had the spectacle of a candidate who, either thru ignorance or deliberate choice, preferred to be a stooge for other interests. We thought the present candidate might really want to work for the American people for the next four years. If he does, he better find out what they want. He won't find out at Dumbarton Oaks, and he won't be elected trying to make common ground of the issues with the opposition. We didn't hear of Mr. Roosevelt sending a delegate to confer with President Hoover in 1932, or of him trying to merge the issues. Even after the election, the Democrats declined to confer with President Hoover on depression problems.

THE PRIVILEGED CLASS.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Since when have our public parks been handed over to the employes as a sort of private club, with the right to insult the patrons who pay their salaries?

While I was playing golf at the Waveland course in Lincoln park at 3 p. m., Aug. 25, a fellow who said he was the groundskeeper "cut in" at the No. 2 hole ahead of three of us. We asked him to let us shoot and keep our place in play and he informed us that he could cut in anywhere and any time to play, and what were we going to do about it? He and three of the other helpers on the course played out the eight holes ahead of us. He also told us to make a complaint at the office and see what good it would do us. We told him we would make a complaint to the head of the park board.

We need a change in our city and national governments before we, the taxpayers, are unable to use either the parks or anything else.

REPAIR MAN'S LIABILITY.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—If I take my watch to a repair man who has a sign in his shop announcing that he is not responsible for loss of articles in case of fire or theft, [1] is he nevertheless responsible? 2. I claim that he is acting as a gratuitous bailee and, whether he has the sign or not, he is not responsible. C. W.

1. No. Even without the sign he would not be liable if he was not to blame.
2. We agree with you.

NAVY INCREASED TO 1,150 COMBAT SHIPS IN 5 YEARS

65,000 of All Types Built; 2,822 Lend-Leased.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Navy Secretary Forrestal reported today that the navy has been increased by 65,000 vessels, aggregating nine million tons displacement, in the five years since war broke out in Europe. The navy's strength in major fighting ships was reported at more than 1,150 vessels.

In the same period, Forrestal told a press conference, the navy's air strength has been increased by 57,600 planes—20 times as many as it had before the war.

2,822 Vessels Lend-Leased.

The personnel of the navy, marine corps, and Coast Guard, Forrestal said, has reached 3,717,000. When the war broke out on Sept. 1, 1939, the total personnel was only 132,086.

The navy, he said, has transferred more than 5 billion dollars in ships, materials, and services to the allies thru lend-lease, and is now considering further transfers. Lend-lease transfers, the navy reported, included 2,822 naval vessels.

The foreign economic administration, which controls the lend-lease program, explained that the navy's lend-lease transfers include naval armament and petroleum, along with ships and services.

Total Cost Not Included.

The navy has large funds thru which activities related to lend-lease operations are carried on, so that the 5 billion dollars reported today does not reflect the navy's total foreign expenditures. FEA said, however, that the 5 billion dollars is included in the 28 billion 270 million dollars which President Roosevelt recently told congress lend-lease had cost up to July 1.

Forrestal said the British have received 92 per cent of the navy's lend-lease aid. Russia received 5 per cent.

New WAC Uniform

Corporals Marie Sullivan and Joan Chamberlain posed yesterday at the main entrance of the Chicago Natural History [formerly Field] museum, modeling the newly authorized winter off-duty dress for WACs on its first Chicago appearance. The woolen dress in a gray brown shade, called horizon tan, has zippered fly front from convertible neckline to hem and moderately full long sleeves. It is correct for social functions when WACs are off duty. With it they will wear overseas caps of regulation khaki and pumps with moderately high heels, instead of the oxfords required for uniforms.

MRS. WINDSOR HIRES 10 ROOMS AT N. Y. HOSPITAL

New York, Aug. 30 [Special].—Something is going to happen at Roosevelt hospital here, and the British information service, which represents the British ministry of information here, is beside itself with activity.

A 10 room suite has been engaged at the hospital, it was learned, along with six nurses. Dr. Henry Cave, attending surgeon, is reported in conference with other physicians, and planning to perform an important operation.

From other sources it was learned that Edward Windsor, governor of the Bahamas, and Mrs. Windsor, who arrived in New York early in July, have returned to their suite in the Waldorf Astoria towers after a month visiting friends in Newport. Rumors were that the 10 rooms and six nurses were engaged in behalf of Mrs. Windsor.

The British information service finally loosened up to the extent of issuing a formal bulletin. The wife of Britain's ex-king, it was admitted, is to undergo an appendectomy.

The room was shared by Murphy and Mrs. Ellen Bennett, who has been questioned several times by police during the investigation of the murder. Lt. COURT INQUIRY WITNESS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP).—Navy Lt. J. Donald Reifsnyder, 35, Scranton attorney and a witness in a government investigation of the affairs of the United States District court here, was found shot to death behind a billboard in an outlying residential section today, and Detective Capt. George Donaldson said he had taken his own life.

Federal authorities declined to comment. M. H. Goldschein, special assistant to Atty. Gen. Biddle, asked about Reifsnyder's connection with the inquiry, said "that's a matter we can't discuss."

Reifsnyder returned from his station last week to testify before a federal grand jury investigating "certain matters" in connection with the middle Pennsylvania district United States court.

The inquiry began several months ago after the house of representatives ordered a judicial committee investigation of the judicial conduct of District Judges Albert W. Johnson and Albert L. Watson.

WOMAN IN IRON LUNG UNDERGOES APPENDECTOMY

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 30 (AP).—A successful appendectomy has been performed on a woman in an iron lung. The operation, on Mrs. Theda Anna Carl, 24, mother of two boys, was described by hospital executives as rare in medical annals.

She was stricken with appendicitis yesterday in the iron lung that has encased her since she suffered an attack of infantile paralysis Aug. 4. She was wheeled into the operating room in the lung, and oxygen was administered while one section of the iron lung was lifted.

"We gave her a light anesthetic," a staff physician said, "she came thru in excellent condition."

ARMY REVEALS USE OF ALUMINUM AIR FIELD MATS

Fort Belvoir, Va., Aug. 30 (AP).—The army removed the "secret" label today from its aluminum landing mat, almost as strong and only half as heavy as the steel mat for surfacing emergency air fields.

The steel mat was satisfactory in areas with normal transportation facilities, but something lighter was needed where only air transportation was available.

For a runway, 150x5,000 feet, the aluminum mat weighs 975 tons—against 1,928 for the steel mat—and it can be laid much faster, 250 square feet a man hour instead of 150.

WILDCAT STRIKE OF 650 HALTS WAR PRODUCTION

An unauthorized strike of 650 employes of the Western Felt Works, 4115 Ogden av., most of them women, virtually tied up the plant yesterday despite grievance hearings under the contract of the CIO Textile Workers Union, local 190, with the company. The plant is engaged in war work.

Complaints of the union against a foreman it accused of improper language in admonishing girl workers for loafing in their restrooms, and alleging four absentees had been dismissed have been referred to the war labor board.

Company officials said the union leaders admitted the strike was unauthorized and asserted the union charges were unfounded. Efforts were being made thru the labor board to end the walkout.

TELEVISION

the "Baby" that will start with the step of a Giant!

America's "Next Great Industry" awaits only the green light of Victory to open up undreamed-of horizons in Education...Entertainment...Employment

IT took fifteen to thirty years for the automobile, the airplane and the movies to become really tremendous factors in American life.

But television will start with the step of a giant, once Victory has been won and the manufacturers have had an opportunity to tool up for volume production.

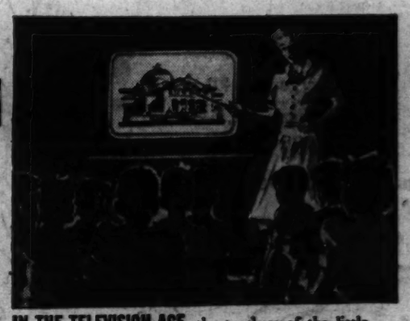

Few realize the enormous technical strides television had already made, when the war put a temporary halt to its commercial expansion.

Dr. V. K. Zworykin's famous inventions, the Iconoscope and Kinescope (the television camera "eye" and picture tube for the home), go back to 1923 and 1929 respectively. Signalizing arrival of the long-awaited all-electronic system of television, their announcement stimulated countless other scientists in laboratories all over the world to further intensive development and research. By the outbreak of World War II television, though still a baby in terms of production of home receivers, had already taken giant strides technically.

During the war, with the tremendous speed-up in all American electronic development, man's knowledge of how to solve the production problems associated with intricate electronic devices has naturally taken another great stride ahead.

When peace returns, and with it the opportunity for television to move forward on a major scale, all this pentup knowledge from many sources will converge, opening the way for almost undreamed-of expansion. Then American manufacturers will produce sets within the means of millions, and television will undoubtedly forge ahead as fast as sets and stations can be built.

In a typical example of American enterprise, many of the nation's foremost manufacturers, listed here, have already signified their intention to build fine home receivers.

IN THE TELEVISION AGE, the teachers of the little red schoolhouse will offer their pupils many scholastic advantages of the big city. And in the home an endless variety of entertaining instruction: courses in homemaking; hobbies like gardening, photography, woodworking, golf.

WHILE REMAINING AT HOME, the owner of a television set will "tour the world" via television. Eventually, almost the entire American population should share in the variety of entertainment now concentrated only in large cities...drama, musical shows, opera, ballet.

TELEVISION will aid postwar prosperity. Television will give jobs to returning soldiers, and an even greater effect will be felt through advertising goods and services. Millions will be kept busy supplying products that television can demonstrate in millions of homes at one time.

WATCH FOR THESE NAMES AFTER THE WAR

The manufacturers below may well be described as a Blue Book of the radio and electronics industries. Their spirit of invention, research and enterprise built the radio industry into the giant it is today.

Who can contemplate their achievements and fail to realize that in them America has its greatest resources for the building of the "next great industry"—Television. Watch for their names after the war!

2 POLIO DEATHS IN MILWAUKEE AREA REPORTED

Four More Communities Impose Quarantines.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 30 [Special].—Two more deaths and five new cases of infantile paralysis in the Milwaukee area were reported today by Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel, city health officer, as four more communities ordered quarantine of children, bringing to 17 the number where children are confined to their premises.

The deaths, raising the total to nine since the first polio case was diagnosed July 6, were those of Sheldon Subeck, 9, 4460 Larkin st., Shorewood, and Marlene Cohen, 5, 2744 N. 40th st., Milwaukee. There have been six deaths of Milwaukee residents and three of Shorewood residents. Three of the cases reported today were in Milwaukee; one from Shorewood and one from West Allis.

Since the outbreak there have been 35 cases in Milwaukee, 20 in Shorewood and one each in the town of Wauwatosa and West Allis.

4 More Quarantined.

The latest communities in which quarantines have been ordered are Greendale, South Milwaukee, town of Oak Creek, and West Milwaukee. In all except Greendale, children under 12 years of age are affected. In Greendale it applies to those under 18, but youths with working permits will be allowed to go to their places of employment, but must observe quarantine rules upon their return home.

Funds for a survey into cause of the epidemic in Shorewood and for research work at Marquette university were voted this afternoon by the Milwaukee chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at a meeting in Mayor Bohn's office in the city hall.

The survey will be directed by Dr. Sidney D. Kramer, Lansing, Mich., Michigan state epidemiologist, who was recommended by the national foundation, which was unable to grant a request to send a member of its staff here because of prior requests.

Pamphlets to Tell Symptoms.

Dr. Eben J. Carey, dean of the university medical school, will be in charge of the research. Equipment to be used will cost about $3,000 and rhesus monkeys, to be used in research work, about the same amount.

It also was voted to distribute pamphlets, printed in nine languages, explaining symptoms of infantile paralysis. It will be written by members of the medical society of Milwaukee county.

Attending the conference were officials of the chapter, of which Thomas F. Millane is chairman; health commissioners and medical society members.

The quarantines have brought several decisions to cancel events and picnics scheduled for the Labor day week-end. Among them are the Cubberee and all Boy Scout activities. Cancellation or postponement of others was made yesterday.

SCHOOLS OPEN DESPITE POLIO, SAYS BUNDESEN

One new case of infantile paralysis was reported to the Chicago board of health in the 24 hour period ended at 9 a. m. yesterday, bringing the total this year to 74, with two deaths. A year ago, 330 cases and 34 deaths had been reported to Aug. 30, and 13 cases and one death were recorded in the 24 hours ending at 9 a. m. that day.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said the cases reported this year are milder. He said he did not anticipate delay in opening schools.

Three new cases were reported from suburban areas of Cook county—two in Evanston, one in Park Ridge—raising the county total to 33, said Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health director.

Mrs. Hughlette A. Glover, 47, of 222 Lakewood pl., Highland Park, died of infantile paralysis. Her death was the first caused by the disease this year in Lake county.

The state health department said 38 cases were reported in Illinois in the week ended Monday, increasing the total for the year to 193. There were 450 a year ago.

ADDRESS A B 185, TRIBUNE

WARNS HILLMAN MAY BE BOSS OF RECONVERSION

Called a Plot to Impose Economic Dictatorship.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—The house was warned today that the New Deal high command may choose Sidney Hillman, head of the Communist dominated CIO political action committee, to head post-war reconversion, in a move to foist economic "dictatorship and a permanent WPA on the nation."

Sidney Hillman.

The warning was sounded by Rep. Simpson [R., Pa.] during house debate on a bill to create an office of reconversion and help the states finance compensation payments to jobless workers.

Simpson charged that Hillman, who he said seeks to control the Democratic party, engineered the defeat of War Mobilization Director Byrnes for Democratic Vice Presidential candidate at Chicago. Similarly, the congressman said, the PAC leader can have Byrnes ousted as the administration economic czar.

Recalls Chicago Activities.

"What Sidney Hillman did in Chicago he can do in Washington," said Simpson, who also suggested that Vice President Wallace might get the reconversion job if Hillman chose to continue his present campaign to remake America as head of the PAC.

Meanwhile, Hillman figured in another floor discussion in which Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.] joined with the Republicans in denouncing the PAC head. Rankin called upon both major political parties, including the two Presidential candidates, to "repudiate" Hillman and the "communistic, fascistic machine he is trying to build up."

Simpson charged that President Roosevelt, in creating the OWM, which Byrnes heads, established without authority from congress an agency with "life and death powers over every and any American business and worker."

Fears Byrnes' Removal.

Now, he added, the President has belatedly tried to "cover up" his disregard for government by law by having the OWM sanctioned by statute and continued as the office of reconversion. If this is done, he warned, Byrnes may be removed in favor of a New Deal radical such as Hillman or Wallace.

"Byrnes may be fired when this bill becomes law," Simpson said. "Should Sidney Hillman so order, Byrnes would follow Nelson and Wallace on a one way journey to China."

Rankin's denunciation of Hillman came after another Democrat, Rep. Celler [N. Y.] took the floor to praise Hillman. Celler asserted Gov. Dewey "accepted" $5,000 from Hillman's CIO union while running for district attorney in New York in 1937, and added it is "different when one is on the receiving end."

Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.], retorting that Dewey's campaign managers might have accepted the money, but not Dewey personally, declared "Hillman is the greatest single asset the Republican party has in this campaign."

Rankin echoed this view, remarking that Hillman is now the Republicans' "secret weapon," just as Wendell Willkie was the Democrats' in 1940.

General debate on the reconversion bill closed today and the measure will be open for amendments tomorrow.

Wins Divorce

Mrs. Marietta Scott with her daughter, Bobetta.

Mrs. Marietta Scott, 22, of 1822 Byron st., a former model, told Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court yesterday that her husband, Robert, 25, a photographer, became angry and struck her when she refused his proposition that she visit him as a "week-end wife" in the La Salle hotel, where he lives.

Robert Scott.

Atty. Harry X. Cole, representing Mrs. Scott, said Scott proposed that she stay at her home with their child during the week and join him downtown on week-ends. Judge Sbarbaro granted her a divorce on a ground of cruelty. She was given custody of her daughter, Bobetta, 3, and $20 a week support.

On July 28 Scott went to his wife's home while she waited for him in the loop to keep a luncheon date, and took their daughter to his relatives in Minneapolis, Minn. Mrs. Scott obtained a court order compelling him to return the child to her. He may see Bobetta once a week, under the terms of the divorce decree. The Scotts were married on Oct. 20, 1939.

PAC FUND DRIVE BY LEVIN DRAWS FIRE OF WALLER

Ald. Waller [43d] yesterday criticized Sam Levin, school board member, for the latter's activity in soliciting donations from 13 Chicago clothing manufacturers whom Levin admits he "invited to contribute" to a branch of the CIO's political action committee now seeking to assess America's workers for a multi-million dollar slush fund to win a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

By his conduct, Waller asserted, Levin has "demonstrated his unfitness" to continue on the board of education, whose members Waller declared "should be a million miles from anything that smacks of racketeering."

Levin, who is Sidney Hillman's chief lieutenant in Chicago and manager of the joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America [CIO] which Hillman heads as national president, invited the manufacturers to a secret meeting in the Palmer House Aug. 11.

Chicken Dinner Comes First.

After feeding them broiled chicken, Levin frankly admits he sought their financial assistance "to keep that far sighted man in the White House." The manufacturers, all employers of CIO labor, are said to have "kicked in" from $500 to $200 each, after Levin is reported to have declined "little $100 gifts."

Some of the contributions from those "paying guests," who now refer to the meeting as "that $200 luncheon," are reported to have been inspired by the fear that unless they "kicked in" as requested they might have to close their plants already undermanned by a shortage of garment workers almost wholly under control of the CIO here.

In declaring that if the city council had the power to impeach him, he would move for Levin's removal from office, Waller excoriated the CIO chieftain for conduct which he said was "unethical, to say the least."

Termed Abuse of Powers.

"The man who holds an office in a labor union has power over the members of that union," Waller said. "For him to solicit political contributions from them is to abuse his powers and is obtaining money by coercion.

"I consider such conduct unethical, to say the least, and I believe that if the facts as stated in this morning's TRIBUNE are correct, that it proves that Sam Levin has demonstrated his unfitness to be on the school board. Members of that board should abstain from active political work and should be a million miles away from anything that smacks of racketeering."

HUSBAND WHO SLEW WIFE IS SENTENCED AS TRUNK MURDERER

Soylo Villegas, worker who last April 26, shipped the body of his wife, Louise, 24, to Los Angeles, Cal., in a trunk, yesterday was sentenced to 20 years in prison by Acting Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court. Villegas, charged with murder, waived a jury and evidence was heard by Judge Ward. The defendant's attorney, Samuel Hoffman, urged a reduction of the charge to manslaughter, but was opposed by Asst. State's Atty. Gordon Nash, who termed the slaying of Mrs. Villegas murder in the first degree. Villegas testified that his wife's death had been a "misadventure" that resulted from his striking her with his first. He had shipped her body, he said, because he had been panic stricken.

An URGENT PLEA to the PUBLIC

In the interest of your own comfort and convenience, Greyhound asks you not to travel during the Labor Day holiday

HUNDREDS OF BUSES THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY ARE TEMPORARILY OUT OF SERVICE DUE TO LACK OF TIRES.

Ordinarily, Greyhound meets the Labor Day rush by putting extra buses in service. This coming holiday, however, we are compelled to take buses out of service.

In the past few weeks, it has been necessary to call hundreds of buses off the road because there are no tires to keep them running.

This situation, caused by military needs for heavy duty tires and a shortage of manpower in tire plants, creates the greatest emergency the bus lines have experienced since the war began. And your help is needed in meeting this crisis. Even if your proposed Labor Day trip is highly essential, postpone it a few days if you possibly can. And if you must go, do so prepared for possible delays and unavoidable crowding.

Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to serve you. But above all, we don't want you to be disappointed. We know we can count on you to understand and to cooperate as you always have done.

We feel quite sure that it won't be long until all our buses will be back in service. With a proud war record behind them and a big war job of transporting manpower still ahead, America's buses must be kept rolling!

Smart New Lounging Costume

Designer Combines Breezy Lines with Dashing Contrasts for Youth

BY REA SEEGER.

Claire McCardell, designer extraordinary for youth, has succeeded in accomplishing with line, color, and material what couldn't be managed with hoots of derision. She has completely sold the college girl on the importance of being sleek, trim, smart, and, incidentally, individual, without looking anything other than young and fresh and alive. All the clothes with a Claire McCardell label have the breezy lines, the alert color combination, and the dashing contrasts that only this designer can so deftly transfer to actual fabrics.

New daytime dresses have a crisp, buoyant spirit, and date sloppy outfits in such a way as to cause the impressionable junior miss to shudder. Wrap-around dresses are a specialty in butter smooth gabardine, and the McCardell wrap-around motif is unlike the dreary, utilitarian house apron or uniform. Stitching in rows and color contrast is another signature. Then there are good looking jumper dresses in wool, velveteen, and corduroy, and slacks and lounging outfits, all smart, young, fitted, and sleek.

Blouses of cotton in gay, solid colors double for wear with suits or slack-jacket outfits. Cape suits, long sleeved wool shirts or blouses, wool jackets lined with cotton, and the McCardell way of matching hosiery for each costume endear such fashions to American girls. These fashions fittingly glorify the young crowd from 14 to 20.

BY JUDITH CASS.

AMONG the many young women making plans for debut parties at Christmas time is Miss Helen Rodger, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter Rodger of Winnetka, whose name is a recent addition to the debutante list. Miss Rodger, a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school, will return to Finch Junior college this fall for her second year. She has one sister, Jeanne, who was married two years ago to John Crandall Lane.

Miss Carol Halstead, the debutante aged daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Halstead Jr., is waiting until Christmas before making any plans for a debut party. Miss Halstead, who was graduated from the Girls' Latin school in June, will enter Michigan State college at East Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.

When Miss Nancy Buell completes her studies at the school of language in Middlebury, Vt., where she has been spending the summer, she will go to Cape Cod for a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Wilbur Cook, before returning to Smith college for her junior year. Miss Buell, the Charles C. Buells' daughter, has been too busy this summer to make any definite debut plans, but probably will have a small party when she returns home for the Christmas holidays.

Altho the name of Miss Camille McDonald is on the season's list of debutantes, the John G. McDonalds' daughter has made no definite plans for a party this fall, but may have a small party at Christmas time or in the spring.

On the Calendar.

Miss McDonald, who has been awarded a scholarship to Smith, is among the 35 young women entering Smith next month who have been invited by the boards of directors of the Chicago and North Shore Smith clubs to a tea at 3:30 p. m. today at the University club. Welcoming the new students and undergraduates from the Chicago area will be Mrs. Joseph O. Hanson, president of the Chicago club; Mrs. Edgar Corry, who heads the North Shore group, and Mrs. Herbert H. Riddle, chairman of arrangements.

The Chicago club awarded its 1944 scholarship to Miss Anne Badger, daughter of Mrs. Winterbotham Badger. Miss Badger attended the Sandia school and was graduated from the Francis W. Parker school, making such an outstanding record that a scholarship to Bryn Mawr also was offered to her. Another scholarship winner, Miss Margery Cobb of River Forest, and the Misses Margaret Pargellis, Peggy Hill, Nancy Dick, Margaret Knight, Jacqueline Sherman, Anne Schmidt, Winston Holliday, Marguerite Norris, Joan Corlett, Molly Sprague, and Shirley Chamberlain are others entering Smith.

Wedding News.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Jean Rose Harvey and Walter Ray Hepner Jr. at 8:30 p. m. Sept. 8 in Bond chapel at the University of Chicago, and for the reception to follow in the home of the bride's parents, the James D. Harveys. Miss Harvey will have her sister, Louise, as maid of honor, and another sister, Rhea, as flower girl. A third sister, Joan, already has left for her classes at Pomona college in California. Also in the bridal party will be Miss Ginevra Lorish, Miss Edith Jackson, Miss Helen Elizabeth Wallace, Miss Jane Leonard, Miss Alice Utley, and Miss Betty Lou Simson.

The bride's uncle, the Rev. Howard Blake of Columbus, O., will come from Mackinac Island, Mich., to perform the ceremony. Also here will be the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Orville P. Blake of Columbus, formerly of Winnetka, and another uncle, Dr. Eugene Blake of Pasadena, Cal. Mrs. Hepner Sr. has arrived from San Diego, Cal., and will give the bridal dinner next Thursday in the Windermere East hotel, but Dr. Hepner will not be able to get away from his duties as president of San Diego State college.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	Double	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: King of spades.

Mr. Webster's artistic efforts to the contrary, notwithstanding, it is not always a virtue to leave in partner's penalty double. While it is elementary that one must understand partner's intentions and not confuse a double for a take-out with one intended to pay current taxes, nevertheless when partner's intentions are ascertained it does not follow that we are obliged to adhere slavishly to his dictates. Partner's desires may have been based on insufficient data, and you may be in possession of facts which he could not possibly know. It is your duty therefore to act in the best interests of the partnership, regardless of partner's plans.

Today's hand was subjected to a great variety of treatment in an important tournament. East in all cases opened with one heart. The bidding shown here took place at one table and resulted in a set of 100 points, the season's outstanding bargain for East and West, inasmuch as five spades could have been made by North and South without the slightest wear and tear on the cranium.

South contended that North should have made a voluntary bid of four spades after the four heart bid. That is somewhat doubtful. But I think there is not much doubt that North should have bid four spades after South's double for four hearts. True, the second double is for penalties, but North should realize that the double is made on side cards rather than heart strength which makes a successful contract of four spades highly probable. There is the further risk that if South's double is of only moderate strength a four heart contract might be fulfilled.

At one table South avoided this pitfall by making an immediate cue bid in hearts, which I believe to be the best procedure, albeit a white lie concerning the situation is involved. With a hand this strong South should insist upon a game contract and the immediate signal might as well be flashed to avoid any possible future misunderstanding.

Tomorrow's Problem.

As North you hold:
♠ 7 4 ♥ 6 3 ♦ K Q 8 6 5 2 ♣ 9 5 4
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	?

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Tom is not doing well this year in school," said a mother. "It's strange, too, because before this he has had very good marks in all of his studies. When his father talked to him about it he gave as his reason that he was too tired. . . ."

Today's suggestion is that you scrutinize your child's physical condition if his work is below par. Perhaps there is the root of the trouble.

If you're any observer at all of yourself as a "whole" person, you know that on your physical condition depends a great deal your sweet disposition, your joy in life, and your efficiency. The same holds true of your child, both at home and in the schoolroom.

If he's definitely not well he can't work well in school. If he's generally below par he has little zest or interest for his lessons.

If school work—or behavior, for that matter—is not going well, then look into your child's physical condition.

First, a general examination by a good physician [or, if you can't afford a private doctor, go to a clinic for children] may uncover some condition that definitely needs treatment. Or it may be that tonsils and adenoids are in such a state that they should be removed. Here I want to stop a moment to warn you not to have this done unless it is absolutely necessary. Healthy tonsils have a function to perform in the body and there is no such wholesale removal advocated now as there was at one time.

Second, a health examination may reveal only a general low state of vitality. I say "only," but that is important. Being chronically below a maximum of vitality means that a child cannot work or play to his full capacity. And it also means that his resistance to disease is lowered.

Your doctor will have his advice to give you. But I want to offer mine—which may or may not duplicate his. If you are trying to raise your child's general physical tone [and this applies to all ages of boys and girls] these are essential:

Plenty of sleep at night. And, by hook or crook, a rest period or two during the day.

Well balanced, well cooked meals. Plenty of milk, if possible.

Mrs. Howard A., Chicago.—I make it a rule never to press woolens till they are bone dry. As soon as the steam ceases to rise from the pressing cloth I stop—and let the drying continue naturally, on a hanger. This is good insurance against scorching and also keeps alive the natural texture of the woolens.

Minnie S., Gary, Ind.—Here's how I have enlarged rubber nipple holes when necessary—without overdoing it and getting the holes too large: I slip the point of a needle into the nipple hole. Then I heat the eye end of the needle, and as soon as it reaches the "glow" point I pull the needle thru. In this way I can enlarge the hole just enough to make it satisfactory.

L. H. B., Bloomington, Wis.—If you have a stubborn glass stopper in a bottle, dip a cloth in hot water, wrap around the bottle neck, and the stopper will come out easily.

Mrs. Harold S., Waterloo, Ia.—I keep an old insect spray to apply liquid wax to my floors. It saves a little on wax used, and makes the work of application easy.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

The experienced woman volunteers in various corps of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, who had been awaiting calls to duty at Vaughan General hospital, Hines, now are at that institution helping to care for wounded men and to handle Red Cross office details.

Six Hinsdale volunteers of the Gray Lady [hospital and recreation] corps are performing many services for convalescent veterans of the Normandy campaign, writing their letters, running errands, reading to the men, and seeing to their recreation in small but appreciated ways. Miss Gladys Cable is senior Gray Lady at Vaughan, with Mrs. John Allbright, Mrs. William Kimball, Mrs. D. L. Kroehler, Mrs. Ross S. McKinstry, and Mrs. William Singer completing the staff.

Red Cross dietitians' aids also are on duty at the hospital. Mrs. William Crost, senior aid at Hines hospital, also is head of the aids at Vaughan: Mrs. Virginia F. Fox, Miss Marguerite Buenger, Mrs. Regina Joppa, Mrs. Edward Graham, Mrs. Catherine S. Eischen, Mrs. A. W. Olson, Mrs. Charles Green, Mrs. R. M. Graham, Mrs. Wilma Kelly, and Mrs. Elizabeth Orth.

In the office of Miss Dena Sudow, Red Cross field director at the institution, are several staff assistants handling the clerical details. Mrs. Benjamin Miles of Riverside is senior assistant. Working with her are Mrs. E. J. Elting, Mrs. E. W. Clements, and Mrs. B. B. Brown, all of Riverside, and Mrs. William H. Hayes and Mrs. Henry Harriman, both of Elmhurst.

Long before Vaughan began receiving wounded men, Brig. Gen. Percy J. Carroll, commanding officer, asked for the services of a number of Red Cross nurses' aids, many of whom are awaiting his call, as are members of the arts and skills corps, who will supervise patients' handicraft.

A new training course for daytime nurses' aids will open next Wednesday at Red Cross chapter headquarters, 529 S. Wabash av., Wabash 7850. The 85 hours of instruction will be compressed into seven weeks, so urgent is the need for daytime aids to serve in both military and civilian hospitals.

Forty hours of the course will be devoted to lectures and demonstrations and 45 hours to supervised practice in hospital wards. A registered nurse will teach the course, a prerequisite for which is the 20 hour standard Red Cross first aid course.

Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, Chicago chairman of volunteer nurses' aids, urges all women with free daytime hours to sign up for the training.

Mrs. Clark Lawrence, chairman of the arts and skills corps, reports that recruits for that volunteer service are in special demand now at military hospitals. Artists and craftsmen who have spare time are asked to meet with the admissions committee at the Art institute any Wednesday between 4 p. m. and 5 p. m., and to bring samples of their work.

Persons qualifying will take a brief indoctrination course to familiarize them with hospital routine, after which they will begin teaching activities immediately, volunteering for whatever time they have to give. The arts and skills corps is the newest of the Red Cross volunteer services and is playing an important part in the rehabilitation of convalescent service men.

MARSHAL SHOT

"Baroni looks like a cutworm," Carol told Lita. "I wish we didn't have to have him around."

Carol forgot Baroni when Papagol brought them their meager late afternoon meal. The thought of Mme. Victorine and of Papa Brochard had been preying on her mind, and earlier in the day she asked the old clown to inquire about them. The moment Papagol appeared, her eyes questioned his anxiously, but the old man shook his head.

"I have been able to learn something," he said, "and I dared not ask too much. However, Mme. Victorine always comes here when we do. If she is safe, we may see her yet."

The girls had to be satisfied with that and Carol especially, settled down to a period of anxious waiting. Would Bright appear himself or send a messenger of some sort? And how soon could she expect to hear from him? The wagon grew stuffy and confining, and the two sisters lay on their bunks hardly speaking.

Finally Lita aroused herself and began to put on her make-up and the pathetically shabby costume with its tarnished spangles. She took her time about it, for as star performer her act came on toward the end of the show.

Outside, the audience was already arriving, an audience composed almost entirely of soldiers, German for the most part with a scattering of Italian uniforms and a few furtive looking civilians whose loyalty to their favorite performers outweighed their hatred of being seated beside the enemy. Evidently the circus was not yet verboten to the populace here as it was in Paris.

Carol watched the crowd shuffling into the big tent, scanning it for a familiar face until Lita drew her away.

"That's not smart, Carol!" she said. "Remember you promised to be careful!"

"Then I'll go out thru the tunnel and stand in the entrance to the ring." Carol was driven by a force she could not resist. "Nobody will see me there in the darkness behind the canvas flaps. And I've got to see if he is in the audience."

The stained and odorous folds of the loose canvas which formed the little foyer where performers waited their cue made an excellent observation post from which Carol could see the interior of the circus tent. The civilians had been relegated to the top rows of seats and the rest were already filled by soldiers, all except a few choice places at the ringside which had been roped off and were still unoccupied. Jessant, clad in a scarlet, gold braided coat that had once been the bandmaster's, baggy trousers, and a battered silk hat, was already in the ring, whip in hand.

Carol's eyes went swiftly from face to face without locating the one she wanted. It was impossible to tell about the people across the ring, they were too far away. Perhaps he was there. She could not be sure he was not. And neither could she tear herself away until she knew.

The show, such as it was, had begun in earnest now. The band blared out anew and from the outer darkness behind her the old mule swept past, Papagol and the professor on his back, their buffoons' clothes bellying in the air, their faces grotesque masks of white and red. The crowd roared at their antics. Then came La Belle Sauvage and the parakeets from Le Bastion.

The pitiful acts followed one by one, and the tragi-comedy of them held Carol enthralled. The camel, led in by Papagol, went thru a simple and clumsy routine under the harmless crack of Jessant's whip. And then, just as the ungainly beast was making its exit to a mild smattering of applause, a diversion was caused by the entrance of a small group of officers.

Ushered in obsequiously by the gate keeper they made their way to the reserved section at the ringside, and as they took their places the bright lights were full on them. There could be no mistake. The man in the center was Marshal Karl Herman Janner, and with him were Von Kirch, Bachmann, and several other officers whom Carol had not seen before.

The soldiers in the audience who had risen to a man on Janner's appearance sat down as soon as he was seated. Janner raised one hand to signify that the show was to go on, and the three musicians broke into a wild tumult of sound. Then the acrobats bounded past Carol and out into the ring. The music labored into a waltz and they began their act.

It was a good act, Carol had to admit. Baroni did well and no one would have suspected he was a newcomer to the troupe. The officers in the front row watched approvingly and even applauded now and then at some particularly difficult feat. Janner and his friends appeared to have dined well and were in a good mood.

Then it happened. Baroni, in the center, slipped his hand into his satin trunks as he bowed and when he stood erect Carol could see the gun. There was a shot and Janner fell back into the arms of his friends, his hand over his heart, dark blood staining his fingers. Von Kirch's voice could be heard shouting above the sudden clamor.

"They have killed him! The pig-dogs have killed him!"

After one static moment of paralyzing astonishment the whole arena fell into the wildest sort of confusion. The spot where Janner's body lay was completely obscured by an agitated group of officers and military police. Baroni and the other acrobats were instantly engulfed by uniformed men and a commanding voice was shouting an order.

"Nobody is to leave this tent! Everybody present is under arrest!"

Carol could not have left at that moment if she had wanted to. Held by a sort of impersonal fascination she leaned against one of the iron stanchions which supported the entrance curtain, unable to move. Some men on the far side of the ring were carrying the body out now but she could not see this very clearly. The maps! She had to get them to safety! Was Bright out there in the audience which was being held? Would he be caught in the net which was being spread? If so, what on earth was she to do about meeting the sub? She must get away, they could not arrest her—it just must not happen! And Lita! Perhaps there was still time to warn her.

She could move now, and she turned and ran toward the exit thru which she had come and had all but entered the canvas tunnel when she saw that guards had already been posted outside and officers were organizing matters. Carol could hear the sentries snap to attention.

"The important people have been taken," a colonel was saying. "No need to keep these guards here—let them patrol the grounds instead. That is sufficient, lieutenant."

Science has made fine fabrics from milk and soybeans; now peanuts have been turned to the same use. These materials are all said to be superior to woolens in many ways. After the war we'll be wearing our food as well as eating it.

Several women have asked me if it wouldn't be advisable to cook our utility cuts of beef in a pressure cooker in order to tenderize them. Meat authorities aren't very enthusiastic about cooking meats in this way. Pressure cooking drains all the juices out of the meat tissues, leaving the meat itself flavorless. It's better to braise beef for three or four hours, if necessary, over low heat.

These low grades of beef will be fine for soups and stews, pot roasts and meat pies. But we wouldn't dare broil or dry roast any of the nonrationed beef cuts. We'd succeed only in drying it out and making it tougher. Long, slow, moist heat will make such meat tender in time. There's plenty of flavor there, too.

If your jelly ferments it may be because it was improperly sealed. Pour a layer of paraffin, a thin one, over the jelly while it is still hot, and add another layer later, after the first paraffin coat hardens. Rotate glass so that paraffin reaches all the edges. Do not pour it more than ¼ inch thick at the most. A layer about three-sixteenths inch thru is better. All jelly glasses should be capped as well as paraffined, so that dust is kept out. For jelly glasses without their own covers, use waxed paper, tied on with string.

Jellies made with pectin preparations are much more likely to ferment than those made without. Sufficient water remains in many pectin made jellies to support fermentation.

It's good practice to use canned foods within a year. They may not spoil in more than that time, but they may deteriorate in quality. If you have vegetables from last year's war garden still on the shelf, you'd better run them in between servings of fresh garden vegetables.

A bulletin from the Fish and Wildlife service urges consumption of frozen mackerel which is available now in unusual quantities. The catch this year is unusually large and storage facilities for the frozen fish are inadequate. Mackerel is one of the finest of food fishes. Market sizes are from ½ to 2½ pounds. Whole mackerel usually are stuffed and baked, or may be split and broiled. Some of the mackerel comes filleted, ready for broiling.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Fresh Peach Tapioca Pudding.
[Serves six.]

- ⅓ cup sugar
- ⅓ cup quick cooking tapioca

- ½ cup whipping cream

Combine milk, sugar, tapioca, salt, and beaten egg yolks. Add four of the peaches which have been peeled and diced. Cook in top of double boiler for about 10 minutes or until tapioca is clear. Make a Note of It.

It saves time, tempers, and embarrassment if the important or unimportant telephone message is committed to paper and placed on the proper desk, if the memo to make hotel reservations is in black and white and not in the head, if the request to look up a letter is written down and not trusted to memory. Memories are tricky things, but paper and pencil are practically foolproof. Write it down and feel smug about it.

Some folks think it's child play
To run a switchboard all the day;
Tho there are times when it is fun,
Other days, you'd like to run!

People calling far and near.
"Get my number, right away."
"You know I can't wait all day!"

"One moment please," "Thank you, Sir."
It never really does occur
To some folks that you're human, too,
And you get as tired as they do!

"Perhaps you and your WCG could help me plan a farewell party for two couples who are returning to New York after having worked in Chicago for two years. They have been so unhappy being away from the east, and nobody could sell them the idea of liking Chicago. I should like to give them a nice party and some inexpensive farewell gifts to give them a pleasant memory of our city." —ANON.

Exploitation Representative.

The star-studded young woman who bears this title is Virginia Seguin of Twentieth Century-Fox's Chicago office, the only woman holding such a publicity position in that organization. The company has always had a man in this post, but Virginia, who started as an assistant in the publicity department a year and a half ago, fits the job perfectly and it fits her.

As attractive as the stars she meets and escorts about Chicago when they come thru town, she gets a thrill out of seeing them in person and loves having lunch with them or guiding them on shopping tours. But take it from her, there is more to the job than frills and thrills. It is up to her to create interest in forthcoming movies, and she has a wealth of enthusiasm for her work and for people.

Mrs. Seguin naturally gravitated toward publicity work when her husband, who had been in the business, went into the army. She thinks the publicity field holds wonderful opportunities for women but is practically unexplored by them. "It's a natural for them," she says, "and if a girl wants to, she can make a real success of the work." She believes, too, that secretarial work is the best starting point in this or almost any field open to women. —LOUISE DOOLEY.

Mental Union Marital Need, Catholics Told

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

An exchange of billets doux between husband and wife, altho they meet daily in the home, was among the devices proposed yesterday by the Rev. Edward Dowling to promote "Mental Compatibility in Marriage," his topic before the Summer School of Catholic Action at the Morrison hotel.

Basing his address on the encyclical of Pope Pius XI. on Christian marriage, Father Dowling stressed that mutual devotion to Christ is a greater defense, even than children, against mental alienation, and that conjugal love must have as its primary purpose the mutual blending of the interior and exterior lives if it is to attain perfection.

On the dynamics of mental union, Father Dowling described the wife as "leader or aggressor." He explained that the cultivation of the inner life mutually is the surest safeguard against two concealed hazards to marriage — discouragement and fatigue. These occur in the soul of the man and the body of the woman, he said. Fatigue, he added, is the discouragement of the body, and discouragement is fatigue of the soul.

Father Dowling recommended among joint spiritual activities nightly nonvocal prayer, and suggested letter writing as a joint mental activity where the content of the letters gradually deepened from "things" to "thoughts."

When couples are absent from each other, what the writer is doing and thinking carries the highest appeal, Father Dowling stated; but for notes exchanged within the home what the writer expressed about the other partner in matrimony would be the acme of conjugal correspondence.

Sally Seeks Help in Filling Needs of Three Families

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Miss S. is well past middle age and in poor health, but is endeavoring to care for her father, confined to bed with an incurable ailment. It is necessary to have a good deal of clean linen, and because there are no laundry facilities all of the heavy laundry work must be done by hand. Additional bedding is needed, and, if possible, a washing machine would be of immeasurable help to her. The address is on the northwest side.

Mrs. B. is the widowed mother of several children. She receives support from a relief agency which does not provide for many of her needs. She has appealed to us for help in obtaining bedding, blankets, and crib sheets. There are no funds for amusements of any kind, and Mrs. B. would be deeply grateful for a phonograph or a radio.

Mrs. G. has three children and is expecting another. If any reader can provide clothing for girls 11, 9, and 3, as well as a layette for the expected infant, she would be thankful. The address is on the south side, and offers from that general vicinity could be handled easiest.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 30.—Sam Zimbalist does "The Green Years," A. J. Cronin's story which is running in a magazine. It's about an Irish boy whose parents die, and who is sent to Scotland to live with his mother's cheap and grasping family. His only chance for advancement is thru his rascally great-grandfather. The boy will be played by Skippy Homeier. Zimbalist's latest was "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," which I'm told is really something. . . . Latest report from Sam Wood's "Jubal Troop" front is that if Humphrey Bogart can't play it, Gregory Peck will, which means he'll do love scenes with Claudette Colbert—which will make Sonny Tufts mad, 'cause he wants to. . . . Stan Griffis keeps on trying—who can blame him? He's still hoping to persuade Joan Fontaine to change her name to Mrs. Stan Griffis. . . . "It's a pleasure" to report that Sonja Henie talks only to Don Loper and David Lewis talks only to himself.

A Sample of British Understatement.

An army captain just arrived from England called Merle Oberon to give her late news of Alex Korda. He said Alex was infuriated with bombs—they are holding up his picture, "which delays his trip to America to see you." Then he added, "O! They're so aggravating." . . . Claude Rains went over to England for six months to do "Antony and Vivien Leigh. Claude Rains. Merle Oberon.

Cleopatra." Now his six months has stretched on, owing to the fact that Vivien Leigh [Cleopatra] is having a baby. That and the buzz bombs are holding him up, which means that he is to pay income tax not only there but in America. Where his next crumb of bread will come from has him worried. . . . Phyllis Astaire is mighty worried about Fred and the buzz bombs.

Dick Greene's Still on the Beam.

Richard Greene cabled Twentieth Century he's had a medical discharge from the British army, but won't be coming back 'til it's over over there. He and wife, Pat Medina, have taken G. B. Shaw's "Arms and the Man" on a camp tour of France. Dick was with the 27th Lancers two and a half years. . . . Frank Craven celebrates his 60th year on the stage Friday. He made his debut with his parents in "Silver King," and he's still going strong. . . . While watching a newsreel, Joyce Reynolds saw the D. S. O. being pinned on Lincoln Okida for distinguished service in Italy. He's Japanese. They attended same class at U. C. L. A. . . . William A. Seiter, who directed Gypsy Rose Lee in "Belle of the Yukon," is being borrowed by Paramount for "Affairs of Susan." Paramount couldn't get a better guy.

An Old Custom and Still Good.

Rosario and Antonio, dancers, claim it's an old Spanish custom that they be paid in cash, not by check. It's also safer. Sarah Bernhardt indulged in that years ago, only she was paid in gold and BEFORE each performance . . . Orry Kelly doesn't give a hoot about Paris fashions. He's concerned with his own. He's opening a place next to Larue's on Sunset strip, and will soon be dressing our ten outstanding women. You name them . . . Jack Carson is to visit his folks in Milwaukee, and hopes to be met by a brass band . . . Lunching at George Cukor's the other Sunday were five stars—Ingrid Bergman, Tallulah Bankhead, Katharine Hepburn, Greta Garbo, and Paulette Goddard. At the table also was George's script girl. When she left, she turned to her host and said, "Thank you so much. I can't tell you how thrilled I was to meet Connie." Connie is a mongrel mutt, the pet of the household.

Please Don't Crowd, Girls.

Alfred Hitchcock's lonely. His wife and daughter Pat are en route to Broadway where Pat starts rehearsing the play "Violet." Pat has real talent. Her father has always given her a free hand. He thinks that's what fathers are for. . . . When Sol Lesser announced he'd do "Civilian Clothes," Arlene Griffith, who originated the leading role in that in 1919, got him on the phone and asked for an interview. Seems she married and retired after play's run. She's the sister-in-law of Director E. H. Griffith, but hasn't felt the urge to go on the screen. She'd like her old part back, tho . . . Eleanor Parker walked on air. Talked to her husband, Lt. Fred Losee, in the South Pacific Sunday . . . Joan Davis' "Wait for the Laugh"—a textbook on how to be funny—will be out this fall. Said her daughter, "Hope we won't have to wait for food till you sell it."

On the Record

By Claudia Cassidy

The Picturesque Parker.

Perhaps you like to have people read poetry to you, with expression. Even on records.

Ilka Chase.

About the only one I can take in this vein is Edna St. Vincent Millay, in the bewitched album that captures the magic of "The Harp Weaver" just as some ancient bard must have brought the music of his mind alive on his lips.

But maybe you are more broad minded. If so, Ilka Chase may be your dish, embarked on a batch of Dorothy Parker poems and the rueful "Sentiment," from the book of short stories, "Here Lies" [Victor M-971; two 12-inch records]. To me, Miss Chase is a combination of Gracie Allen turned hoarse and Cornelia Otis Skinner gone dramatic, and I would give a pretty to hear Miss Parker's private, unexpurgated opinion of the whole business.

Bach for Two.

Delving into the bin of older albums, Victor comes up with a reissue of Bach's Double Concerto in D minor, played by Yehudi Menuhin and his teacher, Georges Enesco, with Pierre Monteux conducting [M-932; two 12-inch records]. This is a discreet, often beautiful recording of a lovely work, expertly engineered. It lacks the authoritative stamp of perfection that leaves no doubt, and probably will revive the argument about its merits in comparison with the Szigeti-Flesch set. When the record impasse is ended, a definitive recording may settle things.

Victor Singles.

Pick of the pack is Sergei Rachmaninoff's masterly playing of his own arrangement of the Bach Partita No. 3 for solo violin. This is a dazzling example of the Russian's command of the pianistic idiom, and a clear recording mirrors the limpid brilliance of remarkable performance.

Mozart comes off well, too, in a 10-inch record which captures the velvet skill of Ezio Pinza's "Se vuol ballare," from "The Marriage of Figaro," and teams his beautiful voice with Elisabeth Rethberg's creamy soprano in the first act duet, "Bei männern, welche liebe fühlen," from "The Magic Flute."

Remember "Batuque," the Fernandez jungle piece Efrem Kurtz played at Ravinia? Hans Kindler and the National Symphony have recorded it, with Mary Howe's "Stars" on the other side. "Stars" sounds a bit like "La Mer" arranged for a movie sound track. . . . The Indianapolis Symphony, Fabien Sevitzky conducting, has recorded Strauss' "Voices of Spring" and a Weber waltz, arranged by Dubensky. . . . E. Power Biggs and the Fiedler Sinfonietta have an expert 10-inch holding a Corelli Sonata in F for organ and strings. . . . John Charles Thomas is singing operetta again, Frank Tours conducting. One side has "Once to Every Heart," from "Blossom Time," the other concentrates on "Song in My Heart," from "The Chocolate Soldier."

Thru the Looking Glass

It's been astonishing to the women who are dispensing with dark nail polish for one reason or another these days how much of grime, in addition to other sins, that deep lacquer coat had been concealing. With nails coated from rim to cuticle, they hadn't seen the gray grime that gathered under the nail tip. Now, polishless, it's exposed and it shocks them.

If you do without polish you must keep your finger tips more immaculate than you ever did before. This means more frequent hand washing. It also means cleaning beneath the nail tip with an orange wood stick or a little brush every time you cleanse the hands.

This poses a nice problem. For the sake of nail health and beauty you must never, never dig beneath the nail tip, and must never use a sharply pointed instrument. This tears the skin and roughens the undersurface of the nail, which will then gather even more than its usual quota of grime. You have to clean that area, but you must do it without pushing or probing hard. An orange wood stick wrapped in cotton is about the best instrument. Soaking the cotton with peroxide helps bleach the nail tip, too. Or, you can pack soap in gently and remove it with equal gentleness.

Some like nail white, some don't. If you use it, be sure you press it in gently and evenly and don't use too much. It's better to use none than to apply it carelessly.

Wearing dark polish steadily may stain the nails a little; when you first discard the lacquer you may be appalled at the dinginess of the uncovered nail, but don't be alarmed by it. The stain disappears in a short time, and frequent scrubbings and oilings hasten the process.

TAKE EXTRA CARE WHEN COOKING GRASS-FED BEEF

Much of the beef on the market for the next several months will not be the kind to which we Americans are accustomed. The choicest beef has always come from cattle that are corn-fattened in feed lots before going to market. Now, of wartime necessity, many cattle are being rushed to market direct from the grass range. That is why you may be hearing about—and getting—"grass-fed" beef. It will make good meat for you but it calls for different cooking methods to make it more palatable and tender.

Braised Chuck Pot Roast from Grass-Fed Beef

To braise meat: Wipe meat with damp cloth and season well with salt and pepper. Heat 2 tbsp. bacon drippings or lard in a heavy iron or aluminum kettle or roaster with tight fitting lid, and brown meat well on all sides. Spread top side with a thin layer of Wilson's B-V to give it a good meat flavor which is so often lacking in grass-fed beef; and sprinkle a quarter-inch layer of finely chopped (not ground) suet over the meat to help make it more juicy. Add ½ cup hot water, cover tightly and simmer (never boil) over low heat or put in a slow oven, 300° F., and cook until meat is tender. The time required will depend upon the thickness of the piece of meat and the age of the animal. A 2½ lb. roast, 1½ inch thick, from a young animal requires 2 hours. A larger roast or one from an older animal may require up to 4 hours.

More water may need to be added in small amounts from time to time as liquid evaporates. Just before serving, take meat from pan, remove suet and skim off excess fat before making gravy.

Clip Directions Here

GIVE IT A "LIFT"

You'll be pleased with the "lift" Wilson's B-V gives this grass-fed meat. If time permits, turn meat when cooking period is half through and spread B-V on the other side, too, transferring the suet to this side at the same time.

To Make Beef More Tender

When you get your first grass-fed beef, you'll miss the marbling of fat throughout the lean. The smooth outside covering of fat you used to see on beef from corn-fed cattle will be lacking. The lean, instead of having a fine grain, will look coarse. This means that all cuts of grass-fed beef need to be tenderized in the cooking.

Braising will do it; using an acid, such as tomatoes for the liquid also increases tenderness. Pounding or freezing the meat before cooking will help, too. And, of course, you'll be using much of this meat ground for patties, meat loaves and other dishes.

USE GRANDMOTHER'S TRICK

When buying a chunky piece of beef, ask your dealer to lard it (insert thin stripe of suet with a larding needle). This, too, will help make the meat more tender and juicy. While grass-fed beef is just as wholesome and nutritious as choicer meat, it does require moist heat, a longer cooking time, and the addition of fat to make it tender and juicy. Sincerely,
GEORGE RECTOR

Dealers View Action as 'Election Year Trick.'

The lifting of restrictions by the war production board on the sale of ammunition to hunters was termed a "fraud" and an "election year trick" yesterday by sporting goods dealers in the Chicago area.

A survey of all major dealers showed that not one has shotgun shells or other ammunition available for hunters and most of them haven't even had their orders accepted by shell manufacturers.

Called "Appeasement."

"Apparently the WPB hopes to appease a few hunters by telling them they can 'get shells without restriction at their dealers,'" one large wholesaler declared. "To lift the ammunition ban is only a fraudulent trick since, if anything, there are fewer shells this year than last."

The head of the sporting section of a large department store said at least several hundred hopeful customers had besieged his department yesterday and several hundred others had made telephone inquiries.

"What seems to be an election year trick may turn into a boomerang for the political hunters on the WPB," he said.

Fowl Damaging Crops.

The need for shells so that hunters can harvest the bumper game crop is demonstrated by the great number of calls received at sporting goods stores and the Tribune farm department from farmers complaining of crop destruction by wild fowl.

The manager of the Tribune farm near Wheaton said huge flocks of crows are stripping rows of corn and will threaten soy bean crops. It is impossible, he said, to drive off the birds without gunfire.

E. J. Whitehouse, head of a large supply house, said Nov. 1 is the earliest possible date that a new supply of shotgun shells will be available to hunters. This shipment will average less than 20 per cent of a normal supply, he said.

GIRL, 18, FOUND SLAIN IN LIVING ROOM OF HOME

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 30 (AP).—Police faced only the thinnest of clews today in the slaying of a Seattle girl in her home, the second such case here within two months.

Eighteen year old Frances Radecop, who was graduated from high school with scholastic and athletic honors, was found beaten to death in the living room of her home late yesterday. Her mother, Mrs. A. R. Radecop, discovered the body upon her return home at 6 p. m.

The autopsy surgeon said the girl was not raped. A neighbor said he saw a strange man approach the porch of the Radecop home in late afternoon, but did not see whether he entered.

SEA VOLUNTEERS CALLED BY U. S. TO HELP IN WAR

An appeal to former seamen and former officers for merchant marine duty to get urgently needed supplies to American troops abroad was issued yesterday by the war shipping administration, 844 Rush st. Many such trained mariners are scattered thruout the midwest, said Curtis C. Byrne, acting regional representative of the recruitment and manning organization of the WSA. Men with current federal communication commission radio telegraphers' licenses and men qualified as cook-bakers do not require previous sea experience. Transportation to the seaboard, standby wages and subsistence are offered volunteers.

Held as Prowler After Donning Sailor's Uniform

Adrian Box, 20, of the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 3039 E. 91st st., was being held last night by South Chicago police after his arrest yesterday morning while prowling a neighboring room occupied by Charles C. Art, a navy seaman on leave. Art told police he was awakened by the intruder and when he had overpowered him noticed he was wearing his navy uniform. Police said a watch belonging to the sailor was found in Box's room.

KUHN AND 25 GO ON FOOD STRIKE AT INTERN CAMP

Fort Stanton, N. M., Aug. 30 (AP).—Twenty-six internees, including Fritz Kuhn, former leader of the German-American bund, are on a hunger strike at the interment camp here, A. M. Tenny, department of justice officer in charge, said today.

Tenny said the strike sought "redress of some supposed mistreatment and the demands were unjustified and unreasonable." He said the strikers are in good physical condition and there is plenty of food for them.

A justice department spokesman in Washington, D. C., said the strikers are German civilians who were transferred to the camp because they had been trouble makers in segregation camps to which they formerly were assigned. He said the strike began Aug. 22 when eight new arrivals were housed in a recreation room until other quarters could be provided. Eighteen others objected to losing the use of the recreation room and to the other eight being sent to the camp.

The Stake of the United States in

With the war in Europe racing to a climax, and with a sure pattern for the defeat of Japan already outlined, American business is confronted with the need for an immediate decision on long-term economic policy.

What is this country's foreign trade program to be after the war?

No intelligent appraisal of all the factors any longer can allow us to postpone considering the issue merely because, in the past, foreign trade absorbed barely eight per cent of our production.

Actually, a whole new set of conditions was injected into the picture by the first World War; but we persisted in ignoring these new factors.

Almost overnight, the United States was transformed from the largest debtor nation in the world to the second largest creditor nation. At the same time, we made faster technological progress than any other nation. Thus we created the need for more dollar exchange on the part of the rest of the world and simultaneously made it harder for other nations to earn dollars.

Today, as another, far vaster war is approaching its end, those changed circumstances are magnified. America has new responsibilities—to itself, and to the world.

Our war-inflated industrial capacity cannot be allowed to drop back to prewar levels without causing a domestic crisis which we dare not permit.

And, because so much of the world is geared to the American industrial machine, we can no longer contemplate calmly the repercussions of a largely self-sufficient trade program or of an unplanned foreign trade program. Either would inevitably set the stage for the next world war.

If we are going to prepare ourselves intelligently to cope with this new problem, we must acknowledge certain basic principles.

World trade cannot be rebuilt simply by attempting to restore prewar flows of goods. The war has so completely changed the economic fiber of many countries that it is necessary to develop new trade relationships. The East Indies, for example, may find the demand for their rubber considerably reduced; the United States may, to a large extent, have to cease exporting cotton; Japan will need to find new substitutes for much of its exports of silk; the British will need new markets to replace the income which they formerly derived from their large overseas investments.

We cannot expand markets for our goods, at home or abroad, unless we find ways of buying more supplies from more people at home or abroad, so that they will have more dollars to spend.

And we probably cannot create increasing buying power abroad without first exporting more of our technical skills—our engineers, our production and management men—to build new markets for our own specialties.

What is needed to rebuild the world's economic system?

1. Most basic of all, of course, are stable governments which command popular support. In the absence of strong governments, currency stability cannot be achieved.
2. Most war-stricken countries, for a year or two, will need rehabilitation loans, because they will require far more raw materials, equipment, and live stock than they can pay for out of current production.
3. Loans, however, are only a stop-gap, though often a necessary one. Far more important than rehabilitation loans will be the creation of better opportunities for war-stricken countries to sell to the rest of the world, particularly to the United States, South America, South Africa, and India. [The ravages of war do not completely destroy the ability of a country to sell. Indeed, it is surprising what large supplies of certain commodities war-torn countries have on hand even before devastated industries have been restored. The invading troops in Normandy found shoes almost nonexistent, but they found food more plentiful than in Britain.

Better opportunities for war-stricken countries to sell would create opportunities for them to buy the things they will require to restore scattered industries and depleted farms, and would help those countries to get rid of the exchange controls which are now universal. So long as a country is able to expand its exports only slowly and painfully, and is dependent upon foreign loans to prevent the depreciation of its currency, so long will it carefully preserve exchange controls and other restrictions in imports. That is why large advances, either through an International Monetary Fund or an International Investment Bank, can make only limited contribution to the removal of trade restrictions.

4. Permanent monetary and credit arrangements are needed to protect nations against temporary pressure upon their currencies, to permit necessary changes in exchange rates to be made in an orderly manner, and to assure that governments never again will repeat the "beggar-my-neighbor" policies of 1931 and 1932.
5. Finally, the world needs a reversal of the trend toward economic self-sufficiency, which received a strong impetus from the first World War and an even stronger one from the great depression of the Thirties. This does not mean that the efforts of many raw-material producing countries to diversify their industries should be opposed. During the late Nineteenth Century and the first part of this century, the international specialization of production was carried too far, with the result that many countries became dependent for a large part of their standard of living upon the export of one or two raw materials—coffee, sugar, rubber, silk, wheat, wool, and meat. Between the two World Wars, however, the pendulum swung much too far in the direction of self-sufficiency. Some densely populated industrial countries of Europe (Italy, France, and Germany) even attempted to become self-sufficient in wheat, fats, and sugar. So limited are the natural resources and technical skills of most countries that each one finds many things which it can produce only at prohibitive costs. Between the extreme specialization of the late Nineteenth Century and the more recent trend toward extreme self-sufficiency, a happy medium should be sought.

What role should the United States play in reconstructing the world's international economic system?

There are those who suggest that the United States be a more or less permanent Santa Claus. They believe that an excess of exports could be financed only by "loans"—loans that would eventually turn into gifts, after producing bitter controversy over why the "debtor" country did not meet its obligations. The persons who assert that full employment can be provided only by an excess of exports are in effect saying that our economy cannot become self-supporting. That is a confession of economic defeatism which a young and vigorous nation should not be willing to make.

The most immediate contribution which the United States can make to world reconstruction is to make itself prosperous.

Prosperity here means a large demand by our industries for imports. The more we import, the easier will it be for foreign countries to meet their large and urgent needs for goods. In 1939, with a gross national product of $100 billion, our imports were $3 billion. After the war, with 55 million people employed and a gross national product of $155 billion, our imports would be about $7 billion or $8 billion.

Not only should the United States make itself prosperous, but it should keep itself prosperous. So important is the United States in the world economy that a depression here is bound to produce a disastrous drop in the price of raw materials throughout the world and to throw most countries into an economic tailspin.

The United States should support the principle of a large fund to protect the exchanges of the world from temporary pressure. We should not permit differences over the details to prevent its establishment in ample time to be available during the critical period when war-stricken countries will need goods far in excess of their immediate ability to pay for them. Some arrangement, even though imperfect in details, will be infinitely superior to no arrangement.

Finally, the United States should take the lead in breaking down barriers to trade. We are the logical country to do this, partly because of our immense domestic market, and partly because for most of the last twenty-five years this country has been able to sell other countries more goods than they have been able to sell to us. One of the greatest contributions which the United States could make to a sound and expanding world economy would be to bring our imports, as soon as practicable, up to our exports. In other words, the United States, in the long run, should be hard to borrow from but easy to sell to. The United States should implement this policy (1) by continuing the negotiation of reciprocal reductions in duty, and (2) by accepting exchange rates which make foreign currencies cheaper in dollars than they were in 1939. So great will be the world's need for goods that we can be sure that any dollar exchange earned by sales to us will be converted into American-made goods and will lead to larger exports.

Time was when the United States obtained about eight per cent of its standard of living by sending goods abroad and bringing back other goods. Before the war, however, we were getting less than five per cent of our living by international trade. If, after the war, we were gradually to raise the proportion of our standard of living obtained by trading with other countries to ten per cent of domestic production, our imports would be about $15 billion or $16 billion a year. Our people would be able to buy many things which they now cannot afford, and scores of countries which export raw materials and luxury products would feel the stimulus of rapidly expanding markets. Their expanded demand for road building machinery, mining machinery, machine tools, agricultural implements, locomotives, railroad cars, electrical equipment, trucks, automobiles, and a multitude of products of our factories would create a million or more additional jobs in our factories.

Although the United States would raise its standard of living by increasing its imports and its exports, it should honestly face the fact that the resulting shifts in production and employment would temporarily be painful for some people. The increase in imports would be in commodities which other countries can produce for less than the cost at which much of our output is produced—such as sugar, wool, copper, some fats and oils, wines, winter vegetables and fruits. The increase in our exports would come from those industries in which our superiority is greatest—particularly the manufacturing industries. Finally, it would be advantageous to the country as a whole, to shift a million or two workers from agriculture, where they earn about 60 cents an hour at best, to manufacturing, where they earn better than 80 cents an hour.

The very fact that in economic matters the rest of the world is dependent upon the United States, exposes our country to great demands and to envy and misunderstanding. The United States must be willing to help the rest of the world, but its help should take the form of assisting other countries to help themselves. Never in all history has one country had such an opportunity to give the world a rising standard of living, to foster conditions under which peace flourishes. What greater tragedy could there be than to make the sacrifices which we are now making and fail to seize this chance to create a world of hope and opportunity in which the spirit of goodwill among nations is able to flourish.

CUBS WIN PAIR FROM PIRATES, 12-5 AND 6-3

Pittsburgh Errors Decide 1st Game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Despite the customary difficulties in the pitching department, the Cubs staged a neat approach yesterday toward the first division, from which they were recently ousted. They ground up the Pirates, 12 to 5, in the first half of a double header and followed with additional amusement for 17,438 spectators by tying themselves to a 6 to 3 decision in the second game.

Dom Dallessandro set himself up for honorable mention in the first game by producing a seventh inning two run homer that put the Cubs one ahead, but the Pirates themselves obligingly relieved whatever pressure the Chicago boys may have felt. For no known reason the visitors tossed four giddy errors into the eighth inning to build up a cluster of six runs behind the pitching efforts of Art Cuccurullo, who was elected to finish for ace Rip Sewell. The latter didn't linger long after the Dallessandro homer.

Cubs Use Three Pitchers.

It took the services of three pitchers to get the Cubs safely thru the second game, which was slowed down by raindrops. The Cubs climbed into a 2 to 1 lead against Nick Strincevich in the sixth, so Claude Passeau stepped forth to finish for Bob Chipman, but with unhappy results. Passeau was knocked into a deficit in the seventh, but in the same inning the Cubs let loose a four run barrage against Ray Starr and this proved enough after some relief assistance from Henry Wyse, who had been saved by Red Lynn's fireman act in the first game.

Wyse surrendered a run in the opening inning of the first game because of singles by Russell and Barrett and another in the second on Gustine's double, followed by a single by Lopez. The Cubs managed to trim this two run handicap in their half in the third when Wyse got to second on his single and a bad throw by Gustine with none out. He worked around to the plate on two outs. Then with two out in the fourth Johnson doubled, Merullo singled, Williams singled, and Wyse doubled for a 4 to 2 lead.

Game Tied in Seventh.

The Pirates tied it in the seventh by showering Wyse with four hits, two of them doubles, but it wasn't long before Dallessandro hit his homer into the right field seats with Nicholson on base as the result of a pass.

The second game procee ded smoothly for Chipman until Dahlgren dumped his 10th homer into the left field seats at the start of the fifth. There was a reply from the Cubs in the same inning. Dallessandro led with a single and after two were out, Williams singled him home.

Gustine's Fumble Spreads Cheer.

The sixth inning run that proved such a choice item for a limited period, was started by Hack's bounding single to Coscarart. Hughes sacrificed and Gustine spread good cheer by fumbling Cavarretta's grounder, Hack strolling to third. Nicholson's appearance at the plate was delayed by a howl from Boss

A PASS—LUCKMAN TO McLEAN—NETS EIGHT YARDS FOR BEARS

Behind, 14 to 0, the Bears were emphasizing their aerial game to overcome the All-Star's lead during this stage of the proceedings last night as 50,000 fans watched the 11th game of the series, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in Dyche stadium. A screen pass from Sid Luckman, Bears' quarter back, sends the ball to Half Back Ray McLean (No. 57) The maneuver was good for eight yards. SOX AND LOPAT DEFEAT TIGERS, GORSICA, 8 TO 3

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 30.—The pennant conscious Detroit Tigers this afternoon tried to high-hat our poor White Sox by starting Johnny Gorsica, a sore armed pitcher who had lost 12 games while winning five. What usually happens to those who bulldoze the lowly by donning the tall fedora, happened to the Tigers. The White Sox beat them, 8 to 3.

The Sox took good care of Mr. Gorsica in the 5⅓ innings he lasted. In that span the Dykes fellows made 10 hits for 19 bases. They added two singles and no runs off Boom Boom Beck and two runs and three hits off Roy Henshaw.

While the Sox were pounding Gorsica, Eddie Lopat, only Chicago pitcher to win a game in the last nine matches, was turning in a fairly sound job tho generous with hits, as he was in beating the Cleveland Indians last Saturday. His swat graciousness reached its height in the seventh after he had a 6 to 1 lead. Don Ross knocked a two run homer in that session. In all, the Tigers made 12 hits for 17 bases. The victory was Lopat's eighth.

Thus ended the Sox's six city road trip, with eight victories to show against 14 defeats. They took one out of four from Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Cleveland, took three out of four from the tail-end Senators, and one out of two here.

Hitting Well Distributed.

The Sox hitting today was well distributed, everybody in the lineup making at least one safe one. Wally Moses had a single and a double, Eddie Carnett a single, Cass Michaels a double, Ralph Hodgin two doubles, Hal Trosky a single and a triple, Thurman Tucker two singles and a double, Mike Tresh a triple, Skeeter Webb a double, and Lopat, the team's leading hitter, two singles.

Dykes and his seventh place conquerors will march on Chicago this morning, but not to display their talents forthwith. The public will have to wait till Friday night.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE game between the College All-Stars and the champions of the National Football league annually is the stake not only for excellent football, but also for unusual extra-game ceremonies. . . . Last night's thrilling battle between the 1944 Collegians and the Chicago Bears established a new peak in this phase of the program. . . .In contrast to other years, the intermission proceedings last evening evoked a sober response from the huge crowd. . . . Immediately after the two teams had adjourned to their dressing rooms, the field was darkened, and the All-Star band of 200 musicians, directed by Ray Dvorak of the University of Wisconsin, marched in from the north end of the stadium, their caps and instruments bearing electric lights. . . . The moving pattern of light finally halted in midfield, whereat it gradually formed the word BEARS. . . . The lines reformed and shifted until they came to rest again in the shape of a giant star. . . . Then Don Ameche, moving picture and radio star, delivered the lines which signalized the real purpose of the evening. . . . It was a memorial tribute to all of those former All-Stars in service, but particularly to the six young men who have made the supreme sacrifice in World War II. . . . Those six were Ensign Nile Kinnick, University of Iowa and the 1940 All-Stars, who died at sea in a crash of his fighter plane June 2, 1943, in the Pacific; Lt. Robert D. Moser of Texas A. & M. and the 1942 All-Stars, killed in a plane collision Nov. 19, 1943, near Tampa, Fla.; Lt. Thomas Melton of Purdue and the 1942 All-Stars, killed in a plane crash Sept. 16, 1943, while serving as a flying instructor; Lt. [j. g.] James W. McDonald of Illinois and the 1939 All-Stars, killed in action in the South Pacific in May, 1944; Ensign George [Pete] Schuite of Rockhurst and the 1941 All-Stars, killed in a bomber crash in San Francisco bay Feb. 9, 1943, and Aviation Cadet George Lenc of Augustana and the 1939 All-Stars, who died in a plane crash at Walla Walla, Wash., on Nov. 16, 1942. Ameche's testimonial also honored such prisoners of war as Capt. Hal Van Every of Minnesota, Sgt. Mario Tonelli of Notre Dame, and Lt. Erwin Elrod of Mississippi State. . . . Next a huge aircraft light, based on the east side at the 25 yard line, blazed a gigantic finger of light into the night's drizzle, while a band of color bearers holding the standards of the allied nations followed the marching band down field. . . . The ceremony was completed with the entire audience joining in the singing of "God Bless America."

Among the former All-Stars who witnessed the game and who have been decorated for heroism in the present conflict were Capt. Dave Rankin of Purdue and Lt. Tom Harmon of Michigan. Capt. Rankin, who played with the 1941 All-Stars, recently was awarded a gold star in lieu of a second air medal in ceremonies at Cherry Point, N. C. He won the double award for action over the Solomons and Bougainville. . . . While engaged in patrolling the latter point, he intercepted and destroyed two Japanese dive bombers. . . . Lt. Harmon saw last night's game with his bride, the former Elyse Knox, and her mother. . . . They will head for his base at Van Nuys, Cal., after the game. . . . Mrs. Noble Kizer, widow of the All-Stars' first coach, and Mrs. Lou Gehrig of New York occupied the same box. . . . Seven army air force officers flew from their South Carolina base to see the game. . . . Another flying guest was the most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, who took a plane from New York.

$22,500 CHICAGO HANDICAP WON BY THREE DOTS

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Three Dots, J. H. Rouse's sensational 4 year old sprinter, for the fourth time this season proved he is a faster horse than John Marsch's great Occupation, futurity champion of 1942 and victor in his first four races of the current campaign.

Three Dots, ridden by Al Bodiou, came from seventh place in the back stretch to win the 10th running of the $22,500 Chicago Handicap at Washington Park yesterday, beating Occupation by a neck and leaving seven other thorobreds scattered out behind him.

Occupation, with Otto Grohs up, was first out of the gate and in the lead all the way around to the grandstand, finishing two and one-half lengths in front of the Woolford farm's Signator, while Henry Tikulski's Bolus took fourth money.

The winner's end of the purse was $15,250, while Occupation added second money of $4,000 to the Marsch coffers. Three Dots closed at 5 to 1 as Occupation found heavy backing in the crowd of 14,500 and went to the post a 7 to 5 favorite. The winner paid $12.40, $4.80, $4.20 across the board. Occupation returned $3.40 and $3. Signator paid $8.60 to show.

Three Dots, holder of the track record of 1:10 for the six furlongs, first beat Occupation in the Myrtlewood handicap, then on Aug. 2 finished ahead of the Marsch star as the Mill B. stable's Ended took first money. The last time Three Dots and Occupation met was Aug. 22 and the race went to the Rouse sprinter also by a neck and in record equaling time.

Bolo Babe Wins Gold Step.

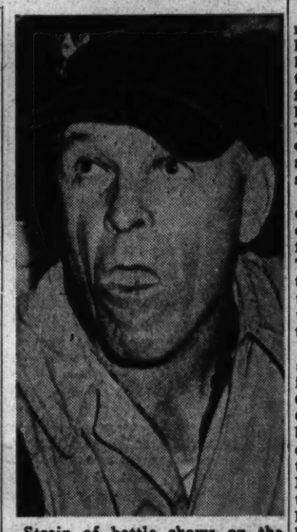

Mrs. Sayde Smith's Bolo Babe, a 17 to 1 shot tho a five length winner in her last start, accounted for the day's secondary feature, the $2,500 Gold Step purse, by a length and a half over Willee stable's Epic Lady in a field of 12 [illegible] ear olds and paid $36.20 for $2. J. M. Hutchins' Valdina Malden was third.

Runaway, owned by C. W. Pershall and ridden by Art Fischer, and Ben Endovina's In the Bag with Bobby Campbell up, took the first and second races for a $90 daily double return. Runaway paid $17 in the opener and In the Bag returned $16.60 in the second.

ED HANYZEWSKI, CUB PITCHER, ON RETIRED LIST

Hanyzewski suffered an injury to his right forearm on May 15 and has seen little service with the Cubs this season. Grimm, on suggestion of physicians, decided to remove Hanyzewski from the roster for the remainder of the season with the hope that the arm will be in shape again by next spring. Hanyzewski won two games and lost five during the season.

Giving Bears Scare Is Balm to All-Stars

BY FRED DE LANO.

Disappointed, yes, but nevertheless satisfied that they had given the Chicago Bears the scare of their football lives was the feeling among members of a weary and mud spattered All-Star squad last night immediately after they had seen an early 14 to 0 lead over the professional champions fade into an eventual 24 to 21 defeat in Dyche stadium.

Lt. Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa, whose pass to Creighton Miller from Notre Dame opened the night's scoring, rated the Bears as a stronger eleven than the Washington Redskins, against whom he played with the 1943 All-Stars.

Dobbs Praises Bears' Speed.

Head Coach Lynn Waldorf and his aids had high praise for the entire collegiate squad. In the locker room they quietly congratulated each of the players for his part in the battle, perhaps the most exciting of the entire charity series.

"They played their hearts out," commented Waldorf, "and for 50 minutes we had the Bears on the edge of defeat. That touchdown drive following the third quarter kickoff was a brilliant performance. Billy Hillenbrand's work in that series of plays, supported as it was by fine blocking and Lou Saban's excellent generalship, was one of the game's personal accomplishments."

Punt Exchange Sets Up Score.

Waldorf said the big break of the game came on the punt exchange started late in the third quarter by Doug McEnulty's quick kick that was downed on the All-Star 7 yard line. Dobbs' following punt was partially blocked and the Bears took possession on the Collegiate 28. Their forward drive then was climaxed by Pete Gudauskas' game winning field goal.

Sid Luckman's two pass interceptions on the Bears' goal line, the first in the second quarter after the Stars had reached the Bear 20 and the other with 8 minutes left in the final quarter, also were regarded by Waldorf as big factors in the Bears' victory, for both times the All-Stars appeared on the way to touchdowns.

The line play of such stars as Center John Tavener and Guard Dick Barwegen also came in for praise by Waldorf.

FIELD GOAL IN FOURTH PERIOD SETTLES THRILLING SPECTACLE

Collegians Unable to Protect Early 14 to 0 Lead.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Pete Gudauskas, husky Chicago Bears guard who already had kicked three points after touchdowns, stepped back to the All-Stars' 13 yard strip in the fourth period last night in Dyche stadium and place-kicked the field goal that defeated the College All-Stars, 24 to 21. Pete's three points, with 10 minutes and 42 seconds remaining, capped the National Football league champions' brilliant play during which they twice had come from behind to tie the score.

Fifty thousand—a capacity crowd which had bought out Northwestern university's amphitheater 10 days before the contest—watched the bitter fight which was one of the most thrilling of the series established in 1934 by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The gross receipts established a record for the charity game.

Stars Get Early Lead.

The Bears, with Ensign Sid Luckman filling a stellar role just as he had for the last five years while his team was winning three National league titles, successfully defended their record of never having been beaten by an All-Star team. The score, however, was the smallest margin in their four triumphs since the opened the series with a scoreless tie.

The Bears yielded two touchdowns in the opening period, a deficit they erased in the next quarter for a 14 to 14 deadlock at half time. Then after the Collegians had taken the second half kick-off and marched to the goal the pro champions, in the same period, moved into a 21 to 21 tie.

The teams changed goals for the showdown in a setting unequaled in the last five years of the series. On the first play of the quarter, Glenn Dobbs' quick kick was partly blocked and the Bears took over on the Stars' 29 yard line. The attack, led by Ray McLean and Gary Famiglietti finally was checked by the All-Star linemen on their 6 yard line. On fourth down, unable to break thru or pass over the Stars, Gudauskas stepped back to the 13 and with Luckman holding, place kicked the winning points.

A Duel Between Masters.

Gudauskas rightly held the spotlight. His three kicks for points were made under pressure for they were necessary to tie. His field goal won the game and the throng forgot the rain which began at half time and continued intermittently. But no story of the game would be complete without detail of the duel between Luckman and Dobbs.

These masters of the forward pass played up to their advance billing. Each threw a touchdown pass. Each built up other scores by his passing, and in the closing minutes, with the All-Stars deep in the Bears' territory, Dobbs narrowly missed Charley Trippi with a long pass which would have won the game. At full speed, Trippi touched the ball as he cut behind the safety man, but he could not make the catch.

Get Great Support.

Dobbs had four completions without a legal miss in the first quarter. Luckman hit receivers three times in five in the vital third period. But the game last night did not belong to either of these men. Each had sterling support at crucial times.

Ray [Scooter] McLean's tricky dashes off tackle, Bulldog Turner's steady play on defense, and the excellent work of the Bears' ends supported Luckman. Dobbs had big John Yonaker to grab his passes and no one in last night's crowd will forget Billy Hillenbrand's re-

Mighty Pros Are Thankful for Victory

BY EDWARD PRELL.

"Pete, do you have something to say?" asked the Bears' George Musso of young Mr. Gudauskas, a brother guard whose field goal dissolved a 21 to 21 tie in the rain and gave the professional champions a 24 to 21 triumph over the College All-Stars last night.

In mock seriousness, Musso, who signaled the beginning of his 12th season with the Bears, by playing a lot of football on the rain drenched turf, held up his large muddy football brogan as a make-believe microphone.

Gudauskas, a 225 pound guard who has Will Rogers features, grinned sheepishly as he walked toward the showers in the team's dressing room. His toe had twice registered extra points to put the Bears into a pair of ties before the payoff boot from the 13 yard line.

Gudauskas lives in Georgetown, Ill., and is a second year Bear. He was cut loose by the Green Bay Packers last season. The young man played football at Murray [Ky.] State Teachers.

Bears' Coaches Differ on Goal Line Strategy.

There was a difference of opinion among the Bears' masterminds as it became apparent a field goal was to be the play after the Bears had reached the 6 yard line on third down. From his perch in the press box Co-Coach Luke Johnsos voted against the kick and down on the bench Paddy Driscoll, the Bears' back field coach, held the same opinion. Heartly [Hunk] Anderson, co-coach, and Fred Gillies, advisory coach, thought a kick was in order.

"Get ahead and then see what happens," said Gillies just before the tense moment.

The noisy exuberance of the Bears' dressing room was in striking contrast to the after game scenes in 1941 and 1942 when great Bear elevens went into each game confident of victory and took it nonchalantly.

These Bears of 1942, shorn of many big name stars, were an earnest football team on the field, with none of the top heavy man power and experience advantages enjoyed in other trips into the brilliant August football show.

The Coaches Guess the Score—Almost.

"Well, we almost guessed the score for you, didn't we?" asked Coach Driscoll, smiling broadly. Anderson had predicted before the game that four touchdowns would be needed by the victorious team. And Paddy added: "If there hadn't been any rain, we'd have gotten that No. 4 one." This was on Anderson's mind, too, as he walked by, followed by a swarm of well wishers who somehow managed to crash the dressing room. With a wink that conveyed an I-told-you-so message he started dressing.

"This was a better All-Star team than the one we beat the last time," said Driscoll. The last time was 1942 when the professional champions whipped Bob Zuppke's Collegians, 21 to 0. Paddy added: "I'll vote for this one as the best of all the All-Star games. And to think that 50,000 sat in the rain until the last minute."

No one seemed to know who blocked Glenn Dobbs' kick in the second quarter, which set up a touchdown for the Bears. No one seemed to care. This was, above all, a team victory. The young Bears proved their mettle in this stern gridiron test—George Zorich and Ed Sprinkle at guards; Bob Margarita at half back, and Rudy Smeja at left end.

Ade Schumacher, Northwestern's popular host, will leave for new duties in Los Angeles within two weeks. . . . Richard [Eck] Erdlitz, the Wildcats' new director of intramural athletics, arrived in time to see the game. . . . His son Dick, now overseas, was the All-Stars' starting quarter back in the 1942 battle. . . . The Bears' dinner menu last night at 5 p. m. consisted of a large order of lettuce, a butterless baked potato, a sizable steak, and tea. . . . The pro champions weren't allowed to relax a minute after this repast, Hunk Anderson and Luke Johnsos ordering them into a special room in their hotel quarters for a closing lecture. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Aigler of Michigan [he's chairman of the Western conference faculty committee on athletics] and Henry F. Rottschaefer, Minnesota's faculty representative, enjoyed the game.

The pre-game doings were highlighted by the presentation of awards to Marlin [Pat] Harder of the marines, former Badger star who was voted the most valuable player in the 1943 game, and to Ensign Sid Luckman of the Bears, adjudged the most valuable player in the National Football league last season. . . . Commissioner Elmer Layden presented the Joe Carr Memorial trophy to Luckman, while Harder received the All-Star award from his former coach, Harry Stuhldreher, who directed the Collegians last year in their victory over the Washington Redskins.

ARMY AND NAVY TO MEET AGAIN IN SEMI-PRIVACY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—For the third straight year, the Army-Navy football game, one of sport's super-spectacles in peace time days, will be held down this season to a home town show. It will be played Dec. 2 in Annapolis and under the same war time restrictions that have prevailed for the last two years, Navy Secretary Forrestal announced today.

Tickets will be limited to residents of Annapolis, a town of about 16,000, and those living within 10 miles of the community.

The All-Stars played inspired football. Their three touchdowns ruined the Bears' defensive record in the series. Then, too, if the Collegians' supporters wish, they may mention that key men, such as Gene Fekete of Ohio State, Steve Van Buren of Louisiana State, and Vic Lindskog of Stanford, had been lost by injury.

Dobbs Quick Kicks 85 Yards.

Dobbs' four completed passes in six attempts in the first period sparked the two touchdown assault, but his 85 yard quick kick stands as a new record for these games and a mark practically unbeatable on any gridiron. With the ball on his own 13 yard line Dobbs quick kicked and the ball was dead on the Bears' 2 yard line. On subsequent fourth downs, Luckman fumbled the pass from center, kicked hurriedly and the All-Stars took over on the Bears' 33 yard line.

On the first play, Dobbs passed to Yonakor, who was tackled 3 yards from the goal line. Miller lost a yard at defensive left guard. The college boys were offside on the next play. Miller then went around defensive left end for 4 yards. On the next play Miller went wide to the northeast corner of the end zone to catch Dobbs' pass for the score and Saban kicked the point.

Hillenbrand's 24 yard return of Luckman's fourth down punt after the kick-off set up the next All-Star drive. This scoring assault of 41 yards required only five plays. Dobbs threw to Yonakor for 9 yards, repeated for 19 yards to Bill Huber, Notre Dame end, and then passed to Chuck Jacoby who did not get a touchdown because he caught the ball a yard beyond the end zone. After another failure, Dobbs went back to pass, chose to run, and raced to the Bears' 1 yard line where he was tackled and fumbled. The ball tumbled into the end zone whene John Tavener, Indiana center, recovered for the touchdown. Again Saban kicked the point.

Bears March 65 Yards to Score.

The Bears marched 65 yards for their first touchdown in the second period. Eleven plays were needed, with Luckman passing and Famiglietti hitting the line. Doug McEnulty caught a 10 yard pass on the first play of the period. Ray Nolting and Famiglietti hammered to the goal with Gary getting the last 3 yards. Gudauskas kicked the point.

Dobbs' partly blocked kick—the first of two which may have cost the game—gave the Bears the ball on the College 30 yard line midway in the second period. This time eight plays produced a tie score with Luckman passing 11 yards to Jim Benton for the six points and Gudauskas scoring the tying point as previously related.

Bears Come from Behind Again.

The All-Stars received to open the second half, the ball going out of bounds. With Saban directing the offense, the Collegians moved 65 yards in 13 plays. Hillenbrand was the key player, since Dobbs was on the bench, and his passes and runs carried to the Bears' 21 yard line. Then Hillenbrand and Saban made first down on the 4 yard strip and Saban lugged the ball twice to get the touchdown, then kicked the point for a 21 to 14 lead.

Saban's kick-off was returned by Nolting 10 yards to the Bears' 36 and nine plays produced the tie. Luckman threw to McLean for 22. Plunges advanced to the Stars' 34 yard line. Bob Margarita took a third down pass to reach the Stars' 18 and McLean scored on a delayed reverse over defensive right tackle. Then came the Bears' winning move capped by Gudauskas' placement in the last quarter.

Cubs Win Pair from Pirates, 12-5 and 6-3

Frankie Frisch about balls and strikes as called by Umpire Dusty Boggess, but the latter enjoyed the last word. He bounced Frankie, after which Nicholson flied out, Hack scoring on the play.

After a pause caused by rain, Passeau took over Chipman's job in the seventh and immediately ran into difficulties represented by Frank Colman's pinch single and DiMaggio's homer. Then Starr picked up for Strincevich in the home seventh and the Cubs put it on in decisive style. Johnson doubled, Williams, Hack, and Hughes singled, and Cavarretta tripled to complete the four run splurge.

Play by Play Resume of All-Star Game

FIRST QUARTER.

The All-Stars won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. Lou Saban of Indiana kicked off over the goal line for a touchback, giving the Bears the ball on their 20 yard line. After three smashed at the line picked up but 5 yards, Doug McEnulty punted to Chuck Trippi, who fumbled on the All-Stars' 36 yard line, and Ray Nolting recovered for the Bears.

Nolting hit over left tackle for 4 yards and Sid Luckman tossed a lateral to Ray McLean for a first down on the 25 yard line. Luckman's long pass to McLean was batted down, and on the next play the Bears were penalized 15 yards for holding, putting the ball on the Collegians' 36 yard line. Luckman's pass to Nolting gained 8 yards, but the Bears were penalized 15 for holding, placing the ball in midfield.

Luckman's screen pass to McLean gained 8 yards and Luckman kicked to the All-Stars' 15 yard line. Glenn Dobbs passed to John Yonakor for 8 yards but the All-Stars were penalized for offside. Dobbs then quick kicked 85 yards, the ball rolling dead on the Bears' 2 yard line.

The Collegians were penalized for offside on the first play. Three plays gained 4 yards and Luckman punted to the Bears' 32. Dobbs rifled a pass to Yonakor who raced to the Bears' 3 before being brought down by John Long. Creighton Miller failed to gain at center. The Collegians were offside on the next play and then Miller swept right end for 3 yards to the 5. On third down, Dobbs pitched a pass over the goal line to Miller for a touchdown. Saban kicked the extra point. Score: All-Stars, 7; Bears, 0.

For the second time Saban kicked off over the goal line for a touchback. The Bears took the ball on their 20 and McLean went around his left end for 11 yards. Three line plays gained only 5 yards, and Luckman punted to Bill Hillenbrand who returned 24 yards down the sidelines to the Bears' 41. Dobbs passed to Yonakor for 9 yards. Another pass, Dobbs to Yonakor, was good for 19 yards and put the ball on the 13. After two passes were incomplete, Dobbs dropped back to pass and finding no receiver open, raced to the 1 yard line where he fumbled and John Tavener recovered and carried it over for a touchdown. Saban again kicked the extra point. Score: All-Stars, 14; Bears, 0.

Saban's kick-off went out of bounds, and the Bears put it in play on their 35. Gary Famiglietti and Tipp Mooney picked up a first down in three line smashes. Luckman passed to Jim Benton for 12 yards, Sid lateraled to Nolting who ran down the west side lines for 22 yards to the All-Star 20, as the first quarter ended. Score: All-Stars, 14; Bears, 0.

SECOND QUARTER.

Luckman passed wide to McEnulty for a first down on the Collegians' 10 yard line. Nolting got 4 yards at center and Famiglietti plunged to the 3, then drove over right tackle for a touchdown. Pete Gudauskas kicked the extra point. Score: All-Stars, 14; Bears, 7.

Gudauskas kicked off to Dobbs who passed laterally to Hillenbrand and he returned 22 yards to the All-Stars' 30. Dobbs passed to Hillenbrand for 11, then pitched a deep pass to Yonakor, who was run out of bounds on the Bears' 29. After two line plays gained 9 yards Dobbs' pass was intercepted by Luckman on the goal line and returned to the Bears' 29.

After two offside penalties Luckman kicked to Dobbs, who returned 21 yards to midfield but the All-Stars were penalized to their 35 for clipping. Three plays and an offside penalty lost a total of 14 yards and Dobbs' punt was blocked and recovered by the Bears on the All-Stars' 50.

Luckman passed wide to McLean for six yards, then on fourth down Luckman passed to George Wilson for a first down on the 13. Famiglietti swept right end for 2 and Luckman's pass over the goal line to Wilson was incomplete. After another pass was knocked down, Sid passed into the end zone to Benton for a touchdown. Gudauskas kicked the extra point. Score: All-Stars, 14; Bears, 14.

Dobbs returned the kicked-off 23 yards to the All-Stars' 30. Dobbs whipped a pass to Huber for 30 yards but the All-Stars were penalized for offside. Two plays gained 3 yards and Dobbs kicked to McLean who returned 36 yards to the All-Stars' 28. Hillenbrand intercepted Luckman's long pass and returned to midfield as the half ended. Trippi made 2 yards at left end and Hillenbrand passed to Miller for a first down on the 33.

An offside penalty on the Bears followed by Hillenbrand's 5 yard pass to Miller gave the Collegians a first down on the 21. Hillenbrand hit over right tackle for 6 and Saban got 3 on a quarter back sneak. Hillenbrand went wide around right end for 8 yards and a first down on the 4. Saban got 3 at center and went over on the next play for a touchdown. Score: All-Stars, 21; Bears, 14.

Nolting returned Saban's kickoff 19 yards to the Bears' 36. Luckman's pass into the flat to McLean was good for 19 yards and a first down on the All-Stars' 45. Luckman whipped a pass to Wilson for 10 yards and Famiglietti got a yard at center. McLean dropped Sid's long pass on the goal line. A screen pass, Luckman to Margarita, was good for 15 yards and a first down on the 19. McLean scooted over his left tackle and eluded the All-Star secondary on a dash to the goal line. Gudauskas kicked the extra point. Score: All-Stars, 21; Bears, 21.

Gudauskas kicked off to Pete Layden, who returned 24 yards to the All-Stars' 34. After Saban and Layden got 6 yards in two plays the All-Stars were penalized 15 yards for holding. Famiglietti made 2 yards at center and on the next play Luckman fumbled and Lin Houston of Ohio State recovered for the All-Stars on the Bears' 24 yard line.

But in two short years the United States became the new rubber producing center of the world.

This great war miracle was achieved by America's brilliant synthetic rubber experts largely with the aid of alcohol supplied by our country's beverage distillers.

The rubber experts had the technical production knowledge that made synthetic rubber possible. The beverage distillers furnished the huge volume of alcohol required by the alcohol-butadiene process... the most practical at that time.

Today we are producing enough synthetic rubber to meet our needs for essential civilian and war rubber goods. Proof!... the request of Bradley Dewey, Rubber Director, to terminate his wartime powers.

Thank you for your patience!

To aid in the achievement of this wartime miracle, America's beverage distillers stopped making whiskey nearly two years ago and produced nothing but industrial alcohol. They are fully aware of the inconveniences you faced during the 22 months when not a drop of whiskey was made in this country. For your extreme patience and understanding during that time, they are sincerely grateful and appreciative.

Conference of Alcoholic Beverage Industries, Inc. (CABI)

CRISIS IN 1942

"If we fail to secure quickly a large new rubber supply our war effort and our domestic economy both will collapse."
—Baruch Report, Sept. 11, 1942

ACHIEVEMENT IN 1944

—Bradley Dewey, Rubber Director, July 25, 1944

TRIBUTE

Commenting on the beverage distilling industry's contribution, a high W.P.B. official said on April 13, 1944...

1. "...it is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date, as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry."
2. "...synthetic rubber is from 6 to 9 months ahead of where it could have been if alcohol had not been available for butadiene production."
3. "...an almost unparalleled example of the overnight conversion of an entire industry from peace to war."

DANIEL IS FOUND COMPETENT TO HANDLE WEALTH

Son's Suit Against Miami Hotel Owner Closed.

He dismissed, with prejudice, a petition by Daniel's eldest son, R. T. Jr., for the appointment of a curator to govern the big estate and a guardian for the wealthy real estate magnate.

R. T. Daniel Jr. charged his father was being held the prisoner of "designing persons" in a closed downtown Miami hotel which the partly paralyzed Daniel occupied alone.

Father Fought Back.

The father took an active part from his sick bed in the fight against the petition. At one bedside court session he signed papers, laughed, and chatted with Judge Williams and attorneys in an attempt to show his fitness. He was examined several times by physicians, all but one of whom reported him competent.

Samuel and R. T. Jr. hurled charges and counter-charges against each other. A third son, William, remained silent during a lengthy hearing concluded last week, except when he took the stand to side with his father and Samuel.

Must Pay Doctors.

Dismissal of a petition "with prejudice" means that a judge has decided a case on the merits of the testimony presented, and that the petitioner cannot reopen his request on the same facts.

Judge Williams ordered Daniel Sr. to pay $75 each to Dr. L. S. Rentz, Dr. E. S. Couric, and D. Earl Wilson, members of a court committee named to examine him; $75 to Dr. Scheffel H. Wright, who made a similar examination; $300 to Dr. James L. Anderson, who examined Daniel at the request of R. T. Jr., and $350 to Carl T. Hoffman, who acted as guardian ad litem during the legal proceedings.

Daniel's eyes were moist after he heard of the court's ruling.

"I got nothing more than I was entitled to," he said. "I got nothing but justice.

Playing the role of the good samaritan between a wife and a husband who reached the parting of the ways yesterday placed Mrs. Dorothy Berry, 24, of 1015 E. 43d st., in a police cell, charged with larceny of $5 and jewelry worth $412.

Mrs. Berry was a friend both of Edgar Poe and his wife, Betty, who lived at the same address until they separated. Then Mrs. Berry, Poe complained, visited his home one day and took a watch, two rings, a bracelet, and the money, all the property of his wife, who had hidden the articles in a trunk.

Mrs. Berry admitted the charge. She explained, "I did it all for Betty, but she refused to take the stuff because it might remind her of Edgar, whom she said she wanted to forget." The police recovered the lost jewelry and money from a tavernkeeper with whom Mrs. Berry deposited them.

MILKMAN, KEEP THE CROW QUIET; GIVE CAT A WORD

"Hello!" said the crow as Sgt. Thomas Ryan of the Hyde Park police stepped out on the side porch of his home at 10336 Rhodes av., yesterday to take in the milk.

Then, Ryan told his associates at the station last night, the bird followed him around the yard as he inspected his war garden, making other less intelligible remarks. Every one agreed it was a nine days' wonder except Furlough, the station cat.

GRAND JURORS CATCH UP WITH GOLF BAG HUNT

Sam McPherson [Golf Bag] Hunt, 43, who carried his gun in a golf bag when he was a Capone gangster, was subpenaed yesterday to appear before the Cook county grand jury Sept. 7 in response to a summons issued for him last spring when hoodlums were questioned in a gambling investigation.

Hunt was arrested at Randolph and Clark sts. on an order by Chief of Detectives Storms to police to harass known hoodlums. FIGHT OVER DOGS PLANNED AT WAR HOUSING PROJECT

Eleven families in the North Riverside war housing project, who have been served with notice to get rid of their dogs or move out, last night prepared plans which they hope will permit them to keep their homes and their dogs, too.

First of all, the dog owners said, they are going to find out how many of the 68 families in the project at Lincoln and Des Plaines avs. have complained. Then they plan to hire an attorney and present the case to the government agency said to have helped finance the project and to the rent office of the OPA.

An appeal also is to be made to Mrs. Julia D. Force, the property manager and secretary of a real estate firm at 104 S. Oak Park av., Oak Park. The building management was lenient and let dogs in when the project opened in July, 1943, even tho leases prohibited pets.

"But now complaints have come in," Mrs. Force said, "and we had to send notices to the families." Unless they have given up their dogs, the owners will be required to move when their leases expire Sept. 30.

WIFE SAYS MOON SHOWED MATE IN ARMS OF RIVAL

Preston Sharpston, 31, wine steward on a lake cruise steamer, was standing on the deck in the arms of a Jane Doe, in clear view of his wife, Winifred, 27, who was waiting on the pier, when the ship docked at the Michigan av. bridge on the moonlight night of Aug. 10, Mrs. Sharpston told Judge John A. Sharbaro in Superior court yesterday.

Mrs. Sharpston, of 4313 N. Wolcott av., represented by Joseph H. and Norman Becker, charged her husband with cruelty and misconduct in a suit for divorce, and she appeared yesterday to ask temporary alimony. They were married Oct. 2, 1932, and Mrs. Sharpston dated their separation from Aug. 10.

Sharpston, represented by Atty. Samuel Wexler, said his wife was not in urgent need of alimony. He gave her $1,400 on Aug. 9, they have a joint bank account of $3,600, and she can obtain income from other interests he owns, he said. Wexler also introduced a cross-bill for divorce, in which Sharpston charged his wife with misconduct with a John Roe on Feb. 1 in the Sharpston home. Judge Sbarbaro referred the case to a special commissioner for settlement.

STOLEN HORSE FOUND WITH BOY UPON ITS BACK

"I paid $200 for this horse, but I'd like to sell her," he told Tex Switzer, the academy owner. "What is she worth to you?"

When Switzer began asking questions, the boy sprinted out, but was caught by Switzer's daughter, Gertrude, 21, after a 200 foot chase. Police were notified. Their records showed a horse and wagon, belonging to William Fishman, owner of a livery stable at 3950 16th st., had been stolen yesterday at 14th and Aberdeen sts.

A half block from the south side riding academy, police found the wagon. The trip from the west side to the south side was more than 10 miles. In the best tradition of horse thieves of the old west, the youngster refused to talk, even to telling his name and address. Police took him to the Juvenile home.

STOCK MARKET GAINS IN BIGGER SALES VOLUME

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Stocks pushed upward today in increased trading, with several utilities and specialties with favorable post-war prospects accounting for a large part of the turnover. Persistent concern over plant reconversion left many of the usual market leaders faltering in the background, however.

Buyers apparently were heartened by suggestions that the list had undergone a sufficient correction to be ready for a substantial rally and improved tendencies appeared at the opening. Advances of fractions were reduced or canceled in a number of cases at the close.

Boosting volume were blocks of 29,000 United Gas, off ⅛ at 1⅛, and 25,000 Commonwealth and Southern, up ⅛ at 1⅛.

Sales Biggest Since Aug. 18.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 0.1 point at 55. Of 846 issues registering, 457 closed higher and 178 lower. Transfers totaled 894,655 shares, compared with 619,760 yesterday, and were the largest since Aug. 18.

Touching peaks for 1944 were Bendix, South Puerto Rico Sugar, and International Paper. Retaining modest gains were Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Macy, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union "A," North American, American Water Works, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, New York Central, Phelps-Dodge, Certain-teed, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, and du Pont.

Both United States Steel and Bethlehem closed unchanged. Eastman Kodak dropped a point and lesser recessions were posted for General Motors, Johns-Manville, United Aircraft, and American Smelting.

RAIL BONDS RALLY.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—A mild rally in rails lifted the bond market today. Numerous carrier loans recorded gains of major fractions to more than a point. A steady demand existed also for investment rated industrials and utilities, but trading remained slow, with total sales at $5,166,100, compared with $5,437,600 yesterday.

Among the better performers were Milwaukee 4s and 4½s, North Western 4½s, Rock Island 4s and 4½s, Commercial Mackay 4s, Big Four 4½s, Rio Grande Western 4s, Illinois Central 4¾s and 5s, Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis 4s, International Paper 5s, Lehigh Valley 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5s, and New York Central 4s.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange were higher yesterday in increased volume of 28,000 shares. Most actively traded were Chicago corporation, unchanged, Commonwealth Edison, up ½, General Finance corporation, up ⅝, and Libby McNeill and Libby, up ¼. Among four new 1944 highs was Bendix Aviation corporation, 44, up 1⅝.

WILSON EXPECTS PLANE OUTPUT UNDER SCHEDULE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Charles E. Wilson, retiring executive vice chairman of the WPB, said today that aircraft output this month probably will be slightly behind schedule.

"If I had to bet, I would say the total would be about 7,800 planes, compared with a schedule for about 8,200," he said.

Wilson, who resigned last week, explained at a news conference on the eve of leaving the war agency that the "lag" was due more to a new method of bookkeeping than to a drop in production. Planes are not actually counted until they have gone thru modification centers to equip them for particular tasks or areas. He said he thought production of the B-29 Superfortress was "close to schedule."

REPUBLICAN UNIT IN HOUSE SEEKS WAY TO CUT TAX

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—A national survey of post-war tax ideas, with the view to drawing a Republican program for a projected overall 50 per cent reduction in federal taxation, was authorized today by the house Republican post-war tax study committee.

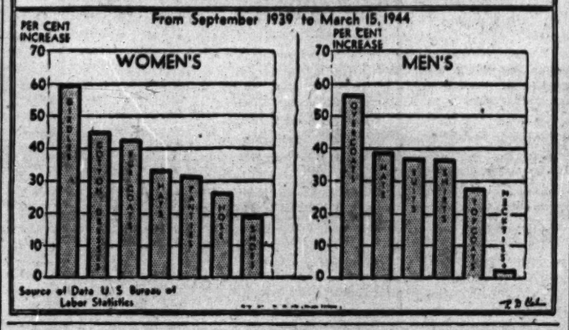

Chairman Reed [R., N. Y.] said the committee would seek advice from farm and labor organizations and representative trade associations on "how this reduction should be placed, and in what proportion it should be distributed among the various kinds of taxpayers."

RETAIL CLOTHING PRICE RISE

OPA Probes Possible New Racket in Gas

The office of price administration yesterday began an investigation of what it said may be a new racket in the gasoline black market—the use of counterfeit coupons and certificates by tank wagon drivers. At the same time it listed 44 stations which it accused of turning in bogus coupons for 20,600 gallons, and slashed their inventories by that amount, bringing the total of such cases to 194 in two days.

The alleged new racket was uncovered thru a story in Wednesday's Tribune listing Chicago stations which the OPA said had turned in spurious certificates. One such named was the Kenwood garage, 5450 Kenwood av., owned by Osborn Smith of 4940 East End av., a commander in the Coast Guard reserve.

800 Gallons Involved.

Smith was accused of turning in counterfeit inventory coupons for 500 gallons to the Shell Oil company, his supplier. He told the OPA yesterday he never had given the company any inventory certificates, but had turned over to his ration board the 2,100 gallons' worth he originally received from the OPA.

OPA enforcement officials said they were investigating that and other cases in which it was "possible" tank truck drivers had bought bogus coupons and turned them in to their companies on OPA forms marked with the names of stations they supply.

Drivers then would have gas to sell at black market prices without coupons, they said, at a profit of $50 to $100 per truck load.

Twenty-four of the 44 stations whose inventories were cut are in Chicago, a list supplied by Rae E. Walters, regional administrator, disclosed, and the others are in suburban areas. Charge-backs ranged from 100 to 1,300 gallons per station.

Stations and Charges.

PERMIT UTILITY SALE OF SHARES NOT EXCHANGED

The securities and exchange commission yesterday authorized the Northern Indiana Public Service company to sell under competitive bidding the remaining shares of its new $100 par value 5 per cent preferred stock not absorbed under its exchange plan. The exchange offer expires today.

Northern Indiana had proposed to refinance by exchanging 220,076 shares of new stock for its outstanding 7 per cent, 6 per cent, and 5½ per cent preferred stock. Last week the company reported holders of more than 50 per cent of the old stock had accepted the share for share exchange plus a cash payment equaling the difference between the respective redemption prices and $102. Any new stock not exchanged will be sold at not less than $102 plus accrued dividends.

HOG RECEIPTS LIGHT; REPORT ILLEGAL TRADE

Illegal markets in hogs and pork in many parts of the producing belt were reported in the Chicago stock yards yesterday. Farmers in the market with hogs admitted that many buyers they had not seen before had approached them in the last two weeks with propositions to buy their hogs at the farm.

Altho a few more of the earliest of the 1944 spring pigs arrived yesterday, there was no noticeable relief in the shortage. The hog shortage is the most severe since the war began in Europe, members of the trade said. Buyers paid ceiling prices for almost all stock offered, giving $14.75 for hogs weighing 240 pounds and below and $14 for all over 240 pounds.

Competition for cattle ran high as volume continued low. Numerous shipments of steers brought the $18.35 top, while the bulk rose to $15 to $18. Lambs were steady, with the $15.10 top paid for natives.

Field Forms Corporation to Publish Paper

Formation of Field Enterprises, Inc., a Delaware corporation, to take over properties used in the publication of the Chicago Sun, was disclosed yesterday by incorporation papers filed with the secretary of state at Dover, Del.

The new corporation is capitalized at $7,100,000, represented by 19,000 shares of no par value stock. All of the stock is believed to be held by Marshall Field, who publishes the Sun as a personal enterprise.

Incorporation of the publishing venture, which has incurred large losses, followed enactment by congress of a special amendment to the tax laws limiting the tax deduction individuals can take on the losses of their "hobby" enterprises. This provision, known as the Marshall Field amendment, was part of the revenue act passed early this year over President Roosevelt's veto.

War Profits Offset Losses.

What properties, other than the facilities of the Sun, will be transferred to the new corporation was not disclosed by the incorporation papers which described the business of the company as "printing and publishing." Since entering on his Chicago publishing venture Field has acquired two industrial plants, whose swollen war profits have helped absorb his publishing losses. To get full advantage of profits of the war plants Field has operated them as unincorporated businesses. As a result, the war plant profits have escaped taxation, being absorbed by the losses of Field's publishing enterprises.

Under previous ownership the profits of the plants were subject to corporation tax rates ranging up to 90 per cent and were taxed again when paid out in dividends to individual owners. Field has been able to shift a large part of the cost of operating his unsuccessful publishing properties to the United States treasury. This figured prominently in the congressional debate which led to the enactment of the amendment aimed at Field and other wealthy individuals.

Tax Deduction Curbed.

Present law provides that an individual cannot deduct from other income the full operating loss of such an enterprise. The limitation applies when the operating loss has exceeded the gross income by more than $50,000 for five consecutive years. In such cases the deduction is limited to $50,000, plus the gross income from the business.

When the loss exceeded gross income for five consecutive years taxes would also be recomputed for the first four years and deficiency assessments made. Such deficiency assessments, however, would not be made for any year beginning prior to last Jan. 1. By incorporating a business this year an individual escapes possible liability under this section.

U. S. GYPSUM CO. CALLED TO RWLB HEARING IN EAST

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—The regional war labor board today ordered the United States Gypsum company, of which Sewell L. Avery is chairman of the board, to appear Friday for a hearing on complaint of the United Mine Workers of America that the company failed to abide by a WLB order.

The charges are similar to those brought last spring against Montgomery Ward & Co., of which Avery also is chairman.

The complaint was brought by local 12,156 of the UMW of the company's Jersey City, N. J., plant and charges that the 120 union members there have not received wage increases or benefits of union security clauses ordered by the WLB last January in settling a union-company dispute.

GRAINS SLUMP ON PEACE TALK, FEED OUTLOOK

Net Losses Range to Two Cents.

Grain prices yesterday recorded the largest declines in weeks on the Chicago Board of Trade. General liquidation of futures contracts developed, and closing trades were at the bottom. December, May, and July wheat, all deliveries of oats, July rye, and May barley sold at new seasonal low prices. July oats at 60⅛ cents a bushel, were the lowest for any delivery of that grain since May, 1943.

Wheat futures closed 1⅛ to 2 cents lower; oats, 1½ to 2 cents; rye, ⅞ to 2⅛ cents, September leading, and barley, 1⅛ to 2¼ cents.

Professionals Sell Freely.

Peace talk and further evidence of a rapid improvement in the feed grain situation dominated trading from the start. Many stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down with commission houses and professional traders selling freely.

Trading in corn for future delivery was reëstablished on the Kansas City exchange after having been suspended June 25, 1943. December opened at $1.13 and dropped to $1.09, or 6 cents under the ceiling price in that market, closing at $1.10. Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade were said to have considered reopening trading in corn futures, but decided the time was not ripe in view of the uncertainty over the Illinois and Iowa corn crop. Trading in feed barley will be resumed tomorrow in Minneapolis with a ceiling price of $1.16 a bushel.

Brokers predicted that if the movement of hogs increases materially in September and October, trading in lard futures will be resumed early in November.

Canada Cuts Oats Tax.

Canada yesterday reduced its export tax on oats 1 cent a bushel, effective at once, and late in the day announced another 1 cent cut, effective today. The new rate is 13 cents a bushel for shipments west of Fort William and 18 cents to the east. Offers in eastern markets are said to be at a price equal to 3⅛ cents a bushel less than domestic grain, and 20 cents under the recent high. A shipment of 40,000 bushels of Canadian 40 pound per bushel No. 3 white oats en route to Chicago was offered at 74 cents, delivered here, duty paid, with the best bid 71½ cents.

Since Aug. 1 shipments of Canadian oats to the United States have averaged 1½ million bushels weekly.

The decline in wheat caused large sales to the Commodity Credit corporation in Minneapolis. Despite this buying, however, No. 1 northern in Minneapolis was quoted as low at $1.50⅛, or 1⅛ cents under the government support price.

K. C. TERMINAL BONDS AWARDED AND RE-OFFERED

The Kansas City Terminal Railway company yesterday awarded a new issue of 47 million dollars of serial and term bonds to a syndicate headed by Dick & Merle-Smith on a bid representing a net interest cost of 2.7474 per cent.

The winners reoffered the securities at prices to yield 1½ to 2¾ per cent for the serial issue and a flat dollar price of 99¾ for 27½ million of 2¾ per cent term bonds due in 1974.

Next War Loan After Election; Rise in E Bond Cashing Halted

Emphasize Jap Drive

Plans are being prepared by the treasury department for the 6th war loan drive, expected to start after the November Presidential election with a goal lower than the 16 billion dollars of the 5th war loan, Ted R. Gamble, national director of the treasury's war finance division, told reporters yesterday. He was in Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Gamble said advisory groups would meet in Washington, D. C., in mid-September, and that details of the next drive would be announced shortly thereafter. He said that with the war in Europe progressing rapidly, publicity would be directed toward the job of defeating Japan. This will be done whether or not Germany has capitulated, he said.

Doubts Increased Redemptions.

The new treasury method for redeeming war bonds, effective Oct. 2, for cash in qualified commercial banks or trust companies, will not increase redemptions, in his belief.

He said that most people think of war bonds as a capital investment, and facilitating redemptions should not increase the number cashed. It should be just as easy for an individual to cash a bond as to buy one, he said.

Surveys by the treasury on why owners cash their bonds disclosed that half of those redeeming did so to get cash for medical expenses, Gamble said.

He said that of the 155 billion dollars borrowed by the government since the beginning of the war program, 95 billion was obtained outside the banking system and more than 38 billion from individuals.

Cumulative Results

A minute break in the upward trend of redemptions of series E war bonds was shown yesterday in treasury statistics. The rate of cumulative redemptions had been increasing steadily since February. The cashing in of series E, F, and G bonds combined continued to rise.

The percentage of cumulative redemptions compared with cumulative sales since May 1, 1941, had risen steadily from 9.27 last February to 11.88 on June 30; but decreased to 11.86 in July. Thru July the cumulative total of E bond sales was 25 billion 677 million dollars and cumulative redemptions totaled 3 billion 45 million.

Trend for Total Continues Up.

Series E, F, and G bonds cashed in increased from 7.07 per cent of the cumulative total last February to 9.23 per cent on July 31. Sales of these bonds since May 1, 1941, totaled 36 billion 252 million on July 31 and redemptions to that date were 3 billion 347 million.

Month by month redemptions of series E bonds, which in February totaled $160,694,000, increased to $241,405,000 in March, then decreased to $212,892,000 in April.

The total jumped again in May to $249,663,000, then decreased to $219,733,000 in June and to $196,328,000 in July. The fifth war loan drive was from June 12 to July 8, with all subscriptions received thruout June and July credited to the loan.

The redemptions of series E, F, and G bonds acted similarly since early in the year, with the total increasing sharply in March above the February figure of $177,980,000, decreasing in April, rising in May to $271,597,000, and decreasing by July to $220,145,000.

Mill Machine Maker Named in Cartel Suit

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—A suit seeking to break up what the government described as an international cartel to divide markets and fix prices in the distribution and sale of machinery for separating, cleaning, and grading of grain was filed by the department of justice in Minneapolis today.

The civil complaint, charging violation of anti-trust laws named the Hart-Carter company, Minneapolis, described as the sole manufacturer of grain disc separators in the United States; the company's president, Hiram C. Todd, Peoria, Ill., and its vice president, C. G. Ingraham, Minneapolis.

Named as co-conspirator was the company of Henry Simon, Ltd., Cheadle-Heath, England, "sole manufacturer of grain disc separators outside the United States."

The complaint accuses the two companies of agreeing in 1938 to divide the world into areas in which each could sell its machinery. They also are charged with price fixing.

As an example of the alleged price fixing agreement, Berge said, "Hart-Carter in one instance charged the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company more than double the price it would have had to pay for disc separators except for the cartel."

He asserted the price was "designated by the British member of the cartel as a condition to permitting the American firm to sell to Allis-Chalmers, which is one of Henry Simon's principal competitors in the flour mill construction and milling machinery business."

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Government seizure of seven soft coal mines in western Pennsylvania to head off the threat of widespread "white collar" strikes appeared likely tonight after the United Mine Workers local leadership flatly defied a war labor board order to terminate a walk out.

The WLB voted unanimously to refer to President Roosevelt a strike at seven mines operated by the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal company, Indiana, Pa., and the Ford Collieries company, Curtisville. It acted after receiving a telegram from John McAlpine, president of the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory union, a unit of UMW District 50, saying that because WLB "cannot legally accept jurisdiction of main issues on ballot, namely collective bargaining and union recognition, the members of this union see no reason why they should terminate present work stoppage."

Chatfield-Taylor Estate Sells New Jackson Hotel

Wayne C. Taylor, undersecretary of commerce; his father, Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, and the City National Bank and Trust company, trustees for the Rose Farwell Chatfield-Taylor estate, yesterday sold the 101 room New Jackson hotel at the northeast corner of Halsted st. and Jackson blvd., to Jennie and Isadore Kaplan. Alfred L. Miltenberg & Co., broker, said the price was $50,000.

INT. HARVESTER SALES OF WAR GOODS DECLINE

Output of Civilian Goods Rising.

Continuing a steady downward trend, sales of war products by the International Harvester company in May, June, and July dropped to about 50 per cent of total sales, Fowler McCormick, president, said yesterday in a quarterly report to stockholders.

Fowler McCormick.

McCormick said the high point of war production was reached in the last six months of the 1943 fiscal year ended Oct. 31, when war products accounted for 71.1 per cent of total sales. From this peak war products dropped to 58.2 per cent of sales in the first six months of this fiscal year and to approximately 50 per cent in the May-July quarter.

Reports on Farm Equipment.

"This trend, of course, reflects the reduced requirements from us of the army and navy and the desire of the government for greater production of our civilian products," McCormick said. "Production quotas for service parts are liberal and sales of service parts are now at an all-time high."

Discussing farm equipment production, McCormick said:

"In view of the widespread discussion about the 1944 farm equipment program, we are happy to say that the company completed 90 per cent of its production by July 31 under schedule A of war production order L-257, and estimates it will complete 96 per cent of total authorized production by Sept. 30, the final termination date of the order. All tractors scheduled for production for domestic farm use were built. Production under schedule B of order L-257, which covers the year ending June 30, 1945, has begun."

Gets New Shell Contract.

Reviewing other corporate activities, he said the company received recently a new order from the army for a large quantity of shells; had settled satisfactorily with the government for cancellation of a 217 million dollar tank production contract for $25,300,000; had reemployed 1,179 of the 1,206 returning service men who applied for their old jobs with the company, and formed a refrigeration division.

The new division, headed by Eugene F. Schneider, formerly eastern district manager of general line sales, will devote itself for the present to meeting the needs of the farm refrigeration field, McCormick said.

30,000 SURPLUS ARMY VEHICLES TO BE SOLD SOON

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Thirty thousand army trucks and cars are to be sold as surplus property within the next two weeks, Rep. Thomason [D., Tex.] today said he learned from officials in the treasury department's procurement division.

The need of army vehicles in training camps in this country has been reduced.

PLANS NEW BIG OFFICE BUILDING FOR EVANSTON

Insurance Company Sets Cost Above Million.

BY AL CHASE.

Post-war plans for Evanston's largest office building, a seven story structure to cost more than 1 million dollars, were announced yesterday by H. R. Kendall, chairman of the board of the Washington National Insurance company, which will use it as a home office. Fronting 226 feet on the west side of Chicago av., between Davis and Church sts., the first unit will contain more than 200,000 square feet of floor space. It will be connected with the present seven story main office building at 610 Church st., and the seven story annex in the rear.

Plans Are Completed.

The plans have been completed by Graham, Anderson, Probst & White and contracts will be let and work started as soon as building restrictions are removed and materials are available, Kendall said. It will be built of welded steel frame with limestone front, with columns at the entrance rising three stories. It probably will be air conditioned.

In addition to being the largest office building it will be the largest structure in Evanston with the exception of the Technological institute of Northwestern university, it was said.

Part of the site for the new building was acquired in 1938 when the company purchased 116 feet of frontage at 1628 Chicago av. Sixty-six feet of additional frontage at 1622-24 was bought from Northwestern and 44 feet at 1618 from Albert Pierstorff, trustee, thru Frank M. Whiston, broker for the insurance company. Both parcels are 210 feet deep.

G. R. Kendall, president since the company was founded in 1911, said about 500 persons are employed in the Evanston home office. The company does business in 46 states and the District of Columbia. Its assets total more than 60 million dollars, he said, and life insurance in force exceeds 290 million.

EL. HOUSEHOLD PLANS TO MAKE DISHWASHERS

Post-war plans of the Electric Household Utilities corporation for its Thor line of products include a new low priced dishwasher for household use, E. N. Hurley, chairman of the board, announced yesterday.

"We had no intention of making electric dishwashers until our engineers chanced on a new principle that made us decide we had a product that women really wanted," Hurley said. "The new dishwasher can be installed in any home and doesn't have to be built into a sink."

Hurley said the company will introduce an automatic clothes washer. It was while developing this appliance that the engineers discovered the new method for washing dishes. The company also will make a new automatic model of its home ironing machine, one of its leading sellers before production was stopped in 1942.

OPA SETS DATE FOR NEW FUEL OIL APPLICATION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—The OPA today authorized local boards to accept after Sept. 1 new applications for fuel oil rations from persons who did not receive rations last year for the same address. Current applications have been restricted to applicants at the same addresses.

The Sept. 30 deadline for renewal applications was removed to allow people to file any time. OPA also will allow fuel oil rations "for only part of the heating year, when a ration is not needed for the full year, and also give local war price and rationing boards discretionary authority to issue rations for space heaters on instalments."

SAFEWAY STORES.

Please summarize recent developments in the business of Safeway Stores, Inc. What is the outlook for 1944 earnings?—B. K.

Answer: An increase of 11.1 per cent in the company's sales in the 28 weeks ended July 15 is believed to have been a result in part of more plentiful meat supplies thru acquisition by Safeway of several slaughtering plants. The sales expansion came after a decrease of 3.8 per cent in net volume in 1943 as compared with the 1942 record of $611,139,477.

In the first six months of 1944 net profit was equal to $2.64 a common share, against $1.53 a year earlier. This indicates that, barring any marked change in conditions affecting the business, the profit for 1944 as a whole will compare satisfactorily with last year's earnings of $4.68 a share. Net income in 1942 was equal to $4.08 a share and in 1941 to $4.79.

The total of Safeway's food stores has decreased in recent years from more than 3,200 to less than 2,500, but the business has been largely increased thru modernizing and enlarging stores, operating new units in superior locations, and acquisition of Daniel Reeves, Inc., in 1941. Safeway has paid common dividends each year since 1927. Payments currently are at the rate of $3 a share per annum.

TELEVISION SET WILL BE REALITY AFTER WAR: FLY

Will Not Replace Oral Radios, He Says.

Television, awaited for years by America's radio listeners, will become a reality soon after the war in the opinion of James Lawrence Fly, chairman of the federal communications commission, who yesterday addressed the war conference of the National Association of Broadcasters in the Palmer House.

His prediction of the imminence of television was made in a press conference which followed his appearance before the convention.

"The basic standards for television broadcasting can be fixed in a very short time," he said.

Won't Replace Radio.

He added that he does not believe television will replace regular broadcasting, but that television will supplement present radio programs.

"You can't sit and look at a television screen 18 hours a day," he said. "You can't turn on television and go ahead and make the beds, or play bridge, or wash the dishes, as you can with oral broadcasting. Television is like a theatrical performance, and I believe it will be interspersed with other programs."

Any conflict between frequency modulation broadcasters and television can also be ironed out without difficulty, he predicted.

FM Future Assured.

One problem which must be overcome before television can come into general use, he said, is that of local interference. Ultimately, he predicted, manufacturers of automobiles and other appliances which cause such interference, will equip their products with devices to end such interference.

"With respect to FM the future seems assured, manufacturers are estimating that 5 million FM receivers will be marketed each year during the four years immediately after resumption of civilian production," Fly said.

He said 1942 was the most prosperous year in broadcasting history and that 1943 "topped even 1942 by a tremendous margin." He added:

"In 1942 the standard broadcast stations and networks reporting to the FCC had net time sales of about 164 million dollars. In 1943 these revenues had increased to nearly 196 millions—approximately 20 per cent. Net income in 1942 was about 45 millions; in 1943 it reached the all time high of more than 66 millions."

REVEAL PLANS TO BUILD STATE 'CAPITOL CENTER'

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—A 25 year plan for development of a "capitol center" with construction of new buildings in additional area surrounding the present Illinois statehouse here was disclosed today in plans submitted to Gov. Dwight Green. The total proposed cost was not made public.

The drawings include erection of a building to house the departments of public health and public works; squaring of the present L shaped centennial building, with addition of south and west wings; doubling the size of the present archives building; doubling the size of the armory and office building north of the capitol, and construction of a $2,000,000 state museum.

The Inquiring Camera Girl
BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. M. Andel, 5309 Ellis av.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

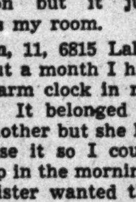

Bill Ellis, 13, 315 Leicester rd., Kenilworth—In my bedroom I have one of those double deck beds. One night my sister asked a girl over for the night. My sister has a single bed so I had to let her use my bed for the night. It didn't really hurt me to sleep in her bed but I resented having any one else sleeping in mine.

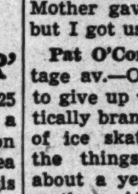

Thilo Best, 13, 420 Brier st., Kenilworth—Mother baked a delicious cake on my birthday this year. I had only one piece of it, tho. When the cake came around for seconds I had to give my extra piece to my sister because I had been sick in bed with a cold and mother said it wasn't good for me to eat any more.

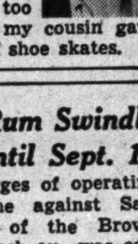

Peter Witteried, 11, 4309 N. Kedvale av.—I remember it as if it were yesterday tho it happened quite a few years ago. Mother gave my older brother some money to buy a birthday present for me. He bought me some wooden soldiers and then gave me his old ones. I had to keep the old ones and give up the new ones to him.

Peter Templeton, 12, Sunset Ridge rd., Northbrook—My sister was always having other girls as overnight guests and she had only a single bed in her room. When my brother went away I got transferred to the back bedroom and my sister has my room. There's no reason but it just seemed as if it was my room.

Norman Goldman, 11, 6815 Lakewood av.—For about a month I had an alarm clock in my room. It belonged to my mother but she let me use it so I could get up in the morning. My sister wanted the clock because she had to get up a half hour earlier than I did so Mother gave it to her. I missed it but I got used to waking without it.

Pat O'Connor, 14, 4343 N. Hermitage av.—One thing I really hated to give up was a practically brand new pair of ice skates. I had the things for only about a year and my mother said they were too small so I had to give them to my sister. It was almost too much for me but my cousin gave me another pair of shoe skates.

Hearing on Rum Swindle Postponed Until Sept. 15

Hearing on charges of operating a confidence game against Sam Rinella, manager of the Brown Derby, 104 S. Wabash av., was continued yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli in Felony court until Sept. 15. Rinella was arrested on warrants sworn out by two tavern keepers, who charged Rinella with failure to deliver $10,000 worth of whisky they alleged he had agreed to supply.

Day by Day on the Farm
By BOB BECKER

WHEN you walk over the farm these days you get the impression that Nature is sort of marking time, for it's the transition period between the lush growth of midsummer and the arrival of autumn.

It's the transition period for the birds, too, because August is their moulting month. They are pretty quiet during this time. Nesting duties are over. The young have received their "lessons." The urge among most species to migrate southward is increasing. Some of our summer residents already are on the move.

Compass Plants Tall.

The signs that fall is at hand are to be seen in every field and tract of woods on the farm. The tall compass plants are thrusting their bright yellow flowers high above the ground. In fact, some of them are so high and on such slender stalks that recent high winds have damaged them. The bright red thorn apples that are decorating some of the haw trees all over Chicagoland are another reminder that the vivid colors of the new season soon will be splashed thru the woodlots. The red of the apples is matched by the gay scarlet of the Jack in the Pulpit fruit.

We stopped to examine some of these wild flower plants this week. Against the subdued shades of green and brown on the ground, the thickset club of the Jack in the Pulpit, studded with bright red berries, is bound to catch your eye.

Dramatic Transition.

The change in this well known wild flower from the time it blossoms and the jolly looking "preacher" stands in his parti-colored pulpit until red berries replace the flower is unusually interesting to the outdoor fan. It's such a dramatic transition—from the odd shaped blossom to the brilliant red berries—that it's hard to believe you are looking at the same wild flower.

But there is a definite reason for this change in the Jack in the Pulpit. It's believed that such conspicuous berries may attract hungry wild creatures of the woods in the hope that the seeds will be taken and perhaps dropped far from the parent plant. In this way the Jack in the Pulpit can increase its numbers.

Indians Ate Berries.

The Indians considered the berries edible, so they boiled them for food. When hungry they also turned to the root of the plant. It had to be cooked thoroly to remove the blistering juice before it was edible.

There's another beautiful red berry in the farm woods right now. It's the fruit of the bittersweet nightshade. This slender vine is quite abundant in some of the woodlots. It often sends its growth over small trees so the latter appear to be bearing fruit which they should not have. But if you look closely you'll find the nightshade is a trickster adept at this type of nature faking.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

AFTER watering, fertilizing, and raking the lawn, gardeners will find it advisable to use a black dirt top dressing before making the fall seeding. One to two cubic yards of black dirt is sufficient for the average lawn, since only a light covering of soil is to provide a fine seedbed and refill any low spots in the lawn.

A spade can be used to broadcast the dirt into the old turf, then a light rake is the ideal tool for providing more even distribution over the lawn surface. A light rolling will disclose low areas which should be refilled, then the dirt should be reraked before seeding.

The rate of seed application on an established turf is a pound to each 400 square feet. If a little bone meal is mixed with the seed it will provide a better guide to distribution. After seeding, the turf again should be rolled lightly to press the seed into the bed, then watering should begin. The topsoil should be kept moist until the new grass is well established.

WPB PRIORITIES ASKED TO FINISH CANAL ST. SPAN

Public Works Commissioner Hewitt said yesterday he has asked the war production board for priorities and necessary authorization to complete the Canal st. bridge over the south branch of the Chicago river.

Construction of a four lane bascule bridge was begun in the fall of 1941, when the old two lane plank bridge was removed. The substructure and some approach work had been completed for the new span, at a cost of $450,000, when the WPB revoked the priority permit in July, 1943.

Hewitt's application said that Canal st. is the most important bridge construction project in the city. It serves a teeming industrial district, and vehicles must detour to the Cermak rd. or the 18th st. bridges. The application was accompanied by letters from contractors, the Building and Construction Trades council, and industries, pointing out that the bridge is necessary, and that equipment, materials, and labor are availabe to complete it.

PROVE DIET RICH IN STARCH, FATS BEST IN ARCTIC

Plenty of potatoes and candy are a fine diet for high flying aviators and soldiers stationed in arctic regions, the University of Illinois has discovered in a series of tests during which 12 volunteers spent eight hours a day in a sealed room kept at 20 degrees below zero.

The tests, the results of which were released yesterday, were conducted to determine the effect of the three food elements—protein, carbohydrate, and fat—on cold resistance and human efficiency in cold temperatures.

It was found that meals rich in starches, sugars, and fats were valuable in minimizing the drop in internal and surface body temperatures and in reducing the effect of the cold upon the coördination of nerves and muscles.

The tests also showed that several small meals eaten at regular intervals were better for cold resistance than one large meal.

CRIMINAL RENT CHARGES LAID TO HOTEL HERE

A criminal information charging the Julian hotel, 924 Belmont av., and William Walsh, lessor, with four specific violations of rent ceilings and regulations was filed yesterday before Federal Judge Walter J. LaBuy. Asst. United States Atty. Michael J. Boyle, who filed the complaint, said the violations occurred after repeated warnings from John F. McCarthy, rent director, had been ignored. The hotel and Walsh are accused of overcharges on three different rooms and with failure to keep cards posted in rooms to show ceiling prices. Boyle said this was the first criminal prosecution for rent violations.

Mom Blesses Elopers, So They'll Marry Today

Miss Edith Demas, 16, of 2646 Jackson blvd., and John C. Carpenter, 19, of 2716 Jackson blvd., who eloped last month to Verda, Ky., Carpenter's home town, will be married today by Judge N. J. Bonelli in Boys' court, Miss Demas said yesterday after her mother, Helen, gave her blessing to Carpenter. Mrs. Demas had the sweethearts arrested when they returned to Chicago, but she changed her mind and a delinquency charge was dismissed in Juvenile court. Carpenter is divorced.

WIVES SUPPORT ALIBI OF TRIO IN ROAD SLAYING

Manchester, Tenn., Aug. 30 [Special].—A father and his two sons denied on the witness stand today at their trial on charges of first degree murder that they shot and killed the sweetheart of their daughter and sister as the couple parked on a lovers' lane last May 17.

Each of the defendants testified in Circuit court that he was home in bed at the time of the slaying, and their alibis were corroborated by their wives.

The defendants are Roy Yates, a well-to-do farmer and Tullahoma gristmill operator, and his sons, Dennis, 22, and Harold, 25, the latter a civilian employe at Camp Forrest.

Tells of "Tall Stranger."

The girl, Ruth Yates, 17, had told police that a tall stranger shot her boy friend, James Sherrill, also 17, forced her to help hide his body, and raped her while he held her prisoner during most of the night.

Altho prosecution witnesses yesterday told of seeing the elder Yates and two other men near the scene of the killing, each of the defendants said he went to bed about 10:30 p. m., the approximate time investigators have said Sherrill was shot.

Woman Describes Visit.

During her appearance on the witness stand, Dennis' wife disclosed that Ruth had been engaged to her soldier brother. She said her brother, who has been in the army four years, gave Ruth an engagement ring when he was on a furlough a year ago and that Ruth wore it and had dated him a number of times.

Another defense witness, Mrs. Jack Painter, who operates a filling station about 12 miles from Nashville, testified the elder Yates stopped her at her place the evening of the slaying while he was on his way home from hauling live stock to Nashville, and that he later visited her and "refreshened" her recollection about the time he had stopped.

OPA to Investigate Price Evasions by Car Dealers

The office of price administration next week will open an investigation of alleged price ceiling evasions by used automobile dealers, Marion W. Isbell, area director, said yesterday. Isbell said complaints had been received of dealers adding the 25 per cent markup for reconditioning over base prices, but failing to make good on warranties required when the markup is taken.

That Television is an outstanding post-war opportunity. Throughout the period of World War II, our laboratories have been and are devoted to the training of radar experts and the manufacturing of radar equipment as a direct prime government contractor. The extensive facilities and experienced personnel we have acquired place upon us a moral obligation to aid in America's post-war recovery program by extending to men in this area the privilege of training on modern equipment.
